

The Weather

Yesterday: High, 84. Low, 66.

Today: Partly cloudy. High, 88.

Complete Weather Details in Page 19.

VOL. LXXII, No. 82.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The Constitution Leads in City Home Delivered, Total City and Trading Territory Circulation

ONLY MORNING NEWSPAPER
PUBLISHED IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 2, 1939.

Entered at Atlanta Post Office
As Second-Class Matter

The South's Standard Newspaper

Associated Press United Press
North American Newspaper Alliance

Single Copies: Daily, 5c; Sunday, 10c.
Daily and Sunday: Weekly 25c; Monthly $1.10

ANGLO-FRENCH PARLIAMENTS EXPECTED TO VOTE WAR TODAY

Poles Shoot Down 16 German Warplanes; Nazi Legions Advance on Three Fronts

BERLIN EXPECTING QUICK ARMS PACT WITH SOVIET UNION

'State of War' Proclaimed With News of Mounting Toll of Dead Coming in; Warsaw Bombed.

BULLETIN.

WARSAW, Sept. 1.—
(AP)—(Via Budapest)— Battles between German and Polish troops raged unabated tonight in Polish border areas, a general staff communique said.

The most violent fighting was reported from Silesia, one of the three main sectors in which Germany launched its invasion of Poland early today to begin her undeclared war.

The general staff said 16
German warplanes were shot down and that Nazi fliers had bombed 17 Polish cities, including Warsaw.
Two Polish planes were lost.
Casualties had not been determined.

The communique stated that Polish troops gained possession of two German armored trains. It said that Polish soldiers still were defending the Westerplatte, Polish munitions base in the harbor of Danzig.

WARSAW, Sept. 2 (Saturday)—(UP)—Poland steeled herself today in anticipation of a mighty blow from Adolf Hitler's war machine if Great Britain and France make their expected declarations of war against Germany.

Outwardly the Poles were jubilant at their success in repelling the first day's German attacks yesterday but heads of the armed forces and the government secretly were preparing for the worst.

It was believed Hitler would strike immediately with all his power if Britain and France come in—as Poland contends they are bound to do under terms of their pledges to this country.

Nation Serene.
The nation continued to face the situation serenely, however, and there was complete confidence that Polish defenses can take the beating which is sure to come.

Invoke Assistance.
The government last night proclaimed a state of war in Poland and invoked the aid of Great Britain and France against German

Continued in Page 5, Column 1.

Russian Military Mission Is Awaited in Berlin;
Nazis Claim Complete Control of Polish Air.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—
With the German army declaring its columns were "deep in Polish territory" tonight, the German nation stood somewhat stunned and dazed at the sweep of events of the first day of undeclared war with Poland.

The people were grimly determined, however, that each man and woman would do their duty to achieve those objectives which Hitler, in an impassioned reichstag speech, declared to be the purpose of the resort to arms.
Those objectives were reunion of Danzig with the Reich, restitution of the Polish corridor region to Germany and a cessation of conditions along the German-Polish border which Hitler earlier described as "Macedonian," or terroristic.

Beyond Corridor.
From the viewpoint of military tactics, Germany went beyond the Danzig corridor during the first day of the undeclared war and announced the German army which advanced on Poland from East Prussia was "deep in Polish territory."

German troops were attacking all along the Polish-German frontier and were reported to have pushed into several sections of Poland. A communique from the high army command, said advances of German troops and aircraft which started from Pomerania, Silesia and East Prussia this morning, were well under way toward their objectives.

The chief command's report on the first day's operation was especially enthusiastic in reference to the exploits of the air force.
As the result of various air raids into Polish territory, including one at Warsaw, Germany was pronounced "in complete control of Polish air."

The official interpretation on the status of relations between Poland and Germany was that there is no state of war existing. The embassies of both nations are still functioning. In fact, Polish Ambassador Jozef Lipski is understood to have made a protest at the
Continued in Page 9, Column 7.

Dynamite Blast Shakes 'Big Star' Grocery Store

The north side area of Atlanta for distance of more than two miles around Ponce de Leon and Glen Iris drive was thrown into a state of excitement at 10:20 o'clock last night when a stick of dynamite, to which had been attached a detonating cap, was tossed upon the roof of the Big Star Food store near that intersection.

Little damage resulted from the attempt to bomb the store.
A hole not more than eight inches in diameter was torn in the roof and 14 smaller holes, some about the size of a tennis ball, were made in the ceiling, which is about eight feet below the roof.

Police announced they were without clues as to the identity of the person who tossed the dynamite.
They were equally positive

Acme Photo.

It's a friend against friend in some instances of the Polish-German conflict. Corps General
Kasimir Sosnkowski, above, a one-time bridge partner and hunting companion of Nazi Field Marshal Hermann Goering, leads the Polish army against invaders of the Reich.
Sosnkowski, 57, a master tactician and patriot of proved ardor, has the title of "chief of combatant forces," in which role he follows in the footsteps of his life-long friend and mentor, the late Marshal Josef Pilsudski.

Train Hurls Frenchmen Toward War

Mobilization Special Roars
Across Nation to Front
Picking Up Soldiers.

ABOARD FRENCH NIGHT EX-PRESS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—This "mobilization special" roared across France tonight, picking up soldiers and hurling them toward the dawn of another world war.

Behind drawn shutters, blue lamps cast a ghostly light, as the train sped across France's placid streams and through fields ripe with fruit and grain.

The civilians and soldiers aboard didn't have much to say.
When the train ground to a halt, retired officers who had been called to the colors got aboard.
People read newspapers that were monopolized by headlines clear to every one of them.

France was on the verge of another war with Germany.

There were beads of perspiration on the conductor's face. He said:

"I've been punching tickets for ten years. Tomorrow I turn over
Continued in Page 2, Column 1.

FRENCH WAIT ONLY ORDERS TO PROCEED

State of Siege Proclaimed Throughout Nation as Roosevelt's Plea To Spare Civilians Hailed.

PARIS, Sept. 2 (Saturday)
(AP)—Authoritative French sources said today that parliament would decide unanimously to support Poland by making war on Germany.

A French-British ultimatum delivered in Germany and demanding the immediate withdrawal of German troops now invading Poland went unanswered. (This dispatch was filed from Paris at 5:55 a. m., Paris time—11:55 p. m., Friday, Atlanta time).

France's powerful fighting forces, strengthened by general mobilization, were prepared to go to the aid of her Polish ally in war against Germany.

They awaited only the word to move.

France, like Great Britain, yesterday sent Germany an ultimate. But the Nazi answer, even before the message was delivered to German diplomats preparing to leave Paris, was practically certain to be a flat "no."

Officially, the first day of French general mobilization dates from midnight last night. Actually, it has been in effect for several days.

Siege Proclaimed.

A state of siege was proclaimed throughout France. But the fact is that the army, navy and air force have been in control of everything necessary for days in a smooth, orderly change-over from normal control by civil authorities.

Parliament has been called into session for a "national defense" session today. Many deputies will appear in service uniform for the session, which is expected to be similar to that historic session of Tuesday, August 4, 1914.

In official Paris interest waned in diplomatic efforts to keep peace or find a settlement in view of the German invasion of Poland.

Action Expected.

The German embassy staff apparently had no doubts about French action. They packed to be ready to go as soon as they learn from Berlin whether they have a reply to deliver to the French ultimatum or whether it simply will be ignored.

Paris' balloon barrage was up yesterday. Parisians who took a last look at the Eiffel tower as they left the city before sundown saw sausage balloons spaced around the capital swinging their cables. They were up so high they looked like tiny children's toy balloons.

In spite of the situation on the German-Polish border, however, the Daladier government found the time to agree "in principle" to a
Continued in Page 9, Column 2.

Shadows of War

Text of Chamberlain's address to commons—Page 8.
Colonel Frederick Palmer, noted military historian, analyzes Poland's defensive strength—Page 7.
Georgia is ready for M-Day
—Page 4.
Roosevelt to do everything possible to keep America out of war—Page 9.
Walter Duranty's story of Paris on the eve of war—
Page 4.
Warsaw fearless in face of bombing—Page 4.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY
SPECIAL
ANNOUNCEMENTS
EVACUATION OF
LONDON CHILDREN
Today, Saturday & Sunday, Sept. 1, 2 & 3
The following steam trains are required for the evacuation of children and will not be available for ordinary passenger service.
9:15 a.m. Newark 8:25 a.m. St. Louis
9:25 a.m. New York 3:30 p.m. St. Louis
11:15 a.m. Newark 4:15 p.m. St. Louis
12:10 p.m. St. Louis 6:20 a.m. Newark
The Emergency Office staff will gladly give further information if alternative service.

The mass evacuation from London Thursday of 3,000,000 children, mothers, expectant mothers, blind people and cripples to safety outside of the city was brought about through orders placed on placards, such as the one above. These were issued and distributed throughout the city. Londoners were evacuated from 72 railroad stations. This picture was radioed.

War Bulletins

Nation To Hear Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt decided today to talk to the nation by radio Sunday night about the critical international situation. White House officials said his message to the country at 9 p. m. (Atlanta time), probably would be of an informative nature, tending to allay anxiety and relieve suspense of the American public.

It will be broadcast by the three major broadcasting companies. The White House said it would be no longer than 15 minutes and there were no indications that Mr. Roosevelt was considering using the occasion to announce that congress would be summoned to a special session.

Americans Flee Greece

ATHENS, Sept. 1.—(UP)—Fifty-eight Americans, most of them members of the families of tobacco and oil company representatives, sailed for the United States today on the steamer Exochorda.

Also aboard was Demetri Mitropoulos, leader of the Minneapolis symphony orchestra, returning for the winter musical season.

Solemn Gesture by British Radio

LONDON, Sept. 2 (Saturday)—(UP)—Indicative of the imminence of war, the British Broadcasting Company closed its program at midnight with the national anthem.

The anthem is put on the air by B. B. C. only on the most solemn occasions.

Bombing of Gdynia Reported

HELSINKI, Finland, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship).—Unconfirmed reports were received here today that the German fleet had bombarded Gdynia, Poland's port on the Baltic sea.

George Decrees Full Mobilization

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship).— King George today signed an order in council for complete British army, navy and aviation mobilization.

Sirens Warn Berlin of Attack

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(6:57 P. M.—12:57 P. M. Atlanta Time)—(AP)— Warning air raid sirens howled through Berlin tonight, announcing the advance of enemy warplanes. The populace immediately rushed to cellars and other protective shelters.

N. Y. Stock Market Praised

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—William Martin Jr., president of the New York Stock Exchange, said today the stock market "is functioning."

CEASE AGGRESSION OR WE WILL FIGHT, GERMANY WARNED

Both Britain and France in Full Readiness to Go to War in Defense of Poland; Commons Cheer Chamberlain as He Places Blame for Catastrophe on Nazi Fuehrer.

LONDON, Sept. 2 (Saturday)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—(AP)—Great Britain and France have given Germany her final warning and the British press today, virtually with one voice, accepted war as inevitable.

The press charged the responsibility to the ambitions of Adolf Hitler.

Both Britain and France were in full readiness to go to war in defense of Poland.

The only hope of escape was for Germany to cease her aggression and withdraw her armies from Polish soil.

This was the alternative British Prime Minister Chamberlain allowed Germany in an historic statement to the British parliament.

He admitted there was almost no hope that Germany would call a halt.

France stood fully beside her partner in the defense pledges to Poland as Chamberlain cast the die.

Neither power showed the slightest signs of wavering.

The British parliament will meet at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow morning (Atlanta time) and the French parliament will convene in session 15 minutes later at 9 o'clock.

(From numerous sources in Great Britain, France and the United States tonight, in governmental, official and diplomatic circles, it was asserted that it is a certainty both parliaments will vote to go to war against Germany. One American official said the chances were 1,000,000 to 1 that they would vote for war.)

King George VI signed an order in council completing the mobilization of Britain's army, navy and air force. He signed the order even before the prime minister went to the house of commons and laid the guilt for war on Adolf Hitler.

The British ministry of transport took over British railroads.
Commons approved a bill providing 500,000,000 pounds sterling (more than $2,000,000,000) to pay for war, defense and the maintenance of public order.

Anti-war raid orders enforced a blackout over virtually all Britain.

Three millions of children, women, invalids and the aged were evacuated from London and other city danger zones.

Across the channel, France decreed complete mobilization effective midnight of Saturday-Sunday, which is expected to bring every able-bodied man in the French empire to the colors and swelled France's armed strength to a potential 8,000,000 men.

Parliament Recalled.

Another session of parliament was summoned for 2:45
p. m. (8:45 a. m., Atlanta time) today and it was under-

Continued in Page 9, Column 5.

U.S. Cannot Stay Out of War In Europe, Atlantans Believe

Atlantans are excited about the war in Europe, but not hysterical.
Those who were questioned almost unanimously think that America will become involved in a general European conflict, in spite of President Roosevelt's statement that his administration would do everything possible to keep us out.

Yesterday The Constitution had its reporters stationed on street corners, on trolley cars, in restaurants, department stores and public offices to find out just what the "man on the street" thinks about the explosive situation abroad.

Americans do not want to fight.
Though they scarcely see how they can avoid it. That's what Atlan-tans think.

Jere Wells, Fulton county school superintendent: "It looks like we are going to have a general war,
but I hope that it is a short one.
It seems we have got to have it sooner or later anyway. I think the trouble would be ended if Hitler were ended."

Charles Stewart, attache of the solicitor general's office: "Things look bad all right. However, I don't think the United States is going to get in it."

Miss Lora Paschal, clerk in the solicitor general's office: "I don't know much about it. I hope we are not going to have war, but I'm afraid we are."

J. C. Aldredge, sheriff of Fulton county: "Let them have it out
Continued in Page 2, Column 2.

In Other Pages

Classified ads. Pages 19, 20
Comics. Page 10
"Crime Tears On." Page 10
Daily cross-word puzzle. Page 10
Editorial page. Page 6
Ralph McGill. Page 14
Westbrook Pegler. Page 14
Joseph Alsop and Robert Kilmer. Page 14
Financial news. Pages 18, 19
Louie D. Newton. Page 7
Radio programs. Page 16
Society. Page 13
Sports. Pages 15, 16, 17
Tarzan. Page 20
Theater programs. Page 4
Weather. Page 19
Women's Page Features. Page 14
Eleanor Roosevelt. Elizabeth M. Boykin
Dr. William Brady. Ida Jean Kain
Dress Patterns. Caroline Charlton
Harold Shapson. Shellah Graham
Lillian Mae. Household Arts
Bally Saver. Today's Charm Tip

WAR PSYCHOLOGY SENDS WHEAT AND STOCKS SOARING

Cotton Dips Then Jumps to Close 5 to 30 Cents
Bale Higher as Prices on Bonds Dive Sharply.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(P)—War psychology laid violent hold on the nation's sensitive financial and commodity markets today.

Shares in many leading corporations soared, reminiscent of the "war bride" bull market of 1917-1918.

Wheat prices in all major North American markets bounded up 5 to 8 cents a bushel, the limit permitted in a single day's trading, while sensitive commodities generally experienced the sharpest rise in six years.

Bond Prices Sink.
Meanwhile, bond prices sank severely, as investors evidently felt the costs of war might eventually mean an end to the abnormal "cheap money" era, which has pushed prime investments to the highest prices on record.

The share market experienced one of the most sudden turnarounds in its history toward the end of the session, as traders woke up to the fact that the outbreak of hostilities was not bringing a severe selling wave, as it did in 1914. Prices dropped $1 to $7 during the earlier hours, but offerings were comparatively light.

In the last hour, excited buying appeared in steel, copper, sugar, aircraft and miscellaneous industrial shares regarded as likely to get war business. Earlier losses were largely regained, and several issues shot up $1 to $7 above yesterday's final prices.

Activity Soars.
Such activity in the speculative commodity markets had not been witnessed since the wave of "inflation" buying when the dollar was taken off the gold standard in the spring of 1933. Raw sugar futures jumped 1-4 of a cent a pound, the limit permitted in a single session. The big copper companies announced they were advancing their price 1-4 of a cent to 10 3-4 cents a pound.

Cotton, which declined during the World War, as foreign textile mills were busy with munitions, declined moderately, then came up to close 5 to 30 cents a bale higher. Crude rubber futures jumped 2 cents, raw silk 2 to 6 cents, hides 1-2 cents, cottonseed oil nearly a cent, zinc and wool futures, about 1-3 of a cent. The commodity exchange was unable to make prices in tin, cattle and hog prices improved at Chicago.

Treasury Issues Dip.
The Federal Reserve system quickly took steps to protect the market for United States government bonds. The New York Reserve Bank asked dealers to report the details of all transactions, presumably in an effort to prevent "bear" selling or other speculative transactions. Also, the bank was said by dealers to have put orders on the market on a scale down to cushion the decline.

Nevertheless, prices of most treasury issues dipped $2.50 to $15 per $1,000 bond. This was a small decline than last Thursday, however, and they still held at big premiums over par. Trading in the stock exchange amounted to $8,657,200 face value, a relatively small volume compared with normal transactions in the "over-the-counter" market, where most of the dealing in these issues is done. But the exchange had such a flurry of small orders that trading was continued for some time after the closing gong at 3 p. m.

U. S. GOVERNMENT PAYS CITY $13,000

Amount Accepted in Lieu of Taxes on Two Low-Cost Housing Projects.

Atlanta was $13,000 richer yesterday when the city accepted that amount from the federal government in lieu of taxes on the Techwood and University low-cost housing projects.

Finance committee members approved the tender, said to represent 5 per cent of the gross income of the project for the year ending last June 30.

Committee members declined to vote funds for the widening of several streets, contending municipal finances were not in condition to stand the drain the projects would cause.

A fund of $250 was provided for Police Chief M. A. Hornsby to conduct criminal investigations as he sees fit.

Applications for pensions were approved for Miss Ella Thomas Landrum, white, and Mary Doonan and Minnie L. Bell, negroes. All three are school teachers.

LIFE INSURANCE MESSAGE PLANNED

Seneca M. Gamble Will Direct Advertising.

National advertising and promotion for the Annual Message of Life Insurance will be directed this year by a former Atlantan, Seneca M. Gamble, who now resides in Springfield, Mass.

Conducted each year by leading national life insurance companies, the annual message is an institutional drive to promote life insurance. This year the national campaign will be concentrated the week of October 23.

Advertising in the campaign this year will be given exclusively to newspapers.

September Is HIGH'S Month in Atlanta

SHOP TODAY FOR WEEK-END NEEDS--STORE CLOSED MONDAY--LABOR DAY

FIRST TO HIGH'S—THEN BACK-TO-SCHOOL

Perfectly Tailored or Trimmed With Fur!

Girls' and Misses' Winter Coats

$8.98 to $16.98

Let your daughter take her place in school... well dressed! Before you buy, see the marvelous collection of winter coats... princess and belted styles, trimmed with French Beaver, squirrel, and American grey fox. Also velvet trimmed and sports styles... some with muffs and bags. Tweeds, honey combs, boucles, suedes and fleeces... SIZES 7-14, 10-16.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Velvet and Fur Trimmed!

Tots' Coat Sets

$5.98 to $10.98

Coats, hats and leggings to keep small tots warm in winter! Some with muffs! Tweed, shetland, suede and fleece... in royal blue, rust, green, copen, wine and skipper. Sizes 1 to 6.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Easy To Buy On Lay-Away Plan

Girls'—Misses' Fall Hats

$1.00

... and $1.98! New fall hats in popular colors... different shapes. Sizes 20 1/2 to 22 1/2.

Girls' Scotch Plaid Jackets

$2.98

... and $3.98! Plaids with green, blue or wine predominating. Fitted. Sizes 8-16.

Girls' Wool Skirts

Solids and plaids! Suspender and belted styles... fall colors. 8-16. $1.98 and $2.98

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Colors new for fall in

Girls' Dresses

$1.98 and $2.98

For school... shirtwaist styles with pleated skirts and novelty pockets! For dress... frocks with padded shoulders and flower accents! Spun rayons and silks in solids and plaids. Sizes 7-16.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

New! Tots' Frocks

$1.00

Nannette Toddler and Cinderella brands! Pleated or cartwheel skirts... pique and gingham trim. Sizes 1-3, 3-6.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

$15.95 Values! All Wool Herringbones! Stripes! Tweeds!

Boys' 2-Pants Suits

• TWO PAIRS OF LONG PANTS come with each suit!
• SIZES 12 TO 20 YEARS $12.98

Fine Quality 'Don Juan' Youths' and Juniors' Sizes in

Boys' '1 Shirts

79¢

• SANFORIZED SHRUNK!
• STRIPES! CHECKS!
• PRINTS! SOLIDS!
• NOVELTY PATTERNS!

4 for $3

Over 500 shirts for your selection! Fine quality "Don Juan" shirts... every one SANFORIZED SHRUNK! New fall shades, pastels, prints and novelties await you! Buy armful at this low price... send them back to school with plenty! Button-on blouses, SIZES 4-8 yrs. Junior shirts, SIZES 8-12 yrs. Youth shirts, SIZES 12-14 1/2 neck.

BOYS' DEPT.—HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Boys' Wool Slacks

Famous "David Copperfield" brand... nationally known for style and durability! Brown and green herringbone. Pleated fronts, self belts. Sizes 8-12, 14-20 yrs. Special $1.98

Boys' All-Wool Sweaters

$2.98 Values! New for fall! Boys' wool sweaters in green, brown, tan, blue and combinations. Sizes 28-38... $1.98

BOYS' DEPT.—HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Sportswear for Week-End Fun

And sportswear for smart simplicity! For there's nothing that feels so right, that looks so casually smart as sportswear! Mix and match them... wear sportswear everywhere!

Skirts... that hug your hips

A close fit over the hips... then pleats or a graceful flare! Tweeds, gabardine and wools... in plaids, checks and solids. Sizes 24 to 34. $2.99

Jackets... nipped-in at the waist

Some with suede vestee! Bold plaids and mad stripes in gay array... cardigan and lapel styles. Perfect partners with skirts, important over frocks. 14-20. $5.99

Sweaters... flatter your figure

Nothing quite so youthful! Zephyr, shetland, brushed wool and hand knits... in pure white, pastels and dark shades. Sizes 32 to 44. Classic pullovers, cardigans and novelty styles. $1.99

SPORTSWEAR—HIGH'S SECOND FLOOR

Visit the Sports Shop today! See the great collection... ready to mix and match!

Look---Month-End DRESS NEWS

Welcome bargains—hurry to share the savings!

$7.95 to $10.95 VALUES... NOW

Included are chiffons, spun rayons, silks, cottons. Broken sizes. $4.00

$3.99 to $7.95 VALUES... NOW

You'll find chiffons, rayons, silks, cottons. Sizes broken. $2.99

MATERNITY DRESSES... NOW

Were $5.95 and $7.95 in print bemberg. $5.00

READY-TO-WEAR—HIGH'S SECOND FLOOR

Cut Your Hosiery Budget to a Minimum

10 to 30 Days without a run! The actual test made by young business women on our new specially processed and exclusive

Sheer "Duralon" Silk Hosiery

79¢ PAIR

An important piece of news for you! Hosiery that lasts longer, wears better, and won't fade or streak... and only 79¢ a pair! Treated with a scientific product that makes them snag-resistant... 3-thread, 42-gauge, heel-within-heel style! Try a pair today! Choose from new fall shades: Hawaii! Sunlit! Exciting!

HOSIERY—HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Intoxicating Red Wine

... Important Fall Accent adds fire to Fall's leader... Black!

BLACK BAG of glossy suede... open zipper top. Covered frame. $1.98

RED WINE GLOVES of suede-finish fabric. Some with leather trim. $1.00

SOUTOIR NECKLACE... heavy sliding ornament on gold rope chain. $1.00

WHITE COLLAR and cuff set of linen trimmed with Venice lace. Other fabrics. $1.00

RED WINE BELT... 2-in. wide. With self-covered tassel and buckle. (Other costume colors)... $1.00

ACCESSORIES—HIGH'S STREET FLOOR

Underneath your new fall frocks... Form-fitting satin or crepe

Silk Slips

• Lavish with lace trim... or trimly tailored... $1.69

It's time for new fall lingerie! Slips must fit perfectly under new fall frocks... so they're bias cut or four-gored to cling right to your figure. Made of silk crepe, soft and light... or heavier gleaming satin. Tealose, white, navy and black. Sizes 34-44.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Ready for College?

Have you bought your new Printed Broadcloth

House Coats

$1.98

Small sum to pay for so much style and comfort! For when you want to relax, yet stay dressed, you'll wear a house coat! Sweeping zipper and wraparound styles, enlivened by bright prints on dark backgrounds. Fast colors. Sizes 14-20, 38-44... and extra sizes 46-50.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

Tuck-in! Coat! and Butcher-Boy Styles!

Broadcloth Pajamas

$1.00

Gay prints and stripes on light and dark grounds make these pajamas the kind you'll want to own! Impudent butcher-boy styles with loose top,—man-tailored types,—and tuck-in styles... you'll want them all! Color-fast prints and solids... sizes 15, 16, 17.

HIGH'S THIRD FLOOR

EASY TO BUY WITH HIGH'S "LETTER OF CREDIT"—GIVES YOU FIVE MONTHS TO PAY

Warsaw Immune To Terror Of Bombing, Witness Says

Air Raid Wardens Forced To Hustle Many Into Shelters.

The following eyewitness account of today's German air raids on Warsaw was written by the United Press staff correspondent in the midst of the sixth air attack on the Polish capital and its environs.

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE JR. WARSAW, Sept. 1.—(UP)—I am huddled in a cavernous pas-

TONITE FLOOR SHOW DINNER-DANCE
HAWKINS HANGAR RESTAURANT
OPP. AIRPORT ENTRANCE

AIR CONDITIONED COOL
LOEW'S
Robert TAYLOR • Lily LAMARR
LADY OF THE TROPICS
MGM Love Drama by BEN HECHT

RHODES NOW!
NOW! In Technicolor!
WIZARD OF OZ
JUDY GARLAND • MORGAN

PARAMOUNT Always Cool!
The Sign of the Cross
BASIL RATHBONE

FOX Now Air-Conditioned
THE STAR MAKER
RING CROSBY
PLUS-DONALD DUCK CARTOON.

New Stars--- New Thrills--- Same Great Story!

GARY COOPER
RAY MILLAND
ROBERT PRESTON

"Beau Geste"
MIDNITE PREVIEW
TONIGHT 11:30

FOX
COMFORTABLE AIR-CONDITIONED

RIALTO
NOW PLAYING

Golden Boy
Barbara STANWYCK
William HOLDEN
Adolphe MENJOU

IT'S THE OUTSTANDING PICTURE OF THE YEAR

Golden Boy
A COLUMBIA PICTURE

CAPITOL
STARTS SUNDAY!
Screen's Greatest Action Thriller
Brought Back When Fighting Aviation Is Now the World's Most Vital Issue! 1,001 Thrills!!!

THE EAGLE
AND THE HAWK
A Paramount Picture
FREDRIC MARCH
CAROLE LOMBARD
CARY GRANT
JACK OAKIE

ALL SEATS 25¢
Children 10¢

BANDITS GET $1,000 IN HOLDUP OF BANK

Two Forced Into Vault During Midday Foray in Ashburn.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ASHBURN, Ga., Sept. 1.—Authorities throughout southwest Georgia tonight were on the look-out for two bandits who, in a swift foray, forced two men into the vault of the Citizens Bank of Ashburn today and fled with about $1,000 in silver and currency.

"I thought it was a joke," said Vice President K. P. Baker, only man in the bank at the time of the noon-day holdup, "when one of the men dashed behind the counter with a 16-pound paper bag and ordered me to help put all money on the counter into the bag."

When G. P. Leggett, local lumberman, entered the bank, he and Baker were forced into the vault, but they escaped within three or four minutes. The bandits had completed their work and fled.

Baker described the men to Sheriff Alex Storey, who immediately set officers throughout south Georgia to search for the pair. One was described as 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighing from 180 to 190 pounds, and wearing a white felt hat with narrow brim, light shirt, and gray trousers. The other, Baker said, was about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighed 140 to 150 pounds, of dark complexion, and wore light clothes.

Five minutes later the 12 Heinkel bombers, magnificent big birds, were visible. They came not in formation, but scattered everywhere over the city.

The clatter of anti-aircraft fire mingled with machine-gun fire broke out. But the Heinkels seemed to pay no attention.

The quivering, r-r-r-umphs continue, but apparently most of the bombs are being dropped outside the center of Warsaw.

Futile Return Fire. Some eager Polish gun crews are firing on the planes from rooftops with machine guns.

They might as well be using bean-shooters. The Heinkels are probably 8,000 feet over the city. Just now there were 15 distinct reverberations of distant explosions.

The planes overhead are coming closer. We can hear their motors now.

Sometimes they are above the clouds. Then, with the grace of a swallow, they dip down to come closer in calm defiance of the anti-aircraft shrapnel pock-marking the sky.

A machine gun is clattering on a few yards from the United States embassy.

The noise of heavier firing, undoubtedly anti-aircraft guns, comes to us from the sister city of Praga across the Vistula river to the east, as well as from other outlying areas.

Warsaw Citizens Calm. With stoic calm, as though they had been stealing themselves for months against just this sort of thing, the people of Warsaw are taking the air raids without the least trace of terror or hysteria.

When the sirens screech, they drop what they are doing, go orderly to the air raid shelters and wait patiently for the planes to pass.

Many are reluctant to get off the streets, and the air raid wardens are compelled to shove them out of the way.

MASONIC BODY ELECTS. CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 1.—Levi Jackson, of Stilesboro, was elected worshipful master of the Barlow County Masonic Convention at the annual convention of the organization, held at Euhanlee yesterday. Other new officers are: R. V. Jones, of Cartersville, senior warden; Willis M. Boyd, of Adairsville, junior warden, and R. H. Davis, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Amusement Calendar
Downtown Theaters
CAPITOL—"Mr. Moto Takes a Vacation," with Peter Lorre, etc., at 12:30, 2:30, 4:15, 6:07, 7:38 and 9:42. Newswear and short subjects.

FOX—"The Star Maker," with Bing Crosby, Louise Campbell, Linda Ware, Ned Sparks, etc., at 12:30, 2:30, 4:15, 6:07, 7:38 and 9:42. Newswear and short subjects.

LOEW'S—"The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," with Basil Rathbone, at 11:30, 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30. Newswear and short subjects.

RIALTO—"Golden Boy," with Barbara Stanwyck, William Holden, Adolphe Menjou, etc., at 11:30, 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30. Newswear and short subjects.

RHODES—"The Wizard of Oz," with Judy Garland, Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Bert Lahr, Jack Haley, etc., at 11:30, 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30. Newswear and short subjects.

CENTER—"Union Pacific," with Barbara Stanwyck.

Night Spots
HENRY GRADY HOTEL—Spanish Room—Johnny Burkhardt and his orchestra, playing dinner-dance music nightly from 7 p. m. until midnight.

Neighborhood Theaters
ALPHA—"Trouble in Sundown," with George O'Brien.
AMERICAN—"Patience of 49," with Bill Elliott.

BANKHEAD—"Santa Fe Stampede," with John Wayne.
BUCKHEAD—"Sunset Trail," and "CASCADIA—The Frontiersmen," with Bill Boyd.

COLLEGE PARK—"Santa Fe Stampede," with John Wayne.
DENALIS—"The Cat in the Hat," with John Wayne.

EMORY—"Union Pacific," with Barbara Stanwyck.
EMPIRE—"Thundering West," with Charles Starrett.

FAIRFAX—"Southward, Ho!" with Roy Rogers.
FAIRVIEW—"Law West of Tombstone," with William Boyd.

HILAN—"Mr. Wong, Detective," with Boris Karloff.
PALACE—"Mr. Moto in Danger Island," with Peter Lorre.

A Cake for the Lady, at Techwood's Birthday Party

A cake goes to Mrs. E. C. Robertson, who last night attended the street carnival in commemoration of the third anniversary of Techwood Housing. Surprised with her are Mrs. Maude Robertson, Arlynnee Robertson, and on her right hand is Mr. Robertson. The carnival and street dance were held on Techwood drive and thousands gathered for the annual frolic in which friends from all parts of Atlanta joined with Techwood residents.

Stoical Determination Marks People of Paris, Says Duranty

By WALTER DURANTY. For North American Newspaper Alliance. PARIS, Sept. 1.—(By Wireless.) This Paris, what a contrast with August, 1914!

Then cheering crowds, madly singing the "Marseillaise" and "A Berlin," packed solid throughout the Grands boulevards, which blazed with lights save where black gaps marked German stores that had been gutted. It was a frantic climax of the excitement that had been rising through a week of alternate hopes and fears and the Parisians let themselves go in a burst of patriotic ardor.

Of course, it is true that the most important part of the French mobilization has already been accomplished, but that does not account for the public stoicism today. I think the reason is that the French people, from top to bottom, had already decided a week ago that it could stand no more of Herr Hitler's "alarums and excursions," that now it had had enough and that whatever its government was planning or hoping, it, the French people, was determined to end this nightmare by action.

I have heard much about national unity—a whole nation with a single thought—but today I have seen it here, and find it means more than cheering mobs—so dreadfully calm and businesslike without wasting time for emotion.

At the corner near the famous Cafe Maximie, where the Rue Royale enters the Place de Concorde, I saw a middle-aged woman in a black dress, who might have been a concierge or the wife of a small shopkeeper, staring at a poster on a wall which was framed behind wire netting. I looked and saw in big print, "Mobilization generale," then looked again and saw lower down the words, "August, 1914." The woman looked at it, too, without speaking, then murmured, as if to herself, "So it comes again," and went quickly on her way to the Metro station around the corner.

AROUND ATLANTA WITH CONSTITUTION REPORTERS

Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, psychologist, will lecture on "The Secret of Youth, Success and Happiness" at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

Charles F. Bownes, 24, of Mauleton, and Essie Martin, of a Harris street address, were arrested yesterday on charges of suspicion of burglary in connection with the theft of two pigs from the farm of Clyde Clay, Austell. Bownes admitted stealing the pigs.

Miss Josephine Wilkins, head of the Georgia League of Women Voters, will be principal speaker at the luncheon of the Lions' Club at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel. Her topic will be "Let's Double Our Income."

Meeting date has been changed from Monday to Tuesday because of Labor Day. Victor F. Todd will be chairman.

"Political expediency is no justification for diversion of the gasoline tax from the Highway Department," Neil W. Printup, secretary of the Georgia Petroleum Industries committee, declared yesterday. He is opposing any effort to divert highway funds for other state expenses in the present financial crisis.

Bank clearings yesterday totaled $8,000,000, which was $300,000 less than the total for the same day last year, the Atlanta Clearing House Association announced yesterday.

Reunion of the George Washington McDonald family will be held at Zor church, near Centerville, in Gwinnett county, Sunday. It was announced yesterday. Approximately 150 persons are expected to attend. Barbecue will be served at noon. The McDonald family came to Georgia from Virginia.

John M. Brown, former resident of Decatur and brother of Misses Myrtle and Carrie Brown, of Decatur, who was injured in an automobile accident in Lebanon, Tenn., is a patient in St. Thomas hospital in Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Brown is general southern manager of the Norfolk & Western railway.

Rev. E. D. Reddick, pastor of Patho Methodist church, Decatur, will be the principal speaker before the Goodwill Industries at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Services Friday morning will be conducted by the Rev. Robert W. Burns, pastor of Peachtree Christian church.

W. W. Gaines will address the Men's Bible class of Capitol Avenue Baptist church at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning on "Answering God's Call."

Earl Rhoads, of Toconoco, will address the Rhoads Sunday school class of Park Street Methodist church at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Rhoads organized the

35 DELTA SIGMA PI'S TO ATTEND SESSION

Atlantans Chosen for Rally of Commerce Group.

Approximately 35 delegates will represent Atlanta at the 13th grand chapter congress of Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, to be held in Philadelphia Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Harold Hemrick has been named delegate from Kappa chapter of the Georgia Evening College. Thoben Elrod will represent the Atlanta Alumni Club. The Atlanta chapter has ranked first place in the national efficiency contest for six consecutive years.

MORTUARY

MRS. LULA BELL FOUTS, wife of Grover C. Fouts, of 18 Foust street, died Tuesday night at a private hospital. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Surviving besides her husband are three daughters, Mrs. H. G. Queen, Miss Myrtle Fouts and Miss Nina Lou Fouts; four sons, G. C. Jr., H. L. William and Donald Fouts; three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Spruitt, Salina, Kan.; Mrs. Floyd Evans, Louisville, Ky.; and Mrs. Elsie Shumacher, of Kansas City, Kan. Her mother, Mrs. H. M. Williams, and four brothers, Lucian, Claude, Chester and Hershell Williams, all of Kansas, and four brothers, Lucian, Claude, Chester and Hershell Williams, all of Kansas, will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Northside Park Baptist church under the direction of the Rev. Oliver E. Eberhart and the Rev. E. E. Peek officiating. Place of burial will be announced later by Henry M. Blanchard.

MRS. SARAH ZION QUINN, of Sanderville, Ga., died last night at a private hospital. Surviving are three sons, Rudolph, Morris and Saul Quinn, all of Atlanta; two brothers and five sisters. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sam R. Greenberg & Company.

MARTHA JO KENT, seven-month-old daughter of Mrs. J. G. Kent, of 195 Echo street, N. W., died Thursday night at Grady hospital. Surviving besides her parents are five sisters, the Misses Elizabeth, Pauline, Mae, Mary Jane, and Arlene Kent; a grandfather, J. J. New, and a grandmother, Mrs. James McCarthy. Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at Bethlehem cemetery, Cobb county, under the direction of J. Allen Couch.

MRS. HUGH P. COPELAND, 31, died yesterday morning at her home, 537 Boulevard, N. E. She was a member of the Rock Springs Baptist church. Surviving are her husband; a son, Move Copeland; her brother, John H. Clay, and W. H. Music, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cochran, of Atlanta. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chapel of Awtry & W. S. Nix, of Batesville, Ga. Burial will be in the New Hope cemetery.

MRS. M. J. ROBINSON, of Atlanta, died yesterday morning at a private hospital. She was 77 years of age and lived at 141 Highland avenue, N. W. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Claude Williams and Gertrude Newbank, both of Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Segars and Mrs. G. P. Richardson, and a brother, M. C. Wright, of Dallas, Texas. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chapel of Awtry & W. S. Nix, of Batesville, Ga. Burial will be in the New Hope cemetery.

JOHN R. NIX, 68, of 645 Woodland avenue, S. E., died yesterday morning at a private hospital. Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. E. Benson, Mrs. F. B. Page, of San Francisco, and Mrs. W. T. Puckett, of Emerson, Ga.; and three brothers, W. J. Nix, of Batesville, Ga.; Dr. W. J. Nix, of Aragon, Ga.; and F. P. Nix, of Gainesville. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chapel of Awtry & W. S. Nix, of Batesville, Ga. Burial will be in the New Hope cemetery.

MRS. MAYBELLE J. ROBERTS, 63, widow of Frank Roberts, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 416 Techwood drive, after a lingering illness. She was a native of Atlanta and a member of Temple Baptist church and was educated at the Southern Female College, LaGrange, Ga. Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Frances Avera; a son, Marshall Young; three sisters, Mrs. W. Tom Winn, Mrs. Led Atkins, of Jackson, and Miss Mamie Jett, and three grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill with Dr. Ellis A. Fuller and Dr. M. A. Cooper officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

C. H. DREYFUS, Dreyfus, of 540 Virginia circle, who died Thursday night at a private hospital, will be buried at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill with Dr. C. R. Stauffer officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Kuhn Declares Bund For Strict Neutrality
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(P)—Fritz Kuhn, national leader of the pro-Nazi German-American Bund, said in an interview today that the Bund was a "neutral, American organization fighting for absolute neutrality."

"I hope," he added, "that the United States stays out. We don't want war. The Bund is not supporting war."

TECHWOOD JAMMED FOR CELEBRATION

Gala Program Marks Third Anniversary of Housing Project.

They were there, all right, those 5,000 persons who were expected to jam Techwood drive last night in commemoration of the housing project's third anniversary. They pushed up and down the floodlit street, applauded a floor show, and then danced until midnight with Louis Ridley and orchestra.

It wasn't a private affair, either, because they came from miles around to sing and dance in the street. It was all for the Techwood Tenants' Association and the proceeds go to the Boy Scouts, the recreation center, and social activities during the winter.

Perhaps the highspot of the evening was the floor show, directed by Fred Parker. Around it jammed the thousands, munching popcorn, drinking drinks, applauding. And the talent was all Atlanta born and bred.

There were Marie Kate Smith singing, Barbara Page and Virginia Miller playing saxophones, Helen O'Leary singing and dancing, Jimmy Kilpatrick, singing and playing the piano. Imitations, comedies, dances helped make up the 21-act program.

The street dance followed and more than one thousand couples were down a few inches the pavement of Techwood drive.

JOB TAX CREDITS STILL AVAILABLE
Employers Who Paid Late Get Special Claim Form.

Georgia employers who paid their state employment contributions too late to receive credit against federal returns will be furnished blank forms for filing claims for refunds by the office of Marion H. Allen, collector of internal revenue, it was announced yesterday.

He urged taxpayers who have not paid the state in full for the calendar years 1936, 1937 and 1938 to do so by October 8 if they wish to take advantage of liberalized credit allowances under the new amendments.

Daily Statistics
FIRE RECORDS.
(From 9 p. m., August 31 to 9 p. m., September 1.)

A. M.
12:25—Techwood and Alexander streets; false alarm.
P. M.
1:36—Spring and Marietta streets; auto, F. A. Watson.
3:16—Highland avenue and Southern Railway; grass fire.
7:04—24 Linden street; trash.
7:14—Courtland street and Auburn avenue; brush.
8:07—Cherokee and Sidney streets, S. E.; false alarm.

Atlantan Tries To Phone Hitler But Strikes Snag

The shell-like ear of the telephone operator was startled. It was a skeptical ear and doubted it had heard aright.

"You want—who?" inquired the ear's owner, pardonably ungrammatical. "Maybe I didn't get it right."

"Yes," said the voice calling, "you heard all right, all right. I want to get a long distance call through to Adolf Hitler—the Wilhelmstrasse—Berlin, Germany. That's right."

"Oh!" was all the operator could think to say for a moment. Then, remembering, she explained that all transatlantic calls had been limited by the telephone company to official communica-

INCREASE SHOWN IN DEPARTMENT STORE SALES HERE

Atlanta department store sales for the week ending last Saturday were up 22 per cent over the same week last year, and up 15 per cent over the preceding week, the Federal Reserve Bank reported yesterday.

Sales in the Sixth Federal Reserve District for the same period likewise showed a 22 per cent gain over last year, but were 2 per cent below the previous week.

For the four weeks ending the same date, Atlanta sales increased 17 per cent over the corresponding period of 1938, while district sales were up 15 per cent.

BURGLARY SUSPECT IS ARRESTED HERE

Native of Nova Scotia Held at Police Station for Investigation.

Trapped in the garage of a home on Rockdale road by the owner of the house, a young white man, suspected by police as being responsible for numerous burglaries of northside homes, was taken into custody last night and held for investigation.

He was listed by police as Arthur R. Balkum, and told officers that he came to Atlanta about five weeks ago from Boston, but was a native of Weymouth, Nova Scotia.

Balkum was caught by W. S. Felton, of 1818 Rock Springs road, who told police that he noticed a "shadow" in his garage as he was bidding a guest goodbye. Felton said he returned to his house and procured a pistol and returned to the garage, which is built in a bank adjoining the house, and found Balkum hiding on a ledge.

REVOLVER BANDIT ROUTED BY YELLS
Loot Is Nickel Confession as Victim Raises Alarm.

Atlanta's "nickel-plated revolver bandit" went foraging again last night and all he got for his pains was a nickel confession.

Hugh Turner, of 111 Richardson street, pushcart vendor, reported to police he was stopped at Crew and Glenn streets by two negroes, one of whom asked for pop-sicles. When he produced it, Turner said, the other negro drew a nickel-plated revolver and shoved it in his ribs, demanding his money.

Turner's screams caused the bandits to flee.

Your Need Attention Eyes
DR. JOHN KAHN
J. M. HIGH CO., WA. 8881

Endorsed by the 66 COLLEGIATES

$2.98

Collegiates, those alert to all that's new in wearing apparel, heartily endorse High's shoes for their clever interpretation of the latest in footwear trends.

In our store we offer a courteous "try-on" service

HIGH'S SHOE DEPT.

RED CROSS OF U. S. ASKS WORLD BODY WHAT IS NEEDED

Chairman Davis Says First Task Is Rescuing Americans, But Eventualities Are Faced

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—Chairman Norman H. Davis, of the American Red Cross, tonight asked the International Red Cross committee at Geneva what measures of relief will be needed for the populations of nations engaged, or about to be engaged, in hostilities.

He said that the character and extent of relief which the American organization will extend, will depend upon the needs and requests of the nations involved, based upon the response of the American people to an appeal on their behalf.

Davis said that one of his first tasks will be to assist the federal government in repatriation of American citizens. He added that although the Red Cross does not envisage sending ambulance units, hospital units, doctors and nurses abroad at once, it nevertheless is preparing for eventualities.

JOHNSON IN APPEAL FOR NATIONAL UNITY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, appealed tonight for the "undivided and loyal support" of every American for the efforts of the President and the administration to keep the United States out of war.

"This is an hour of danger and crisis," Johnson said in a radio talk (MBS). He added that it was "the essence and glory of a democracy that men can differ," but that in times of crisis "there is a moral duty resting on us all to sink our differences."

GERMANY'S LEGIONS SMASH INTO POLAND

Continued From First Page.

armies smashing across the frontiers and Nazi bombing planes alleged to be killing women and children mercilessly.

German bombers, working in relays throughout the day swept upon Warsaw six times and bombarded other cities and towns throughout the country with a steadily mounting loss of life.

Fuehrer Adolf Hitler was described in an official communique as having violated his Friday morning pledge before the Reichstag in Berlin that he would spare civilians from the horrors of aerial warfare.

Refugees Bombed.

In one instance, it was alleged, German planes bombed an evacuation train 60 miles west of Warsaw, killing and wounding many women and children.

Seven German planes were shot down, it was announced officially, while unofficial reports indicated that a total of 16 German bombers might have been downed in fighting in Silesia.

(At 11 a. m. Friday, a German radio bulletin from Berlin announced that Poland had carried the hostilities onto German soil along the frontier of the Polish Corridor with an artillery bombardment of the railroad station at Beuthen, 20 miles inside German territory. The German announcement said "five or six shots" from 75 millimeter guns detonated in a clump of trees without causing damage.)

Raid German Town.

It also was announced from Berlin that a Polish airplane dropped six bombs on a workers' settlement in Hohenlinder strasse in the Beuthen suburb of Freiskenstrasse, with slight property damage.

(In Paris, a Polish radio broadcast was picked up saying that two German attacks on the fortified Polish base at Westerplatte in the Danzig harbor had been repulsed.)

(In Berlin last night an army communique denied that any open cities and towns had been bombed and that "official investigation has conclusively proven such reports to be untrue. . . . Our air force attacks are directed exclusively against military objectives.")

In the Warsaw raids, the suburbs were the heaviest sufferers. Claim Nazis Stopped.

Poland's fully mobilized armies, it was stated authoritatively last night, are "everywhere stemming" the invasion of the German armies.

Construction of Tunnel Under Peachtree at Ellis Proposed for Relief of 'Bottle-Neck Congestion'

Public Works Committee To Study Plan Submitted by Bus Driver.

Construction of a tunnel beneath Peachtree street at Ellis to relieve congestion and expedite the flow of traffic will be proposed Tuesday in city council and referred to the public works committee.

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday had drawings of the project suggested by Jess Walton, bus driver on the Georgia Power Company's Luckie street line, and wrote a communication to council suggesting that the committee study its feasibility.

According to the plan, Ellis street would be closed to traffic from Carnegie way to Ivy street and a traffic tunnel substituted.

Peachtree street would be kept open, but on the east and west sides of Peachtree street buildings would be erected and leased to make the project self-liquidating.

If executed, the plan would eliminate all east and west travel across Ellis street at Peachtree and would thus speed up traffic on Peachtree. Ellis street traffic would have an uninterrupted lane through the tunnel.

Ben Spinning, engineer, made the drawings for Walton and they were delivered to Hartsfield. Spinning, who made surveys for the drawings, suggested a slogan as follows:

"If we can't remove the bottle neck, at least remove the stopper."

He said Peachtree and Ellis streets is the stopper of the bottle-neck caused by the convergence of Broad, Peachtree and Forsyth streets.

and four at the port of Gdynia, it was announced.

An armored German train was captured at Chojnice in the Polish corridor.

"Lightning Advances."

(In Berlin, the German high command announced lightning advances on all fronts and said its southern army was approaching Cieszynowice.)

The German forces were said to be driving steadily into Poland through Silesia on the south, from East Prussia on the north and from Pomerania to the west of the upper part of the Polish Corridor.)

Reports of aerial bombings of cities, towns and airfields, munitions centers and industrial centers rolled in at increasing tempo.

Several towns were victims of repeated aerial attacks.

Fighting was under way in the Free City of Danzig on the Baltic, which Fuehrer Adolf Hitler "annexed" to his greater German Reich by proclamation early yesterday.

While Germany's East Prussian army struck toward Ciechanow, 50 miles north of Warsaw, another force was reported by the German command to have reached a line from Neumarkt to Sucha, about 10 miles inside Poland's frontier opposite Slovakia.

The air raids on Warsaw claimed casualties, but there was no mention of the number of dead in government announcements. Three men and two women were said to have been wounded, however.

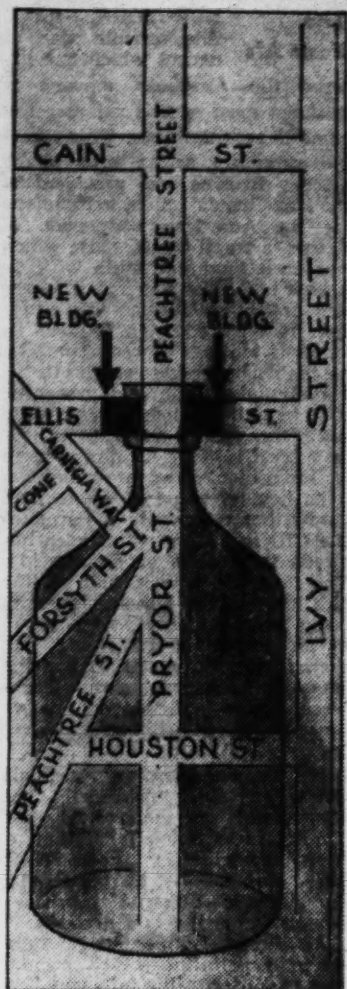

It was announced that Germany's bombers had dropped explosives not only on Warsaw, but on Cracow, the port of Gdynia, Kattowice on the German-Polish Silesian frontier and five other towns.

(Germany admitted air attacks on Warsaw, Kattowice, Cracow, Gdynia and Westerplatte in the Danzig harbor, but insisted that only "fortified" towns were being attacked.)

Poles Blockade Danzig.

The German navy was reported to have isolated from the sea the port of Gdynia at the top of the Polish corridor. Polish warships blockaded Danzig.

Fighting in Danzig was reported

Artist's drawing showing the bottle neck at Peachtree and Ellis streets, caused by the convergence of Broad, Peachtree and Forsyth streets, shows how the proposed tunnel beneath Peachtree street will "pull the stopper out of the bottle."

FINLAND NEUTRAL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Finish Minister Procope informed the State Department today that Finland had declared its strict neutrality.

by both Poles and Germans.

(The official German news agency, D. N. B., said Polish railroad property in Danzig territory had been seized without resistance and with the arrest of several hundred Poles. However, it was admitted that Poles were barricaded in the Polish post office at Danzig and the D. N. B. said they "obviously were equipped with modern war materials.")

Professor Karl H. Burckhardt, the League of Nations high commissioner for Danzig, left the Free City with his staff after the Nazi declaration reuniting the Free City with the Reich.

Attack Is Surprise.

Warsaw and the other Polish cities bombed by the German planes were said by Poles to have been taken completely unaware.

"Nobody supposed there was a war, but without any declaration of war they bombed our cities," a high Polish diplomat said.

(The newspaper Le Temps in Paris reported from Warsaw that Polish guns had shot down a German bomber at Otwock, 18 miles from Warsaw, and that Polish cavalry had staged a vigorous flanking attack against a German column advancing into Upper Silesia.)

It was reported unofficially that many persons were killed and injured in a German air raid which destroyed the railroad station and other buildings in the frontier town of Towus at 6 a. m.

The venerable President Moscicki, in a proclamation to Poland's 35,000,000 people last night, announced that a state of war exists involving all the regulations usually implied to control military and civilian life.

Not a Declaration.

It was emphasized, however, that the proclamation did not amount to a declaration of war, which Poland appears to be trying to avoid due to the United States neutrality act and other complications.

Such a proclamation of a "state of war" is required under the Polish constitution.

The sjem (lower house of parliament) may be convoked to act on a further declaration.

Jess Walton, author of the proposed tunnel under Ellis street to relieve traffic congestion caused by the bottle neck.

MINER AMBUSHED, 2 SUSPECTS HELD

Shooting Occurs Near Copper Mill on Tennessee Line.

COPPERHILL, Tenn., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Chief of Police Frank Clayton said a miner identified as G. Maynard Queen, 32, of Pierceville, Ga., was shot from ambush today as he walked to work at the Tennessee Copper Company mine at Ducktown, Tenn.

Clayton said Queen was "peppered with buckshot" and was treated at the company's first aid station at Ducktown.

The shooting occurred across the line in Georgia, Clayton said.

Fannin county (Georgia) officers later announced the arrest of two men, listed as Clyde Huffman and George Earley, and their detention on charges of assault with intent to murder. They said the two men were armed with a pump gun and a single-barreled shotgun.

Meanwhile, company officials announced the blast furnace and acid plants here were reopened today and that applications were being received for 700 positions left vacant when the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (U. M. W.) called a strike at the plants July 14.

Effect of War on Atlanta Red Cross Not Yet Known, Officials Reveal

Executive Director of Local Chapter States That Assistance Probably Will Be Offered to Both Sides; Same Procedure Was Followed in China.

Effect of war in Europe on the Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross had not been determined yesterday, Dr. Frank K. Boland, chairman, and General James H. Reeves, executive director, said.

Dr. Boland said no instructions had been received from national headquarters in Washington, but added that since hostilities already had begun the executive committee of the Atlanta chapter probably would hold a meeting soon to discuss future plans.

Approximately 250 Red Cross nurses are enrolled in a local area composed of Atlanta and 26 counties. Mrs. Sue Paille, executive secretary of the Fifth District Nurses' Official Registry, reported.

Aid for Both Sides.

Speaking from a national viewpoint, General Reeves said the first probable move of the Red Cross would be to offer its services to both warring sides. These services would include the dispatching of hospital units and nurses to work in refugee camps.

Such a plan, General Reeves pointed out, was followed at the outbreak of hostilities between Japan and China. Only China

6TH WARD BOOSTER BOARD CHARTERED

Purpose To Promote Best Interests of Section Is Cited in Articles.

The Sixth Ward Board of Trade, composed of businessmen of the section, became a corporation yesterday when a charter was issued to Robert R. Jennings, president; J. C. Parrott, first vice president; and William B. Griffith, secretary.

William Woodruff, attorney, filed the petition which sought incorporation under Georgia laws for 35 years.

"The object of said corporation is not for pecuniary gain, hence there will be no capital stock, the sole object and purpose of said corporation being the promotion of the commercial, professional and property interests of the citizens of the sixth ward of Atlanta, Georgia," the articles of incorporation set out.

The organization is one of the few similar organizations in Georgia which is incorporated, it was reported.

Dr. C. A. Constantine
DENTIST
68 Peachtree 2nd Floor at Auburn

HIGH'S BASEMENT

9 A. M. Specials

Hurry! Be Early for These Bargains!

Fall Coats

$10 Values! Tweed tops! Persian fabric chubies! 14-20 ... $5.88

Undies—2 for Women's and misses' sizes! Rayon undies, lace-trimmed, tailored. Teasore. 17-21. $1.25

Silk Hose

Full fashioned silk hose . . . in new fall shades! Irregulars . . . 39c 17-18 grade . . . $1.15

Fall Sweaters

Chenille sweaters in pastels and dark shades. All Sizes. Washable . . . 39c

Men's Shirts

Broadcloths and woven madras . . . solid colors and fancies. All sizes 14-17. $1 values! . . . 59c

Sale! Dresses

Reg. $2.98 and $3.98 . . . reduced to clear. Women's summer frocks, all sizes . . . $1

Reg. $2.98 and $3.98 . . . reduced to clear. Women's summer frocks, all sizes . . . $1

FUR JACKET Coats

And Other Furred Coats are Great Values at Only—

$24.75

Coats With Fur Boleros are

Arabian Lynx

Beaver Dyed Coney

Manchurian Wolf

Wear the little fur boleros over your dresses now! Wear the smartly tailored princess coat alone for fall! Wear both of them together on cold winter days! Lined and interlined. Examine the fine quality today . . . buy yours now!

Buy on Lay-Away Plan

Small deposit holds your purchase . . . the balance in weekly payments.

Sizes 14 to 52! Hurry for Yours!

SHEER DRESSES

To Clear! Regularly $1! NOW SALE PRICED AT

49c

New Fall Dresses

$2

Alpacas! RibRolis! And Bold Plaids!

All the new fall styles, all the novel effects are here! The ones you're wanting . . . and at this low price you can have several! Choose teal, blackberry wine, or black! Sizes 12 to 52.

Fall Sportswear! Angora Sweaters

Soft angora! Sweater classics in all white and soft pastels . . . also dark shades. All sizes. $1

Swing Skirts

Of soft wools! New fall skirts . . . made swing style! All colors and flecks. Sizes for everyone. $1

Reg. $2.98 and $3.98 . . . reduced to clear. Women's summer frocks, all sizes . . . $1

September Is HIGH'S Month In Atlanta

Fur Trimmed! And Sports Styles!

Winter Coats

$9.99

Fur Fabrics! Tailored Tweeds! Soft Fleece! Lavish Fur Trim!

$15 values! A great Saturday special! And marvelous savings for you who buy now! Your selection is better, the collection's complete . . . see it today! All sizes 14-52. BUY ON THE LAY-AWAY PLAN!

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

High's Basement

$2.98 Values---New Fall

ARCH-TYPE SHOES AND Sport Oxfords

30 New Styles
New Fall Colors
Med. or Low Heels

Crepe or Leather Sole Styles

Sizes 31 to 10 AA to EEE

Built-in Steel Arch Combination Lasts

High's Basement

BOOTHES CHAFED SKIN
MOROLINE
GROW-WHITE PETROLIUM JELLY

THE CONSTITUTION

CLARK HOWELL
Editor and Publisher
RALPH T. JONES
Executive Editor

Entered at the Post Office at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

Telephone Walnut 8565.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
By Carrier or Mail
1 Yr. 1 Mo. 3 Mo. 6 Mo. 1 Yr.
Daily and Sunday $2.00 $0.25 $0.75 $1.50 $3.00
Daily Only $1.50 $0.20 $0.60 $1.20 $2.40
Single Copies—Daily 5c, Sunday 10c

By MAIL ONLY
1 Yr. 1 Mo. 3 Mo. 6 Mo. 1 Yr.
Daily and Sunday $2.00 $0.25 $0.75 $1.50 $3.00
Daily Only $1.50 $0.20 $0.60 $1.20 $2.40
Single Copies—Daily 5c, Sunday 10c

Postage paid at Atlanta, Ga. and at additional mailing offices.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by J. P. Morgan & Co., Inc., 150 N. York St., New York 17, N. Y.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to subscription agents, dealers or agents. Receipts for subscription payments not in accordance with published rates are not authorized. Also not responsible for subscription payments received at office of publication.

Member of the Associated Press.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication all news dispatches credited to it or not credited to it by wire, radio or other means, and also the local news published herein.

ATLANTA, GA., SEPTEMBER 2, 1939.

Now, It Comes

Germany has attacked Poland. France and England have delivered ultimatums. Once more the world is at war.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, done with quibbling appeasement, forthrightly said: "The responsibility for this terrible catastrophe lies on the shoulders of one man. . . . The German Chancellor has not hesitated to plunge the world into misery in order to serve his own senseless ambitions."

Most of the world concurs in this statement by the British Prime Minister which must stand as one of the finest summations of his efforts. Rhetoric, however, is pushed aside. The guns are speaking and guns must give answer.

A few things become apparent. In America the President's stand for amendment of the neutrality law, on which he was defeated in the recent session of congress, has been strengthened. The isolationists, still strong, nevertheless have retreated and lost some members.

There is a strong demand from the growers of wheat and cotton; from the producers of naval stores and from the manufacturing world generally, that the war trade set our surplus crops moving and our unemployed to work.

There also is a sentiment to repeal the Johnson act and to permit the Allies to purchase goods on credit.

This act, plus the drive to return neutrality to the status of "International Law," will occupy our own congress which may be expected to be called by the President within the immediate future. Assuredly he will call it as soon as there is a formal declaration of war.

It becomes apparent that Hitler's pact with Russia either was a great error or a tremendous coup. At present, in the light of what has happened, it appears an error.

Italy, never eager for war over Poland and already fearing she was playing second fiddle to Germany, has refused to act and the Fuehrer spoke sharply of expecting nothing from Italy but much from our "eternal friend," Russia.

Spain, also concerned over the Russian pact, could do nothing else but declare strict neutrality. General Franco had used Russia as a whipping post all through the civil war and the Spaniards could not be expected to swallow the pact as did the Germans.

The pact did not destroy the morale of the Franco-British alliance as was expected. It also served to injure the cause of Fascism in other countries where there had been sympathy. The South American countries, largely Catholic, will not care for the alliance with atheistic Russia.

Japan, of course, has withdrawn. That must have been expected by Germany before she reached the decision to sign.

The pact, to date at any rate, does not appear to be the success imagined.

The German Chancellor must bear the guilt of this war. He hardly can escape it. And as his allies fall away and as sentiment turns, it may be we are seeing the beginning of the end for Adolf Hitler.

The Reverend's Revenge

Interesting is the report that the Rev. Gerould R. Goldner, but recently released by the Arabs who had kidnapped and held him for ransom, spent his idle time teaching the Arab kidnapers variations of the game of poker.

The good doctor, no doubt wishing to bring the Arabs to repentance and to a foreswearing of all things worldly, taught them how to play the game with deuces wild and introduced, too, seven-card stud, known in our parts as "down the river."

There is nothing so likely to bring a person to the mourner's seat, asking to be forgiven and received in forgiveness, than indulgence in seven-card stud or poker with deuces wild.

Draw poker, according to its devotees, is a scientific contest and not to be included in the list of gambling devices. Groups of staid poker players have met on a specific night each week and indulged in a staid, scientific contest without financial injury.

But deuces wild—and seven-card stud—they are different matters. Women play those games and women are the worst, and most ardent, gamblers we have. It usually is "The Little Woman" who says, "Oh, let's make this deuces wild," who breaks up a scientific contest and turns it into a gambling game.

In no time at all now, the Arabs will be softened up, tired of it all and wishing to see the Rev. Goldner and ask him to teach them how to forget and how to repent and start life anew.

The Reverend will have his revenge. He no doubt recalled the contrite confession of one of his parishioners who had told all, mentioning deuces wild and seven-card stud.

"Lamps Are Going Out"

Looking out a window on the half dusk which falls over London in the late summer, the British foreign secretary said in August of 1914:

"Lamps are going out all over Europe; we shall not see them lighted again in our time."

These compelling words, shot through with a sorrow and a poignancy which strikes home to all sensitive minds, come back again today. The lamps of civilization to which he referred were never lit again. A few were lit and burned feebly. They are going out today and we well may wonder when their feeble glow will live again.

Germany, through the will of her chancellor who appeared in a new uniform for the occasion, launched an undeclared war on Poland which must bring in the entire world, either as contestants on the fields of battle or as tremendously affected economically.

Yesterday was a day of horror and yet one of some relief in that at last the waiting was over. The iron dice of war were cast and succeeded by the iron sound of guns and planes. There was dying by those who did not wish to die but were sent because of the German Chancellor who killed it. While he spoke of honor and of destiny, his soldiers killed and were killed, his planes bombed civilian centers, all because of his interpretation of honor.

Children, entirely uncomprehending or only partially so, were evacuated from their homes in London and Paris and taken to a countryside. The pictures of them turning their small and innocent faces to the cameras, are tragic pieces of art and even more tragic commentaries on the world of 1939.

The lights are going out. When they shall be lit again depends on the success of the countries who believe, as did our own President Woodrow Wilson, and as do our people and their President today, in the integrity and rights of small nations and in the institutions known as our bill of rights and our sovereignty.

It has been said we should not go to war unless our liberties, as defined by the Bill of Rights, are endangered or unless we are invaded. To that this newspaper subscribes. We as yet have no stake in Europe. We have no stake in war until our own institutions and liberties are threatened. How this may come, no one may anticipate.

Americans must be rational; must try to weigh and analyze the values of this struggle in terms of their own institutions and liberties. As the lamps of the world go out beneath the hob-nailed shoes of troops, the fall of bombs and the explosion of shells, we must seek to keep lit our own lamps of unselfishness, humanity and reason so that we may assist others to relight their lamps when peace shall come.

No Time to Think!

In the struggle to make economic ends meet in these difficult times, in the hustle and bustle of life, little time seems available to the average citizen to examine all the complexities of national existence, to find out what makes it tick. Yet, the less thinking one does the more difficult it becomes, from day to day, to do any thinking at all. The head, like unused muscles, eventually will become flabby and ache when given a little extra work.

One dangerous trend in American life, indeed in life everywhere, is the tendency to be swayed by, to yield en masse, to the influence of predigested thinking.

No complaint, of course, is to be made against those individuals who, for one good reason or another, are not in a position to weigh the evidence of danger before them. It is those who are qualified, those who are able, those who are capable of and have time for sound reasoning, but are too busy to be annoyed or bothered with such trivial matters as a nation's welfare, who are deserving of censure.

They are too satisfied to leave important national problems to the facile-tongued who sway the unthinking with promises, all too often made for the purpose of keeping on the public pay roll, rather than provide a remedy for the diseases glibly promised to be cured.

If the people have become too busy, too fascinated by trick economies, too spellbound by political thimble-rigging, too filled with admiration for individual leadership, to bother about thinking national problems through to a logical conclusion, then the nation is in danger. It is holding its arms wide, in welcome gesture, to all the economic witch doctors, prescribers of nostrums who, in days gone by, were laughed off the platform.

The nation's welfare would be served better by less predigested thinking and more individualistic reasoning. Far too many good citizens of the United States have allowed themselves to become too busy to think, or too accustomed to relying upon others to do their thinking for them. If there ever was a time when this should not be the case it is now.

What's become of the old-fashioned business-is-business man who said, "Sure, let's sell them the helium?"

When last seen, Tokyo's face was rapidly being lost in the diplomatic shuffle.

Rome's ardor for war was slightly less than wholehearted at this writing. The Duce has deserted the high balcony and may sit this one out on the mezzanine.

Il Italy, the little King dutifully acknowledges the plea from here that he intercede for peace, but fails to thank us for the compliment.

The Red Cross has now reached the ripe age of 75 years, and before it is much older may take over the receivership of Europe.

A western long-termist is loath to leave prison for the outer world in its present state. He feels a fellow deserves some time on for good behavior.

An eastern student of music discovers a new sound which may be made on the French horn. So much for a feeling that our young waste their time.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

POLICY TOWARD GERMANS WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The order of the day in dealing with the Germans seems to be "rough 'em up a bit." You might describe it as nightstick diplomacy, for, from the highest administration official and circles closest to the President, there comes the same simple explanation. As one man put it, "We've got to show Hitler there's nothing soft about this democracy. He must be convinced that we can move quickly and act tough whenever the need arises."

The origin of this sentiment is fairly obvious. There is only one man who can set the whole administration singing on a single note. He is a lover of dramatic expedients, shrewd public relations maneuvers and indirect gestures intended to convey unspoken meaning. He often uses the same tactics toward enemies in the domestic political arena, and his name is Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

THE "G-HEAT" IS ON

The unceremonious treatment accorded the German liner Bremen is, in American toughness into the German government's hard pate. It may be taken as typical, for its legal authorization was unimpeachable, and since "pro forma" vessels of other nations were held in the same manner, no neutral act could be complained of. All of which in no way alters the real significance of the Bremen's experience. The ostentation of the search of the big ship, the public hints that the Germans might be up to no good, the calculated grimness of the customs authorities in refusing early clearance papers—all these were meant to convey a sense of harsh and discriminatory treatment, of which, however, no tangible evidence could be offered in complaint. The proof that the incident was in no sense accidental or the doing of subordinates was afforded at the President's press conference, when he revealed full knowledge of it. Actually, he was consulted on every detail.

The rule that vessels entering American waters must follow port procedure with rigorous exactitude, and that, above all, they must not be allowed to leave our ports with arms aboard, was promulgated at the Treasury about ten days ago. It was first applied to a German freighter at New Orleans, which was given the same sort of going over as the Bremen. The rule has also affected ships of other nationalities, but for them enforcement methods have been polite and almost perfunctory.

FIGHTING FIRE WITH FIRE The campaign to rough the Germans up a bit will probably find its most important expression in the counter-espionage activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Some months ago the President made the FBI supreme in this field, and recently the number of G-men assigned was greatly increased, and regional offices were ordered in Puerto Rico, Panama and Alaska.

The co-ordination of counter-espionage, the enforcement of strict port rules and similar steps which will follow are, of course, perfectly constitutional, as well as wise. The prospect of a spy hunt is not pleasant, and the by-products are generally downright harmful, however.

It may be taken as necessary to fight fire with fire—as a kind of early but inevitable repercussion from German methods in this country. But it is to be hoped that, in fighting fire with fire, the administration will go slowly and carefully.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

We're all aboard
And ready to sail,
To the sea
Where the path is clear,
Vacation calls
And, Allah be praised,
Ourselves—and our baggage
Are here!

Behold,
The Great Day.
ON BOARD S. S. AQUITANIA,
(Just Beyond the Statue of Liberty)—Aug. 18, 1939.—It will be a couple of weeks after this is written before it reaches type, but that is a matter of time and the British postal authorities, so is beyond human control.

We managed to get aboard the Aquitania, friend wife and I, before sailing time, but it was a close call. The ship sailed at noon and it was almost 9:30 o'clock before we walked up the gangplank. Which, for two folks who'd been counting hours since they were in the 300 rating, was close enough.

This morning was cloudy and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck, where all those fascinating details of casting off are visible. It may be prosaic and boring for some hardened, blasé travelers, but two of us, and a rain has been falling, intermittently. But it would have taken far heavier rain to drive us from the open deck,

MILITARY EXPERT SAYS NAZIS MAY FACE BIG SURPRISE

Colonel Frederick Palmer
Evaluates Strategic Position of Warsaw, Recalls Error of 1914.

The strategic position of the Polish army and its power of resistance against the onslaught of the German war machine are evaluated here by a veteran war correspondent and military historian.

By COLONEL FREDERICK PALMER, North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—How long can the Polish army hold out against the German? Chancellor Hitler's generals may have underestimated the power of Polish resistance, as the Kaiser's underestimated the French in 1914. The Kaiser's staff expected to overwhelm the French army and take Paris in three months, with the German soldiers home victorious for Christmas.

Statistically and on the map, it looks like an easy sweep through Poland. Germany has more than three and a half times Poland's population, far greater industrial resources, still greater plants for the production of arms and munitions. Germany claims an army with trained reserves of four and a half millions. She claims four or five times the number of Poland's planes, which are reported to be about 800.

Nazis Best In Air.

In the air, the odds are heavily against the Poles. The Germans have plants to make good their plane wastage, and the Poles lack them. If the Germans have been manufacturing guns as fast as they boast, they outgun the Poles in artillery, unit for unit, and again the Germans have plants to keep up the flow of production. The Poles have depended largely upon foreign arms plants for their artillery. One source was the Skoda arms plant in Czechoslovakia, now busy making weapons for Hitler to use against the Poles.

On the map, the strategic problem favors the Germans. The Polish corridor is a strip between the pincers of East and West Prussia. Hitler can strike from both sides in a strangle-hold. The western frontier of Poland, opposite Berlin and trunk-line German highway and railroad systems, is itself a bulge, a salient. Since the western frontier of Poland is more than three times the length of the old World War trench line from Switzerland to the North Sea, there could be no solid defensive trench line.

War of Movement.

Thus we have a war of movement, as we did on the eastern front in the World War. The terrain of Western and Central Poland has few natural obstacles; that favors the German offensive rush. Evidently, German strategy is to fall back on prepared positions, waiting for the German plan to disclose itself and for the Germans to exhaust some of their energy on the march, and to gain some advantage in maneuver. This has its likeness in Joffre's Marne campaign.

Both armies are new, untried armies. The Polish army was born 20 years ago with the rebirth of the Polish nation. Certainly the present German army cannot be the equal in training of the German army of 1914, but it thinks it is better in its storm trooper confidence. Hitler's German army has the same contempt for the Poles that the Kaiser's army had for the French before the Marne in 1914. War is surprise. The Germans may meet another surprise.

Above all other factors is the spirit of the soldiers themselves and their belief in their cause when they are on anything like equal terms. The Pole knows he is fighting for the very life of his nation, which, once crushed, rose again.

When the soldier is set to die rather than yield, we shall see if the defensive power of modern arms has not given him a greater power of resistance than in the

Into the Fire!

ATLANTANS FLEE WAR DANGER ZONES

Rev. J. M. Walker, of City, Is Reported Still in England.

After a hasty departure from European danger zones, three Atlantans arrived in New York yesterday morning on the Holland-America liner, New Amsterdam. They sailed last week from Southampton.

At least one other Atlantant, the Rev. John Moore Walker, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, and his family are still in England. Scheduled to sail yesterday, his passage on the Van Dyke, Cunard chartered vessel, was suddenly cancelled.

European Broadcast Schedule for Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Radio schedule on Europe for tomorrow, to come mainly from London, Paris and Berlin: (Atlanta time.)
NBC-Chains combined—5:30, 8:05 and 11 a. m.
WEAF-NBC—5:05 p. m.; also 6:30 Colonel Frederick Palmer.
WJZ-NBC—7 and 9:30 p. m.
WABC-NBC—6, 7, 8, 10 and 11 a. m.; 12:15, 5:45, 7:30, 9:15 and 10 p. m.
MBS-Chains—8:15, 10:30 and 11 a. m.; 4:30, 5, 7:30, 8 and 9 p. m.; also 9:20 recorded foreign news-casts.

World War.

Every time the Poles force a German column to deploy, it means delay. The poor roads of Poland, the few great trunk roads—over which the Germans are evidently striking—are a greater disadvantage to the advance than the defense. The Poles do not need to drop air bombs to cut bridges and blow up railroads and highways as they retreat. Explosive in an engineer's hands is enough. A modern European army division of 15,000 to 17,000 men occupies from 12 to 15 miles of highway with all its guns and supply trains. The trains cannot go across open fields. For rapid advance, the Germans will have to build roads, and, later in the fall, will have to contend with rains. A retreating army has a powerful sting in its tail. It took Grant a year to get from the wilderness to Appomattox, when Lee was outnumbered, outgunned and his men on corn pone. The Poles will fall back on the food supplies of a rich agricultural country. And the Polish soldier will be in his home climate. If he can hold the Germans three months, winter will be setting in—that winter that was the downfall of Napoleon in Russia. And for the final stand there are the great Polish marshes, in which other armies have foundered.

Speculation Centers on Chances Of Bremen Reaching Home Port

German Liner Somewhere at Sea With Her Wireless Silent; Europe's Fear of War Communicates Itself to New York Harbor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Europe's fear of general hostilities communicated itself to the New York waterfront today, with the keenest speculation centering on the chances of the German liner Bremen reaching her home port of Bremerhaven safely.

The Bremen, detained here for two days while customs agents searched her for contraband, sailed Wednesday night without passengers and was somewhere at sea tonight, her wireless silent lest she disclose her position. Shipping men said she could hardly be expected to get to Germany before Monday morning.

No other Nazi ships, either passenger or cargo, were in New York harbor. The liners New York and St. Louis left for Hamburg early this week but were still far from home ports.

Will Disembark at Havana. Another German ship, the Columbus, which sailed from New York August 19 with 745 West Indies cruise passengers, was to disembark them late today at Havana, Cuba, before proceeding for Germany.

John Schroeder, managing director of the North German Lloyd line here, said the passengers, who had been held for several days at Curacao, Dutch West Indies, would be sent from Havana to Miami and then to New York by rail at the company's expense.

Meanwhile, the prize of the French merchant marine, the $60,000 Normandie, still lay at her pier here with sailing indefinitely postponed pending word from Paris.

Italian Liner Here

The Italian liner Roma lay in dock here, too, the only sizable Italian ship outside of home waters. The sailing of the Cunard White Star liner Franconia (British) was held up at least 16 hours by a continued customs search which began yesterday. Two hundred passengers were booked for the voyage.

Three other British liners, the Georgic, Carinthia and Lancastria, were in port tonight. All have been operating as cruise ships.

The Queen Mary, biggest of the British merchant fleet, was bound from Cherbourg to New York and was due early next week. The new Mauretania was in home waters.

Dutch Liner Arrives. The Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam arrived from Europe today with 1,286 passengers, 136 more than her normal capacity. Among them were Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, the former Lady Ashley, and her sister, Mrs. Basil Black; Film Actress Edna Best and Mona Barrie; Miss I. A. P. Wylie and Mrs. Margaret Culkin Banning, writers. Many of the passengers slept on mattresses on the floor.

The United States lines speeded up its schedules to evacuate Americans from Europe. The American Farmer sailed late today, and it was announced she would omit her Plymouth, England, stop and make London her only scheduled port.

Sailing Moved Up. The Washington's sailing, originally scheduled for next Wednesday, was moved up to Saturday.

Manned by a skeleton crew, the Furness-Bermuda liner Queen of Bermuda, was a day out of New York, bound for England. Line officials here understood she would be taken over for transport duty in the event of war.

The Gdynia American line (Polish) said the Batory would arrive in New York Monday with passengers from Gdynia, Copenhagen and Cherbourg, among them Mrs. Eddie Rickenbacker and the war ace's two sons, David, 14, and William, 12. Rickenbacker recently returned to the United States by clipper plane.

Won't Accept Freight. The liner announced it would accept no freight shipments to

Alliance Group To Release $31,507

Appropriation of Surplus Funds Made as Group
Headed by Dr. Newton Holds Last Meeting.

Meeting yesterday afternoon for the last time, after months of intensive activity in caring for the many details incident to the Sixth World Baptist Congress in Atlanta last July, the Atlanta committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Louie D. Newton, received the report of the auditor, P. L. Bardin, showing total receipts of $54,760.64, with expenditures to date amounting to $23,253.19.

The committee voted unanimously to distribute the undivided receipts, amounting to $31,507.45, to various Baptist causes in many parts of the world, following the established channels of the various Baptist organizations, from the Baptist World Alliance to the local Baptist conventions in Georgia.

Held in Trust. It was provided that a small balance be held in trust for payment of any expenses incident to finally concluding the work of the Atlanta committee, after which the residue should be paid to the Baptist World Alliance.

The recommendation of distributing the funds on hand was made by Dr. Newton with the concurrence of the finance committee, composed of Fred W. Patterson, B. L. Bugg and Wiley L. Moore. It was stated that the source of all income was the registration fees paid by those who attended the congress.

Appropriations Listed. The action of the committee includes the following appropriations:

General World Alliance	$5,000
General Missionary Baptist Convention of Georgia, Dr. D. D. Crawford, secretary	5,000
Georgia Baptist Orphan's Home	5,000
Georgia Baptist Hospital	2,000
Home Mission Board	2,000
Foreign Mission Board	2,000
National Baptist Convention of America	500
Northern Baptist Convention	500
American Baptist Theological Seminary	500
Southern Baptist Theological Seminary	500
Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary	500
Baptist Bible Institute	500
Merced University	500
Bessie Tift College	500
Shorter College	250
Relief and Annuity Board	250
Southern Baptist Hospital	250
Norman Junior College	250
Georgia Baptist Missionary and Educational Board	250
Georgia Baptist College for Women	250
Total	$30,500

CIO SAILORS' UNION DEMANDS WAR PAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The National Maritime Union (CIO) demanded today that American seamen on vessels entering "war zones" receive a 40 per cent wage increase, $250 a month "war risk compensation," and a $25,000 life and disability insurance policy.

Losing Job Saves Her Life, Bullet Zips Over Empty Desk

Her horoscope told Miss Mary H. Priddy that September 1 would be "exceptionally unfortunate" but yesterday her life was spared because she was not sitting at her desk in the forestry division of the Department of Agriculture. At precisely 1 o'clock a mysterious bullet sped through the open window on the ninth floor of the Glenn building and passed directly over the desk she has used for the past three years as secretary to Assistant Auditor H. P. Pinard.

Miss Priddy was not at her desk because the night before she received notice from the WPA that her services had been terminated. Perhaps that was what the stars meant.

But while Miss Priddy was pondering just what interpretation to put on the ominous warning of the stars, Pinard was quite uneasy. The Glenn building is at the corner of Marietta and Spring streets and stray bullets don't whizz about downtown Atlanta without a meaning.

With him at the time was a clerk, W. M. Haas, and they were startled as the .38-caliber revolver slug crossed the room, went through a doorway and buried itself in a filing cabinet. It missed both of them by inches. It missed Miss Priddy by a celestial infinity.

City detectives yesterday were searching for some clue, perhaps a tramp on the railroad tracks before. And Miss Priddy had gone back to her horoscope which also reads: "More recognition and public activities are indicated."

Stars Said 'Unlucky'! Jobless, She's Alive!

In the horoscope she is reading are the words: "September 1 should be exceptionally unfortunate." But Miss Mary H. Priddy, of 137 Elizabeth street, N. E., turned the tables. She was not at her accustomed desk in the forestry division, Department of Agriculture, yesterday afternoon when a mysterious bullet passed directly over the spot where she sat. She was not sitting there because the night before she was discharged.

The last echo of the great Baptist World Alliance meeting held here was sounded by this group yesterday afternoon. It's the finance committee winding up money matters. Left to right, Wiley L. Moore, Sam Shafer, executive secretary, and Colonel B. L. Bugg are smiling happily as Dr. Louie D. Newton, chairman, reads the financial report. It shows a profit of more than $30,000. The alliance brought thousands from many lands.

U. S. OPENS DRIVE ON GAMBLING RING

$210,000 Tax Evasion Is Charged to Alleged Chief.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The government opened a drive against the Chicago gambling ring today. William R. "Billy" Skidmore, who has been listed as one of the chiefs of the gaming syndicate by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, was indicted by a federal grand jury on income tax evasion charges. District Attorney William J. Campbell announced the investigation of the income of "certain persons" in Chicago's so-called "gambling world" would be continued.

Skidmore was accused of failing to pay $210,117 in taxes during 1933-1937.

Skidmore, once active in politics, served as sergeant-at-arms at Democratic national conventions in 1912 and 1916.

ONE WAY OUT LEFT AMERICANS IN POLAND

WARSAW, Sept. 1.—(AP)—All American citizens living in Poland were warned tonight by the Polish radio that if they wish to leave Poland they must proceed to Brzesk-Litewsk (Brest-Litovsk) in northeastern Poland, where help to reach the frontiers will be provided.

GOOD MORNING By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

ISAIAH.

Sunday's lesson, Isaiah 6th chapter, brings us in this series of studies on the leaders of Israel, to that towering personality, Isaiah. One prefers to pause for a while and admire the man, rather than undertaking any analysis of his greatness, even as we delight to look from a distance at some mighty mountain.

I think the most revealing word in Sunday's lesson is in that first verse, "In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord. . . ." Isaiah had the right attitude towards God. He understood himself in relation to God. Therefore, he could say, "Here am I, send me."

Isaiah was well born, a man of marked culture, of some wealth, and exceptional influence. He was already regarded as a great man before he made the great surrender to the will of God. His wife was an extraordinarily able woman, a prophetess. Someone has said of him, that "With broad themes and lofty style he stands at the summit of prophecy."

Eisen says of Isaiah: "He was a patient and painstaking teacher of religious truth, a bold and fearless preacher of righteousness, a sane and courageous reformer, a keen and far-seeing statesman, a large-hearted champion of the rights of the people, and a divinely enlightened seer penetrating the veil hiding the future and anticipating the glorious era when the kingdom of God, a kingdom of peace and righteousness, would be established upon earth."

His ministry covered the closing half of the eighth century. The book bearing his name comprises 66 chapters and is sometimes called the "Gospel of the Old Testament." I would say that no one can satisfactorily study Sunday's lesson without once again reading the entire prophecy of Isaiah. And when you finish reading it, you will feel that you have passed again through one of the great eras of history in company with one of history's mightiest men.

Isaiah's clear vision of God accentuated his uncompromising sense of sin—his own sin, and the sin of his fellowman. He was cleansed by the touch of God's purifying fire, and in the consciousness of this blessed experience, he sought earnestly to bring all men to a saving knowledge of the mercy of God. His unswerving loyalty to his convictions brought persecution and suffering unspeakable, resulting, according to Jewish tradition, to his tragic death at 90 years of age when he was seen asunder in a hollow carob tree.

COMMUNICATIONS RESTORED. AMSTERDAM, Saturday, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Communications between Amsterdam and Warsaw were restored at 3:40 a. m. after a two-hour interruption.

London Executes Its Zoo Snakes

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—Great Britain's first "war victims" were killed today. They were the venomous snakes and dangerous insects in the London zoo. Sacrificed to the threat of war, they were dispatched because of the menace they would have presented had the exigencies of conflict freed them.

Should war reach England, most nonvenomous snakes likewise would be destroyed.

A new method of killing insect pests in narcissus bulbs—without killing the bulbs—is a treatment by vapor heat.

JAPAN WORLD FLIERS TO GO AS FAR AS N. Y.

SEATTLE, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese good-will fliers expressed concern over outbreak of war in Europe as they prepared to resume their world flight tomorrow to Oakland, Cal. They said they hoped the fighting would cease before their schedule takes them to European capitals. The trip will continue to New York, at least, before a decision is made.

BRITISH PUT CENSOR ON FOREIGN MAILS

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—A censorship on postal correspondence abroad was officially announced tonight. However, correspondence to and from the British dominions and colonies generally is not affected by the order.

At the University of Georgia

College freshmen ring the old chapel bell all night after each football victory.

At Every University

TRADITION SAYS:

Wear Hats from Musie!

Cross Country by Dobbs

East or West—wherever you travel—you can look your smartest if you wear a Dobbs Cross Country. Here's lightness without limpness. Here's good looks plus comfort.

$5

Back to School via Musie

George Muse Clothing Co.

The Style Center of the South

Today's Specials

LUNCH

Fresh Vegetable Plate (Choice of 4) 20c

Stuffed Pork Cutlet
Sage dressing
Whipped potatoes
Vegetable, gravy 25c

SUPPER

Quarter Fried Spring
Chicken, country gravy
Julienne potatoes
Sliced tomato 25c
(All prices include Rail and Butter)

Thompson's RESTAURANTS
2 IN ATLANTA AIR COOLED

IT IS SO

How many things do you know that are not so? How many times do your friends make assertions about curious natural phenomena that you doubt, but can't put your finger on the right answer?

In the booklet prepared by our Service Bureau, "Scientific Facts," are listed 75 popular, puzzling questions that are frequently discussed and on which there is much disagreement.

Send the coupon below, with a dime enclosed, to cover return postage and handling costs, for your copy of this interesting and informative booklet.

CLIP COUPON HERE

F. M. Kerby, Director, B-142
Atlanta Constitution's Service Bureau,
1013 Thirteenth St., Washington, D. C.

Send my copy of the booklet, "Scientific Facts," to the address below. I enclose a dime to cover postage and other costs:

Name _____
Street & Number _____
City _____ State _____

I am a reader of The Atlanta Constitution.

MUSSOLINI DECLARES ITALY TO FOLLOW 'HANDS-OFF' POLICY

DECISION RELIEVES ITALIANS FEARING WAR AS IMMINENT

Press Hopes Britain and France Will Let Reich and Poland Fight Alone; Predict Russian Aid.

ROME, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Italian government declared today it would refrain from taking "any initiative" in military operations growing out of the German-Polish hostilities.

The announcement, issued after a brief cabinet meeting called by Premier Mussolini, was interpreted in foreign circles as meaning that Italy intended to stay out of war until her own territory was attacked.

The government announced that it considered that the precautionary measures of a military nature already taken were adequate.

Delivers F. D. R. Appeal.
Shortly before the cabinet met, United States Ambassador William Phillips delivered to the foreign office a message from President Roosevelt expressing the hope that warring nations would refrain from air bombardments on civilians.

While the reply was not made public here, it was believed that the cabinet felt its communique following the meeting—stating it was not taking military action at present—covered the ground sufficiently.

Announcement of the cabinet's decision relieved Italians, whose hope of avoiding conflict had dwindled with the outbreak of fighting between Germany and Poland. They had taken some comfort earlier from Chancellor Hitler's declaration that he did not intend calling on Italy for aid.

The official communique said the cabinet had examined the Polish situation, "the origin of which goes back to the Versailles treaty."

Italians' Calm Laundered.
The cabinet, said the statement, took cognizance of all documents presented by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano which showed "the work carried out by the Italian government to assure Europe of a peace based on justice."

The communique addressed "high praise to the Italian people for the example of discipline and calm of which it has given—as always—proof."

Reflecting the general Italian hope that Great Britain and France would let Germany and Poland fight alone, the authoritative Virginia Gayda wrote in the Giornale d'Italia:

"Italy has done all she could to avert this war. It is up to the other powers to circumvent it."

Get Wire From Hitler.
Among the documents the cabinet had before it in reaching its decision was a telegram from Hitler to Mussolini expressing confidence that Germany would not need the aid of the Italian army.

Although Mussolini has called for a general revision of the European set-up in which Italy, as well as Germany, would gain, his cabinet's decision indicated he would forego the chance to obtain forcefully the advantages which he seeks for Italy in Tunisia, Djibouti and the Suez canal.

Some diplomats thought the cabinet's statement lent itself to two interpretations.

First, that Italy was determined to remain neutral as long as the war involved only Germany and Poland, or Second, that Italy would stay out of war even if France or Britain entered the conflict, provided she herself was not attacked.

Cite Reich, Russia Allies.
Italians freely predicted that division of Poland between Germany and Russia could be an outcome of Polish resistance. Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, even spoke of Germany and Russia as allies in arms.

Recalling Poland's rise to independence as a result of war between Germany and Russia, the paper said:

"Now conditions are reversed. Germany and Russia are allies. Poland is in a vise."

The newspaper further warned that when Germany had crushed Poland she would throw her whole weight against the west "and then what will the French army do?"

Partition of Poland Predicted.
Il Regime Fascista, newspaper of the influential Fascist, Roberto Farinacci, made similar allusions to a possible partition of Poland, asserting that Russians were concentrating forces on the Polish frontier.

With Italy content to base her defense against a possible attack on nearly 2,000,000 men under arms or called to the colors, military authorities watched developments in London and Paris.

Crown Prince Humberto, who shares command of the army with Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, came to Rome by train from his Naples home to assume duties assigned him by Mussolini yesterday.

IRISH FREE STATE'S RESERVES CALLED UP
LONDON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Dublin tonight said it had been announced officially that in view of the international situation 25,000 in certain categories of the Eire army reserves had been called up for permanent service. Irish parliament was summoned to meet at 3 p. m. Saturday.

A Polish squadron in formation on the open sea is seen after it steamed out of the Polish port of Gdynia, presumably bound to join the powerful British fleet in the North sea.

Crowds on the quay welcome the German training ship Schleswig-Holstein when it arrived recently in Danzig.

Albert Forster, Danzig fuhrer, and the ship's commander, visit.

Georgia Ready for 'M-Day' With War Resources Listed

If and when M-Day which in army terms means Mobilization Day should arrive, Georgia will be far more prepared than she was in the last war.

M-Day will be the day when word comes that the United States will move either for defense or for participation in the conflict now taking form overseas.

Plans for M-Day do not mean the nation is anticipating some part in the present conflict, but does mean that the nation is prepared to a degree that it was not prepared when the World War broke out in 1917.

For years the War Department has had officers and men in Georgia studying every conceivable implement of war from shoes to guns. Tucked away deep in the recesses of the munitions buildings in Washington are scores of files on Georgia and Georgia industry.

The War Department not only knows what every industry in the state produces but it also knows what those industries are capable of producing. It knows whether an industry not now making war materials can be changed over hurriedly to a war industry plant, and it has catalogued every piece of machinery and all important employees of those plants.

The government several years ago made a deep survey of the talc rock sections of north Georgia, knows how much talc is available and what it could be used for in time of war.

Likewise the War Department knows, for instance, every item of machinery in every shoe plant in Georgia. The army knows how many shoes and how many types of shoes can be expected from the shoe factories, and it also knows how much harness can be expected from the tanneries in the event the necessity for taking over these plants should arise.

Every cotton mill, every railroad, every farm is catalogued. And each file contains a record of the background of mill and shop foremen, their ancestry and their views on international problems.

The kaolin mines in middle Georgia also have been catalogued by the government.

Through its various other agencies the federal government now knows more about Georgia and its resources than was dreamed of during the last war. Every spending agency has been gathering data for years and filing it away for the time when it could become useful.

For instance, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been lending money on hotels and similar property since its inception. The government is aware of which of those hotels, if any, could be turned into hospitals if needed.

It has been lending money on railroads. It knows practically every crosstie of those railroads, the factories they serve, the condition of their equipment and everything else about them.

And what is more, a state draft or selective service board already is set up.

It caused little or no ripple several years ago when the permanent selective service board was set up under the direction of the adjutant general of the state and no publicity was given to the fact that the board of five officers, members of what is known as the Georgia state staff of the national guard of the United States, went off to an army school and learned how they are to swing into action when and if America enters another war.

But the machinery is all set up this time and neither time nor money will be wasted, not to mention manpower, if the dreaded hour comes.

Area Center Here.
The key to the southeastern military matters is the Fourth Corps area, with headquarters in Atlanta, under Lieutenant General Stanley D. Embick.

The states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, which make up the Fourth Corps area, cover almost 464,000 square miles, rich in iron and coal, and able to grow any crop that may be needed. Louisiana and Florida are the only two states that produce cane sugar in commercial quantities.

The corps area has approximately 18,000 reserve army officers, 14,641 of them active. The figure averages 5,000 more than any other corps area in the country.

Recruits More Volunteers.
A statement issued by General Embick, who, in addition to corps area commander, is also third army commander since the area was subdivided for reserve training purposes, called it "the most important corps area in the nation for reserve activities."

The usual ratio of officers to men is 1 to 50. Therefore, the eight southern states are in a position to officer an army of 900,000.

The area, with a population of slightly more than 20,000,000 persons, has furnished more men to the regular army reserve since the call was issued for "modern minute men" than any other corps area. It was 4,610 at the end of July.

Under corps area headquarters in Atlanta are eight army posts with an enrollment of 7,997 enlisted men and 626 officers. Three other posts located in the area, Fort Benning, Barksdale and Maxwell Field, are directed from Washington, and have an additional 8,500 men and 335 officers.

Posts under corps area headquarters supervision are Fort McPherson, Screven, Oglethorpe, Ga.; Fort McClellan, Ala.; Fort Moultrie, S. C.; Fort Barrancas, Fla.; Fort Bragg, N. C., and Chapman Field, Fla.

National guard enrollment in the area is approximately 20,000 men and 1,600 warrant officers.

POLISH PRESIDENT APPEALS TO PEOPLE

Calls on Citizens to Unite With Army in Struggle Against Reich.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Polish embassy made public today the text of an appeal from President Ignace Moscicki calling on the citizens of Poland to unite with the army in the struggle against Germany.

"During this night," the appeal said, "Germany has committed acts of aggression against the Polish state."

"In this historic moment, I appeal to all the citizens of the state deeply convinced that in the defense of its freedom, independence and honor the entire nation will gather around the commander-in-chief and the army will give a fitting reply to the invader."

"As it so often happened in our history the entire nation blessed by the Almighty will unite with the army in the struggle for its sacred rights and will march shoulder to shoulder to battle and complete victory."

'FALSE REPORTS' TO BRING DEATH
Stern Decree Is Issued by Berlin.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A decree fixing the death penalty for spreading "false reports" broadcast to Germany by foreign radio stations, was issued tonight.

Listening to any foreign station is forbidden, but the death penalty is reserved for "aggravated cases" of disseminating statements by foreign stations.

The decree was issued after a Warsaw station, in an English language broadcast reported that Warsaw had been bombed by German fliers, and that the city was burning.

Berlin authorities said only military objectives had been bombed.

U. S. GUARDS AIRPORT AGAINST SABOTAGE

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 1.—(AP)—United States army air corps officers today announced precautionary measures to protect government equipment from sabotage at Tuscaloosa airport. No visitors are allowed on airport property except those bearing personal passes issued by the commanding officer of the air corps station.

Twenty-three army planes are housed here during preliminary flying instruction for 65 college students selected under President Roosevelt's plan to train civilian and reserve pilots.

BULGARIANS HOLD STRICT NEUTRALITY

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A government spokesman announced tonight that Bulgaria was more than ever determined to maintain strict neutrality since the outbreak of German-Polish hostilities.

His majesty's government feels confident that they can obtain such an undertaking from the Polish government if the German government would give similar assurances.

That telegram which was repeated to Poland, brought an instantaneous reply from the Polish government dated August 31 in which they say that the Polish government are also prepared, on a reciprocal basis, to give a formal guarantee in the event of negotiations taking place, that Polish troops will not violate the frontier of the German Reich provided that a corresponding guarantee is given that there would be no violation of Poland by troops of the German Reich.

No Reply Received.
We never had any reply from the government to that suggestion. It was one which, if it had been followed, must have saved the catastrophe which took place this morning. In the German broadcast last night which recited the 16 points of the proposals which they had put forward, there occurred this sentence "In these circumstances, the Reich government considered its proposals rejected."

I must tell the house what are the circumstances.

To begin with, let me say that these proposals have never been communicated by Germany to Poland at all. On Tuesday, August 29, in replying to a note which we had sent to them, the German government said that they would immediately draw up proposals for a solution, acceptable to themselves, and will, if possible, place them at the disposal of the British government before the arrival of the Polish negotiators.

It will be seen by an examination of the white papers that the German government has stated that they counted on the arrival of a plenipotentiary from Poland in Berlin on the 30th, the following day. In the meantime, of course, we were awaiting these proposals, but the next thing was that when our ambassador saw Herr Von Ribbentrop, the German foreign secretary, he urged upon him that when these proposals were ready—for we had heard more about them—he should invite the Polish ambassador to call and should hand him the proposals for transmission to his government.

Asked for Copy.
Thereupon, reports our ambassador, in the most violent terms, Herr von Ribbentrop said the would never ask the ambassador to visit him, if he added, the Polish ambassador asked him for an interview it might be different.

The house will see this was on Wednesday night, which, according to the German statement of last night, is now claimed to be the final date after which no negotiation with Poland would be possible.

It is plain, therefore, that Germany claims that Poland was in the wrong because she had not on Wednesday entered into negotiation with Germany on proposals to which she had never heard. Now, what of ourselves. On that Wednesday night, at the interview

Text of Chamberlain's Address to Commons

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The text of Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement tonight in the house of commons follows:

I do not propose to say many words tonight. The time has come when action rather than speech is required. Eighteen months ago I prayed that the responsibility would not fall upon me to ask this country to accept the awful arbitrament of war. I fear that I may not be able to avoid that responsibility, but at any rate I could not wish that conditions in which such a burden should fall upon me were clearer than they are today.

No man could say that the government could have done more to try and keep open the way for an honorable and equitable settlement for the dispute between Germany and Poland nor have we neglected any means of making crystal clear to the German government that if they insisted on using force again in the manner in which they have used it in the past, we were resolved to oppose them by force.

Now that all the relevant documents are being made public we shall stand at the bar of history knowing that the responsibility for this terrible catastrophe lies on the shoulder of one man. The German chancellor has not hesitated to plunge the world into misery in order to serve his own senseless ambitions.

Thanks Members.
I would like to thank the house for the forbearance they have shown me on two recent occasions, in not demanding from me information which they recognize I could not give while these negotiations were still in progress.

All the correspondence with the German government is being published in the form of a white paper which will be available to members, coming in relays while the house is sitting.

I do not think it necessary for me to refer in detail now to these documents, which are already past history. They make it perfectly clear that our object has been to try to bring about discussions about the Polish-German dispute between the two countries themselves, on terms of equality.

The settlement to be one which safeguarded the independence of Poland and which secured its due observance by international guarantees. There is just one passage from a recent communication of ours, dated August 30, which I should like to quote, for it shows how easily the final clash might have been avoided if there had been the least desire on the part of the German government to arrive at a peaceful settlement.

Speed Recognized.
In this document we state this: "This government fully recognizes the need for speed in the initiation of discussions. They share the apprehensions of the chancellor arising from the proximity of two mobilized armies standing face to face. They accordingly most strongly urge that both governments should undertake that during the negotiations no aggressive military movement will take place. His majesty's government feels confident that they can obtain such an undertaking from the Polish government if the German government would give similar assurances."

That telegram which was repeated to Poland, brought an instantaneous reply from the Polish government dated August 31 in which they say that the Polish government are also prepared, on a reciprocal basis, to give a formal guarantee in the event of negotiations taking place, that Polish troops will not violate the frontier of the German Reich provided that a corresponding guarantee is given that there would be no violation of Poland by troops of the German Reich.

No Reply Received.
We never had any reply from the government to that suggestion. It was one which, if it had been followed, must have saved the catastrophe which took place this morning. In the German broadcast last night which recited the 16 points of the proposals which they had put forward, there occurred this sentence "In these circumstances, the Reich government considered its proposals rejected."

I must tell the house what are the circumstances.

To begin with, let me say that these proposals have never been communicated by Germany to Poland at all. On Tuesday, August 29, in replying to a note which we had sent to them, the German government said that they would immediately draw up proposals for a solution, acceptable to themselves, and will, if possible, place them at the disposal of the British government before the arrival of the Polish negotiators.

It will be seen by an examination of the white papers that the German government has stated that they counted on the arrival of a plenipotentiary from Poland in Berlin on the 30th, the following day. In the meantime, of course, we were awaiting these proposals, but the next thing was that when our ambassador saw Herr Von Ribbentrop, the German foreign secretary, he urged upon him that when these proposals were ready—for we had heard more about them—he should invite the Polish ambassador to call and should hand him the proposals for transmission to his government.

Asked for Copy.
Thereupon, reports our ambassador, in the most violent terms, Herr von Ribbentrop said the would never ask the ambassador to visit him, if he added, the Polish ambassador asked him for an interview it might be different.

The house will see this was on Wednesday night, which, according to the German statement of last night, is now claimed to be the final date after which no negotiation with Poland would be possible.

It is plain, therefore, that Germany claims that Poland was in the wrong because she had not on Wednesday entered into negotiation with Germany on proposals to which she had never heard. Now, what of ourselves. On that Wednesday night, at the interview which I have just referred Herr von Ribbentrop produced a lengthy document which he read aloud in German at a rapid speed. Naturally, on this meeting, our ambassador asked him for a copy of the document.

He replied that it was now too late as the Polish representative had not arrived in Berlin at midnight and so we never got a copy of those proposals. The first time we heard them was on the broadcast last night. These were the circumstances in which the German government said they considered their proposals were rejected. It is now clear that their conception of negotiation was that on an almost instantaneous demand the Polish plenipotentiary should go to Berlin, where others have been before him and should then be confronted with a statement of the demands to be accepted in their entirety or refused.

Proper Course.
I am not pronouncing an opinion on the terms themselves for I do not feel called upon to do so. The proper course in my view was that these proposals should have been put before the Poles, who should have been given time to consider them and to say whether, in their opinion, they did or did not infringe those vital interests of Poland which Germany had assured us on a previous occasion she intended to respect.

Only last night the Polish ambassador did see the German foreign secretary, Herr von Ribbentrop. Once again he expressed to him what indeed the Polish government had already said publicly, that they were willing to negotiate with Germany about their disputes on an equal basis.

German Troops March.
What was the reply of the German government?

The reply was that without any other word German troops crossed the Polish frontier this morning at dawn and are since reported to be bombing open towns. In these circumstances, there is only one course open to us.

His majesty's ambassador in Berlin, and the French ambassador, have been instructed to hand to the German government the following document:

"Early this morning the German chancellor issued a proclamation to the German army which indicated clearly that he was about to attack Poland. Information which has reached his majesty's government in the United Kingdom and the French government indicates that German troops have crossed the Polish frontier and attacks on Polish towns are proceeding."

"In these circumstances it appears to the government of the United Kingdom and France that by their action the German government have created conditions, namely an aggressive act of force against Poland, threatening the independence of Poland, which call for the immediate implementation by the government of the United Kingdom and France of the undertaking to Poland to come to her assistance."

Gives Ultimatum.
I am accordingly to inform your hon. members that the German government are prepared to give his majesty's government an assurance that the German government have suspended all aggressive action against Poland and are prepared promptly to withdraw their forces from Polish territory. His majesty's government in the United Kingdom will, without hesitation fulfill their obligations to Poland."

If the reply to this last warning is unfavorable, and I do not suggest it is likely to be otherwise, his majesty's government is instructed to ask for his passport. In that case we are ready.

Yesterday we took further steps toward the completion of our defense preparations.

This morning we ordered complete mobilization of the whole of the navy, army and air force. We have also taken a number of measures both at home and abroad which the house perhaps would not expect me to specify in detail.

Briefly, they represent the final steps in accordance with a prearranged plan. These last will be put into force rapidly and are of such a nature that they are deferred until war seems inevitable.

Steps have also been taken under powers conferred by the house last week to safeguard the position in regard to stocks and commodities of various kinds. The thoughts of many of us must inevitably at this moment be turning back to 1914.

In comparison with our position

REPORT NAZIS SEEK RED-JAPANESE PACT

Germany Believed Making Fervish Diplomatic Efforts To Arrange Agreement.

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Germany was reported unofficially tonight to be making fervish diplomatic efforts to arrange a non-aggression pact between Soviet Russia and Japan—which are engaged in a unofficial war on the Manchoukuo—Outer Mongolia frontier.

Immense difficulties obviously lie in the way of such an agreement, but German diplomats were said nevertheless to be trying desperately to engineer such a pact.

On another diplomatic front, informed sources said they were skeptical of rumors from abroad that Russia and Germany would enter a military alliance as sequel to their own nonaggression pact.

The suggestion of a nonaggression pact between Japan and Russia seemed a bit distant in view of a Tass (Soviet telegraphic agency) report today Russian forces had "liquidated" masses of Japanese troops fighting on the eastern border.

The Tass communique asserted Soviet and Outer Mongolian troops had annihilated Japanese and Manchoukuoan army commands, compelling the remainder of those forces to "adopt defensive operations."

The report said that between August 8 and 27 the Japanese had lost 164 planes, compared with 16 lost by the Soviet-Mongolian forces.

The formation of the new moderate Japanese cabinet also, it was suggested, would present complications for German diplomats seeking nonaggression ties between Russia and Japan.

then how do we stand at this time? The answer is that all three services are ready and that the situation in all directions is far more favorable and reassuring than in 1914.

For behind the fighting services we have built up a vast organization of civil defense under the scheme of air raid precautions.

As regards immediate manpower requirements, the navy, the army and the Royal Air force are now in the fortunate position of having almost as many men as they can conveniently handle at this moment.

There are, however, certain categories of service in which men are required immediately, both for military and civil defenses. These will be announced in detail through the press and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

It is most satisfactory to observe that there is today no need to appeal in a general way for recruits, such as was issued by Lord Kitchener 25 years ago. That appeal has been anticipated by many months and men are already available.

So much for the immediate present.

Must Look to Future.
Now we must look for the future. It is essential in face of the tremendous task which confronts us, more especially in view of our past experience in this matter to organize our manpower this time upon a methodical equitable and economical basis as possible. We therefore propose immediately to introduce a conscription directed to that end and a bill will be laid before you which, for all practical purposes will amount to an expansion of the military training act.

Under its operation all fit men between 18 and 41 will be rendered liable to military service if and when called upon. It is not intended at the outset that any considerable number of men other than those already liable, will be called up, and steps will be taken to insure that men essentially required by industry will not be taken away.

One other allusion before the close of my speech, and that is record my satisfaction and the satisfaction of his majesty's government throughout these days of crisis to Signor Mussolini, who has been doing his best to reach a peaceful solution. It only remains to set our teeth and enter upon this struggle, which we so earnestly endeavored to avoid, with a determination to see it through to the end.

We shall enter it with a clear conscience and with the support of the dominions and the British empire and the moral approval of the greater part of the world. We have no quarrel with the German people except that they allowed themselves to be governed by a Nazi government. As long as that government pursues the method which it has so persistently followed during the last two years there will be no peace in Europe.

We should merely pass from one crisis to another and see one country attacked by another by methods which have now become familiar to us with their sickening technique. We are resolved that these methods must come to an end and if, after the struggle we can re-establish in the world the rules of good faith and the renunciation of force, then even the sacrifices entailed upon us will find their fullest justification.

WARNS U. S. FARMERS ON WAR EXPANSION
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace urged American farmers tonight not to "over-expand" the nation's agricultural production in the hope of higher prices and enlarged markets which might result from the European conflict.

In an appeal broadcast nationally after a White House conference, the secretary told farmers that because of present "large" domestic supplies of most farm commodities, there was no need for an immediate expansion in production.

Wawel Hill, which commands a view of the Carpathians, 30 miles to the south. The mound erected to the memory of General Kosciuszko, hero in the American Revolutionary War, shown on the hill at the right.

Suburb of Beautiful Cracow, Poland, Was Target of German Air Raiders

A suburb of Cracow, Poland, is seen across the sweeps of the winding Vistula river. Cracow was bombed by German warplanes early yesterday morning, as was Warsaw, Poland's capital. This photograph was taken from the towers on the Wawel Hill, which commands a view of the Carpathians, 30 miles to the south. The mound erected to the memory of General Kosciuszko, hero in the American Revolutionary War, shown on the hill at the right.

ROOSEVELT PROMISES EVERY EFFORT 'TO KEEP US OUT'

PRESIDENT SAYS
DATE FOR CALLING
CONGRESS NOT SETChief Executive Shows Strain; Government Has Proclamations To Assure Our Neutrality.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Tired, and showing it, after a night spent wrestling with the tragic realities of actual war, President Roosevelt today pledged his administration to a supreme effort to keep America out of the European conflict.

"Mr. President," came a question from among 200 or so reporters, many of them as weary and grim as was the chief executive, "perhaps the foremost thing in the minds of most Americans today is: 'Can we stay out of it?' Is there anything you could say about that?"

Mr. Roosevelt thought for a moment, passed a hand across his eyes and replied:

"Only this: I not only sincerely hope so, but I believe we can, and that every effort will be made by the administration to do so."

For the present, he continued, a call for congress to convene for revision of the neutrality act, and the application of that law to the European encounter, must await further developments abroad.

However, he made plain that congress definitely would be called. It was a question of when the summons would go out, not whether it would be sounded.

Expressing belief that Great Britain and France would declare war on Germany tomorrow, high officials said that they had finished drafting a series of proclamations designed to preserve United States neutrality.

It was made known the government would begin to issue these proclamations over the week end if the war declarations are forthcoming.

Up at 3 A. M. The press conference, although it came at midnight, was far from alone in the President's day. Before 3, he was up and receiving word from Ambassador Bullitt at Paris that Hitler's forces had rolled across the Polish frontier.

Too late for a continuation of his peace appeals, he swung to an effort to divert the attention of the new warfare from the skies. Before dawn, he addressed messages to Germany, Italy, France, Great Britain and Poland, asking at each ex change a public pledge to refrain from bombing civilian populations and unfortified cities.

Britain, France Agree. By noon he had received the approving responses from Great Britain and France. Italy thought its statement that it contemplated no military operations for the present was sufficient.

Germany and Adolf Hitler there came, for the time being at least, no answer. The British and French pledges were given on condition that their adversary also observe the same limitations on aerial warfare.

Hitler's answer to the Roosevelt peace appeals was handed to Secretary Hull today. In it, the German chancellor said that he had "left nothing untold" in seeking a friendly settlement of the dispute with Poland.

The President received Hugh R. Wilson, ambassador to Germany, and accepted his resignation. The diplomat, it was announced, will assume special duties at the State Department. Masking any significance the move might have, both the President and Secretary Wilson declined to discuss the reasons behind it.

Watch Exchanges. In other quarters in Washington, officials were anxiously watching the trend of the securities, commodities and financial markets. Stock quotations plummeted at first, but later many issues made a spectacular recovery.

Commodity prices soared. But movements were so orderly that markets remained open. The Federal Reserve bank officials announced that measures would be taken to protect the market for government bonds.

No Joking Now. It was a grim group of reporters which filed into Mr. Roosevelt's green-walled circular office when press conference time came. The skylarking and jollity which usually accompany the semi-weekly meetings was missing. The President's mood met their own. He sat, coolly, at his broad, neatly arranged desk. A very few hours' sleep and a very few hours' shaven had freshened him, but there were tell-tale lines at his eyes, and as the reporters entered, he warmly pressed his fingers to his temples.

The President began the interview without waiting for questions, and the tone of his voice, more than anything else, expressed both his weariness and the gravity of the moment. It was a flat, dull voice, speaking softly and slowly, in which there was none of the vibrancy which millions of radio listeners have come to associate with the President's words.

Cautious Press. He said he thought that all had had a sleepless night. He spoke his praise for the work of the diplomatic service in keeping Washington informed of events. He described how Ambassador Biddle at Warsaw had, with a faulty connection, reached Ambassador Bullitt at Paris with news of what he termed the invasion.

He added a word of caution to the press, asking that it exert every effort to verify the news it printed. It could check its information with the State Department.

Even purer than required by the U. S. Pharmacopoeia, St. Joseph GENUINE PURE ASPIRIN

Fearing possible air raids due to the war in Europe, the British government ordered the evacuation of children, aged and other infirm persons. Here are shown children of the John Rennie school, Blackfriars, London, with their evacuation luggage.

As the European crisis flared into actual fighting along the Polish-German border, children in Paris are shown evacuating the city in a step to cut civilian losses. The picture was transmitted from London to New York via radio.

As the European crisis flared into actual fighting along the Polish-German border, children in Paris are shown evacuating the city in a step to cut civilian losses. The picture was transmitted from London to New York via radio.

As the European crisis flared into actual fighting along the Polish-German border, children in Paris are shown evacuating the city in a step to cut civilian losses. The picture was transmitted from London to New York via radio.

War Bulletins

Continued From First Page.

formation easily by calling the State Department, he said. Absolute care by the newspapers, he said, was the best thing that could be done for the nation, and for civilization.

Phelps Adams, correspondent for the New York Sun, asked the question about keeping America out of the war, and when Mr. Roosevelt had replied, another reporter asked whether, in violation of usual procedure, the President could be quoted directly. Mr. Roosevelt gave his assent and Henry Kanner, the President's stenographer, repeated the reply from his shorthand notes.

On Extra Session. There was just one laugh. That came when a reporter asked when congress would be called into special session. The laugh was because Mr. Roosevelt had been badgered with that same question at every recent press conference.

Laughing too, Mr. Roosevelt made it plain that the call would go out, but just when, he could not say. It might be any time, he said, between September 1 and January 2, the regular meeting date of congress.

Too late for a continuation of his peace appeals, he swung to an effort to divert the attention of the new warfare from the skies. Before dawn, he addressed messages to Germany, Italy, France, Great Britain and Poland, asking at each ex change a public pledge to refrain from bombing civilian populations and unfortified cities.

Britain, France Agree. By noon he had received the approving responses from Great Britain and France. Italy thought its statement that it contemplated no military operations for the present was sufficient.

Germany and Adolf Hitler there came, for the time being at least, no answer. The British and French pledges were given on condition that their adversary also observe the same limitations on aerial warfare.

Hitler's answer to the Roosevelt peace appeals was handed to Secretary Hull today. In it, the German chancellor said that he had "left nothing untold" in seeking a friendly settlement of the dispute with Poland.

The President received Hugh R. Wilson, ambassador to Germany, and accepted his resignation. The diplomat, it was announced, will assume special duties at the State Department. Masking any significance the move might have, both the President and Secretary Wilson declined to discuss the reasons behind it.

Watch Exchanges. In other quarters in Washington, officials were anxiously watching the trend of the securities, commodities and financial markets. Stock quotations plummeted at first, but later many issues made a spectacular recovery.

Commodity prices soared. But movements were so orderly that markets remained open. The Federal Reserve bank officials announced that measures would be taken to protect the market for government bonds.

No Joking Now. It was a grim group of reporters which filed into Mr. Roosevelt's green-walled circular office when press conference time came. The skylarking and jollity which usually accompany the semi-weekly meetings was missing. The President's mood met their own. He sat, coolly, at his broad, neatly arranged desk. A very few hours' sleep and a very few hours' shaven had freshened him, but there were tell-tale lines at his eyes, and as the reporters entered, he warmly pressed his fingers to his temples.

The President began the interview without waiting for questions, and the tone of his voice, more than anything else, expressed both his weariness and the gravity of the moment. It was a flat, dull voice, speaking softly and slowly, in which there was none of the vibrancy which millions of radio listeners have come to associate with the President's words.

Cautious Press. He said he thought that all had had a sleepless night. He spoke his praise for the work of the diplomatic service in keeping Washington informed of events. He described how Ambassador Biddle at Warsaw had, with a faulty connection, reached Ambassador Bullitt at Paris with news of what he termed the invasion.

He added a word of caution to the press, asking that it exert every effort to verify the news it printed. It could check its information with the State Department.

Even purer than required by the U. S. Pharmacopoeia, St. Joseph GENUINE PURE ASPIRIN

ing normally with no external restraint. It is giving an excellent exhibition of itself under trying conditions. All our man power is available and our members and our organization generally are meeting the stress most commendably."

Panama Canal Guarded

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The United States army moved today to protect the Panama canal against possible repercussions of war.

Steamship agents notified ships carrying explosives that such cargo must be unloaded for transportation by rail.

Fifty infantrymen formed a guard at the Mount Hope filtration plant.

Roosevelt Pleds "Spare Civilians"

ROME, Sept. 1.—(AP)—William Phillips, United States ambassador, called at the foreign office today 20 minutes before the cabinet met and delivered President Roosevelt's appeal against bombing of non-combatants.

He requested an immediate reply to the President's plea.

Hitler Tells Duce He Doesn't Need Help

ROME, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini received a telegram from Adolf Hitler tonight thanking him for Italy's diplomatic support of Germany and expressing confidence that he would not need Italian military aid.

The text of Hitler's telegram to Mussolini was:

"I thank you most cordially for the diplomatic and political aid you recently extended Germany and its just rights. I am convinced of being able to accomplish the task assigned us with Germany's military forces.

"I believe, therefore, I will not need Italian military aid in these circumstances. Thank you, Duce, also for all you may do in the future for the common cause of Fascism and National Socialism."

Danzig "Military Operations Area"

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The commander of the German army, Colonel General Walther von Brauchitsch, tonight declared the former Free City of Danzig to be a region of military operations.

The East Prussian army was moving in to occupy the region and posters throughout the city informed citizens that Hitler had "taken them under his protection."

Danzig's new administration, under Nazi District Leader Albert Forster, took possession of the areas and railways formerly operated by Poland, and wharves in the harbor, railway and dock properties.

London Freezes Food Prices

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The provision exchange announced that by order of the food defense committee, prices of all food commodities would be fixed at standstill prices until further notice.

Government Takes Over British Rails

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—The ministry of transport today took over British railroads.

"Die Is Cast" Rings in Commons

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—After Prime Minister Chamberlain finished his "we are ready" address to the house of commons tonight, Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the Labor party in parliament, declared:

"This is the turning point in history. The die is cast."

Nazis Capture Munitions Depot

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A brief communique tonight announced the bombardment and capture of Westerplatte, Polish munitions depot off Danzig harbor, by the German cruiser Schleswig-Holstein.

The presence of the Polish military guard in the heart of the Baltic city long had been offensive to Nazis and the Schleswig-Holstein has been in Danzig harbor on a formal visit.

The Nazi communique said that after a short but sharp bombardment of the Polish guards Westerplatte was captured.

"Million-to-One" War Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—A high administration official whose veracity is unimpeachable said tonight that the chances are a million to one that Great Britain and France will declare war against Germany tomorrow.

He said that on the basis of confidential reports from London and Paris, there is every indication that parliaments of the two democracies will make the declaration almost simultaneously.

The British parliament is scheduled to meet at 8:15 a. m. (Atlanta time) and the French 15 minutes later.

The United Press informant said "optimistically" the chances of peace now appeared to be not more than one in a million.

See Eden in "War Cabinet"

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—The British Press Association said it had learned authoritatively tonight that full plans were ready for the setting up of a war cabinet which might include such opposition leaders as Arthur Greenwood, of the Labor party, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, of the Liberals, and possibly Winston Churchill, World War first lord of the admiralty, and Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary.

Henderson Conveys Message

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—It was learned authoritatively tonight that British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson had called on German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop in Berlin and handed him a communication on Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech to parliament today.

Foreign office sources said von Ribbentrop told Henderson that he must refer the communication to Adolf Hitler.

Polish Parliament Meets

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Warsaw said tonight that President Ignacy Moscicki had opened a special parliament meeting to consider the German invasion.

Poles Shell Beuthen, Germany

BERLIN, Saturday, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Official German dispatches from Beuthen, in German Upper Silesia, reported early today that two German civilians were killed and 35 wounded when Polish light artillery shelled the city at five-minute intervals.

Beuthen, with a population of 32,000 and in an important mining region, is on the border only a few miles north of Katowice, Poland.

3,000,000 Britons Leave Cities

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(UP)—The innocent and helpless retreated from schools, homes and hospitals today in one of the greatest mass movements in history. Led by children with gas masks slung over lunch baskets, 3,000,000 persons began scattering to the countryside from cities where bombing planes may bring terror and death. Many London hospitals completed removal of patients whose condition would permit them to leave.

U. S. Evacuation "a Success"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The State Department said today the United States government's program of evacuating Americans from Europe was progressing with great success.

The department said passenger accommodations on vessels sailing to the United States from Great Britain exceed the demand for such accommodations. Some 9,300 passengers arrived in United States Atlantic ports from Europe for the week ending September 1. In addition to these, 1,200 passengers arrived at Canadian ports.

White House Gets War Map

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A war map was installed in the White House today for keeping track of progress of the German-Polish hostilities.

Brigadier General E. M. Watson, presidential secretary and military aide, said two army and navy officers would keep it up to date, but that nothing had been marked on it yet because only unconfirmed reports of military action had been received.

Americans Off German Ship

HAVANA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The North German Lloyd liner Columbus entered Havana harbor tonight to disembark 775 American tourists who had been making a West Indies cruise.

Immigration authorities said they thought the liner probably would leave for Germany tomorrow morning.

The disembarked passengers will sail for home tomorrow on the P. & O. liner Florida, chartered for the trip by the North German Lloyd.

Poles in U. S. to Raise Cash

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A central committee to clear all local activities in behalf of the Polish cause was set up tonight at a meeting of approximately 1,800 Polish-Americans representing 300 Polish organizations having about 500,000 members.

Delegates shouted approval of a plan whereby each family would save $1 upwards on Sunday meals for the duration of hostilities, the money to go to Poland particularly for the purchase of ambulances.

Berlin Press Blames British

BERLIN, Sept. 2 (Saturday)—(UP)—Morning newspapers today blamed Great Britain for the grave turn of European events and reiterated Germany's determination to crush Poland.

Headlines emphasized German victories in the undeclared war with the Poles asserting that "our troops Friday reached all objectives set for the day," "our supremacy in the air has been established."

Nazis in New Air Attacks

LONDON, Sept. 2 (Saturday)—(UP)—The Polish radio today announced further German air raids on the towns of Trzebinian, Tarnow, Jaslo, Kuto, Minsk and Otkow.

In Warsaw anti-air raid precautions were continuing. The city was blacked out all night.

Warsaw Guns Repulse Planes

LONDON, Sept. 2 (Saturday)—(UP)—A Polish spokesman said today that a new attempt to raid Warsaw failed when German planes were driven off by Polish anti-aircraft batteries and fighting planes. It was believed several German planes were shot down.

German people except that they allow themselves to be governed by the Nazi government.

"As long as that government exists and pursues the method which it has so persistently followed in the last two years there can be no peace in Europe."

Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax made substantially the same speech in the house of lords.

It was regarded as significant, in view of Italy's failure to enter the undeclared war on the side of Germany, that Chamberlain paid tribute to Premier Mussolini for his peace efforts.

"There is just one more observation I would like to make," he said.

"That is to record my satisfaction and that of his majesty's government that throughout these last days of crisis Mussolini had been doing his best."

Chamberlain issued Britain's final warning to Hitler in these words:

"Only one course is open to us. His majesty's ambassador in Berlin and the French ambassador have been instructed to hand the German government a communication."

"This says: 'Early this (Friday) morning the German chancellor issued a proclamation to the German army which indicated he was about to attack Poland. Information reaching the British and French governments indicated German troops had crossed the Polish frontier and attacks on Polish towns were proceeding.'

"In these circumstances, it appears to the governments of the United Kingdom and France that by their action the German government have created conditions, namely, an aggressive act of force against Poland, threatening the independence of Poland, which called for the implementation of the governments of the United Kingdom and France of the undertaking to Poland to come to her assistance."

"I am accordingly to inform your excellency that, unless the German government are prepared to give his majesty's government assurances that the German government have suspended aggressive acts against Poland and are prepared promptly to withdraw their forces from Polish territory, his majesty's government in the United Kingdom will without hesi-tion fulfill their obligations to Poland.

"If the reply to this last warning is unfavorable—and I do not suggest it is likely to be otherwise—his majesty's ambassador is instructed to ask for his passports. 'In that case, we are ready.'

Secret diplomatic exchanges between Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain were published in a white paper last night.

It disclosed an agreement on one ominous point—that if war should come it would be long and bloodier than the first World War.

Chamberlain warned August 22 that "no greater mistake could be made" than the assumption that the Russo-German pact would prevent the British from aiding Poland if attacked.

"It would be a dangerous illusion to think that, if war once starts, it will come to an early end even if success on any one of several fronts on which it would be engaged should have been secured," he said.

"An incalculable war between Germany and England," Hitler said August 23, "would be bloodier than that of 1914-1918" and that war "could at best bring some profit to Germany but none at all to England."

KEEP OUT OF WAR,
HOOVER URGES U. S.

Ex-President Advocates Support of F. D. R. in Trying To Stay Neutral.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—(AP)—If a general European conflict develops it will be a long war, and Americans should support President Roosevelt in trying to keep us out of it, former President Herbert Hoover said tonight.

In an address over a national radio hookup the former chief executive who has seen something of war and famine and pestilence in its wake, said:

"This is one of the saddest days that has come to humanity in 100 years. A senseless war seems inevitably forced upon hundreds of millions of people. It means the killing of millions of the best and most courageous of men who might contribute to human progress. It means the killing and starvation of millions of women and children. It means another quarter of a century of impoverishment to the whole world."

"It will likely be a long war. 'Whatever our sympathies are we cannot solve the problems of Europe. America must keep out of this war. The President and congress should be supported in their every effort to keep us out. We can keep out if we have the resolute national will to do so. We can be of more service to Europe and humanity if we preserve the vitality and strength of the United States for use in the period of peace which must somehow come. And we must keep out if we are to preserve for civilization the foundations of democracy and free men."

stag speech, spoke of Soviet Russia with a warmth which six months ago would have been thought impossible.

Hitler was expected to leave the capital shortly, although officials said the question as to his whereabouts might well be immediately struck off newsmen's daily bill of fare.

"We only hope he won't venture too far forward," one official said. "It would be just like him."

Hope for No Big War. There are still hopes in some official quarters that Germany's expedition into Poland might not lead to a general war. It was pointed out that there were still contacts with London and between the German embassy and the British foreign office.

Premier Mussolini was still at work trying to prevent a major conflict.

Less optimistic realists were planning measures looking considerably ahead. From Saturday on, for example, the censorship will likely be in operation as is customary everywhere in wartime.

Germany, looking to the possibility of a long conflict and of declared war, has asked the government of the Netherlands to take care of its interests in Poland should a declared war result from today's developments.

Further concrete evidence of the grim reality of war, was a 15-minute air raid alarm which swept through Berlin. It was later announced to be a rehearsal.

Preparations for blackouts had already been made during the day, as one of the first tasks for the citizenry in wartime. Painters put white marks on the curbs to guide drivers and pedestrians in the event of attack from the air.

The American embassy in Berlin issued a communique denying reports that the German air force had bombed open Polish cities.

"Official investigations show that all such assertions are untrue," the communique said. "The German air force in fulfillment of its task, has attacked only military objectives."

In general, Germany during the first day of her armed conflict with Poland, was trying to organize life on a martial basis in the emotional strain of the Fuehrer's fervid appeal before the reichstag gave way to practical considerations.

Economy measures were put into effect immediately. Bills of fare at restaurants were reduced to a minimum. Display of electric advertising signs was forbidden. Shops and stores were ordered to cease window lighting after 9 p. m. and the schools were closed until further notice.

Additional private cars and trucks were requisitioned by the military.

The management of the state theaters announced that the state operas and theaters would not resume presentations for the present.

As a further sign of the times, the American consulate arranged for the first evacuation train for the embassy and consulate staffs for Saturday morning.

Continued From First Page.

foreign office against German military operations in Poland.

In Warsaw, too, the German embassy remains staffed.

German officialdom insists that all that happened was that Germany struck back after Poland attacked at Gleiwitz last night and consistently violated the border in recent weeks.

Informed quarters frankly admitted, however, that if, for instance, Katowice in Polish Silesia should be "liberated," it might be retained permanently by Germany, although Hitler's 16 points submitted last night to the world, said nothing of Silesia. In other words, it was indicated the 16 points no longer stand as Germany's offer in the crisis.

As further argument that a state of war does not exist, officials pointed to the fact that the German-Italian military alliance has not become operative in the sense that Italy must give Germany military assistance.

Tonight, in fact, it appeared as if Soviet Russia was likely soon to aid Germany.

A military mission of high Russian officers was expected momentarily in Berlin and there was a general expectation that a military alliance would be quickly concluded with Soviet Russia.

This possibility received nourishment when Hitler, in his Reich-

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Kansas City Southern and Louisiana & Arkansas Railway take pleasure in announcing to the shipping public, the opening of an agency in Atlanta, effective September 1st, to better serve this immediate territory in traffic and transportation matters.

MR. JACK FIELDER has been appointed General Agent, with office at 1003 Healey Building, Telephone Jackson 3343.

GLADSTONE BAGS
Good Quality of Leather
$5.00 up to $50.00
We Carry a Large Assortment
W.Z. Turner Luggage Co.
219 PEACHTREE ST.

CRIME TEARS ON

Yvette Wears the Madison Pearls, Night Her Engagement Is Announced

By CAROLYN WELLS.

SYNOPSIS. At a cocktail party in Amy Crosby's home in Manhattan, Craig Madison, an architect, introduces himself to Yvette Verne, a film star, after he overhears her quarreling with Billy Gomez, a man unknown to him. He then invites her to spend the week-end at the estate of his uncle, Harley Madison, in New Plymouth, Long Island, who is regarded as an eccentric philanthropist. Craig and his cousin, Tom Sheldon, both nephews, were brought up by Harley, a widower. He lives with his sister, Cornelia, Hetty Garson, the housekeeper, and Everett Ames, his secretary. Harley's plan to improve New Plymouth, out of a common fund is suddenly opposed by men who want to be glorified by their donations. At the week-end party Yvette captivates everybody, especially Harley, much to the annoyance of Hetty. The next morning Hetty tells Cornelia she saw Yvette meet a man in the Ivy Arbor at 3 a. m. Yvette denies this. While Harley informs Craig he intends to marry Yvette, Tom, convinced Cornelia that Hetty did not see Yvette, but a woman who is trying to cast reflections on the actress, Yvette goes into the arbor and picks up a packet of letters. Hetty, seeing Yvette, urges her husband, Etienne, to follow, but she eludes him. Later Yvette tells the others of her husband's plan to announce she must go to New York. Harley offers to drive her there. Aggie, a servant, when questioned by Tom, admits she, too, saw Yvette in the arbor with a man early in the morning. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XII.

"You must tell me. This is not a trifling matter, Aggie, it is of serious importance. Speak out, now."

"Well, then—it might have been Mrs. Boyce."

"She is about the build of Miss Verne," Tom said thoughtfully. "Now, listen, Aggie. Don't you mention a word of this to anybody. If you obey me, you will be all right. Run along now, and do your work."

The girl's smiles came back, and relieved of her fears, she returns to her duties. Tom went in search of Cornelia and told her the story.

"Well," she said, "if that's the explanation, it's a good one. I don't know why Anita would go on a clandestine errand like that, and I've no idea who the man was—not you, Tom?"

"Not guilty, my lady. But if it was an escapee, I'd sooner believe it was Anita than Yvette. We know Anita's frisky ways, but you've never seen anything of that sort in connection with Yvette, have you, Aunt Cornelia?"

"No, Tom, I haven't. The girl seems a little mysterious to me, but I've never thought her sly."

"Uncle seems to like her pretty well."

"Don't gossip. Your uncle knows what he's about. Should he choose to marry again, it would be quite all right. Florence has been dead several years."

"Heavens, Aunt Cornelia, I never thought of that. I only meant he seemed to be flirting with our lovely guest. Likewise, Craig seems to show the lady less flattering attention than he did at first."

"Puzzle it out for yourself," Cornelia smiled at him.

"But an actress at the head of the House of Madison! Our colonial ancestors would jitter in their graves!"

"Don't take that one, Tom. I only desire that my brother should have whatever he wants that will make his life happy. He has had sorrow and trouble, and I welcome any change that would give him the happiness he deserves. And, in such case, he might spend less time and worry on his village plans."

"And less money," Tom added. "Hello, here comes our own and only!"

Yvette came in, smiling, and handed Cornelia a great bunch of violets. The girl wondered a little at the cordial thanks she received, for she had thought her hostess was still perturbed about the Ivy Arbor incident.

"Let's tell her, Aunt Cornelia, shall we?" Tom asked, and his aunt smiled and nodded. So Tom told again Aggie's possible solution of the mystery, and Yvette listened with interest.

"I don't know about Anita," she said, "but it must have been something of that sort. I'm afraid I haven't thought much about it, for I know I didn't trail out on the lawn last night, and I don't know who did."

Harley appeared in the doorway, looking a little perturbed. "Any message come for me today, Cornelia?"

"Yes, one letter. It was brought by a messenger, who instructed me to give it directly into your hand. Hold out your hand."

Obediently Harley held out his hand and took the letter which his sister handed him. He looked at it with a frown, and said, half absently, "Forgive me if I run away now. I'll return soon. Where is Ames?"

But even as he spoke, he was gone, and they heard the study door close after him. Cornelia drew a long sigh.

"I'm a little alarmed," she said, frankly, "the lad who brought that letter for Harley was an evil-faced chap."

And then the crowd of guests came trooping in. They had been over to the Country Club. Anita looked very sweet and pretty, but Tom and Cornelia scrutinized her trim figure with an idea of comparing it with Yvette's. The advantage was on the side of the girl, but there was a possibility that the older woman might be mistaken for her, in a half light.

Gifford Hale had been lamenting the state of the untidy village, but positively declared that for Harley to remake and rebuild it was a wicked waste of money and time and energy.

"Better buy a parcel of new ground and start fresh," he went on. "I shall do all I can to get Harley to drop his scheme. I hadn't realized before what a hopeless task it would be."

"I doubt you can influence him, Gifford," Cornelia said, "he's a determined sort, and he's already in pretty deeply."

"Well, I'll have a try at it, anyhow. Where is he?"

"Don't talk it to him now, he's busy with Ames in the study. And he's a bit bothered."

"All right, I'll wait for the psychological moment. I say, Miss Verne, come out for a hike across the lawn. Do you good after the day in the city."

Yvette agreed, and they walked away.

"I say," Hale said, "I think we have a mutual friend."

"That's pleasant for the friend," returned the girl, gaily. "Look, here's the Ivy Arbor. A marvelous growth, isn't it?"

"Wonderful. Let's go inside."

"They went in and sat for a moment on the rustic seats. Then Yvette jumped up quickly, and said she must go back to the house at once."

"I've forgotten an important matter I must attend to," she told him. But Hale, rising, too, told her by the arm.

"Don't be in such an awful hurry. I haven't told you the name of our mutual friend."

"A lady?"

"Lord, no. One of the sterner sex."

"I've no curiosity about him. I've too many friends already."

"Perhaps you'd like to cross me off your list?"

Yvette smiled charmingly. "I shall, unless you let me go. Truly, I've an important errand."

"You said that before. Well, our mutual friend is named Mosby. Now aren't you interested?"

"Dick Mosby? Why, no, I'm not interested in him now."

She had already started for the door. Laughing back over her shoulder she kept a few steps ahead of him, until they reached the house, then they went in together.

"Cocktail time!" she exclaimed, as she saw Wilkins bringing the essentials.

She ran upstairs to dress, which she did quickly. Her mind was full of pleasurable thrills and also some ill forebodings. She chose a simple white gown, and a hovering gill butterfly in her dark hair and a pair of Cinderella-like slippers were her only adornments.

She went downstairs slowly, wondering what she was walking into.

Harley had rejoined the group and he rose to greet her with a look that seemed almost one of ownership. Craig looked at her curiously. Gifford Hale looked at her smilingly and Anita Boyce looked at her with admiring eyes and a heart black with jealousy.

After dinner Harley Madison looked round the room at his guests, then he rose and began to speak.

"Tonight," he said, "find me the happiest man in the village of New Plymouth or in the whole length and breadth of Long Island. I am not fond of making speeches, nor do you care to hear one, so I will briefly tell you that I have won the loveliest and dearest girl in the world for my future bride. That right, Yvette?"

He took a few steps toward her, and she met him half way, holding out both hands to him, and smiling up into his face.

Then the room was in an uproar. Harley and his affianced bride stood side by side, and the good wishes and congratulations rent the air. Cheers were given, songs were sung, champagne appeared, causing more and merrier laughter and good-will. At last, Yvette sank into a chair from sheer exhaustion, and Harley sat beside her.

Cornelia, with a murmured excuse, left the room and returned in a moment. She brought with her the Madison pearls, a three-strand marvel of perfectly matched pearls. Anita gave a little squeal, that Tom said afterward, sounded like a hurt dog, but every one else exclaimed with joy.

Cornelia clasped the necklace round the neck of her brother's bride-to-be, with a word of explanation.

"They are to be yours, Yvette," she said, "but not until your wedding day. You must wear them tonight, and give them back to me tomorrow. Then when you are a real Madison, the Madison pearls shall be yours. God bless you."

"And to think," Laura Lee said, "that only a few days ago, Yvette stepped into this family—"

"And stepped into my heart!" Harley interrupted her. "I have heard of love at first sight, but I never hoped to experience it myself, yet I have!"

"A little bit of melodrama now," he said, after a moment; "I had a threatening letter today, from an enemy whom I had supposed to be a trusty friend. In connection with my work in the village, you know, my present will devise half of my entire estate to the committee of village improvement. I now choose to rescind that bequest, and I want you all to bear witness that I hereby destroy it."

He produced a legal document, showed it around a bit, proving that it was as he said, then tore the paper into strips and threw them into the open fire. "Yvette," he said, turning to her, "tomorrow morning, I shall have my lawyer here, and he will draw my new will, in which you shall have a place."

And shortly after, Harley Madison went upstairs to his bed.

Continued Monday.

AUNT HET

By ROBERT GUILLIN.

"Men write about philosophy, but women practice it. If a woman looks awful except her teeth and ankles, she forgets the rest of her and thinks only about the good part."

JUST NUTS

SO YOU'VE BEEN IN JAIL TWO MONTHS. WHAT'S THE CHARGE?

NO CHARGE. EVERYTHING FREE!

Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle.

ACROSS.

1 Shaping machine.

6 Stupor.

10 Marksman.

14 Burnt-out residue.

15 Indigo plant.

16 Pontiff.

17 Inflexible.

18 Enroll.

20 Ago.

21 Famous Roman amphitheater.

23 Pertaining to a bear.

25 Mohammedan reciters of prayers.

26 Spoken.

29 Mad.

31 Liberate.

33 Cable windows.

38 Black igneous rock.

39 Peninsula in Russia.

40 Skeletons of certain marine animals.

42 Sense.

43 Prayer.

45 Feminine name.

46 French soldier.

50 Corner.

52 Impressive.

54 Asserter.

58 Demeanor.

59 Wings.

60 Lively dance.

61 Be undecided.

62 Den.

63 Camel-like animal.

64 Beers.

DOWN.

1 Girl.

2 Town in Italy.

3 In comparison with.

4 Extremely difficult.

5 Gravely range.

6 Reduce to a powder by.

7 Garden vegetable.

8 Tables.

8 Delude.

9 Tenor violin.

10 Convulsion.

11 Hebrew prophet.

12 Narcotic drug.

13 Groups of persons acting together.

22 Serrated mountain.

24 Female relation.

26 Spheres.

27 Harvest.

28 Too.

30 Harmful.

32 Pertaining to seaweeds.

34 Teacher's fees in England.

35 Issue.

36 Lease.

37 Icelandic legend.

41 Alike.

42 Dealers.

44 Pertaining to a Biblical mountain.

46 Grass-covered plain of Argentina.

47 Large bay.

48 Greek goddess of peace.

49 Loans.

51 Imperial bird.

53 Argentine timber tree.

55 Ardor.

56 European capital.

57 Mineral springs.

ACROSS.

14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

DOWN.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

ACROSS.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

DOWN.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

ACROSS.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

DOWN.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

THE GUMPS

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE

MOON MULLINS

DICK TRACY

JANE ARDEN—By Monte Barrett and Russell Ross

TODAY'S CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

ACROSS.

1 Shaping machine.

6 Anglo-Saxon slaves.

10 Marksman.

14 Burnt-out residue.

15 Indigo plant.

16 Pontiff.

17 Inflexible.

18 Enroll.

20 Ago.

21 Famous Roman amphitheater.

23 Pertaining to a bear.

25 Mohammedan reciters of prayers.

26 Spoken.

29 Mad.

31 Liberate.

33 Cable windows.

38 Black igneous rock.

39 Peninsula in Russia.

40 Skeletons of certain marine animals.

42 Sense.

43 Prayer.

45 Feminine name.

46 French soldier.

50 Corner.

52 Impressive.

54 Asserter.

58 Demeanor.

59 Wings.

60 Lively dance.

61 Be undecided.

62 Den.

63 Camel-like animal.

64 Beers.

DOWN.

1 Girl.

2 Town in Italy.

3 In comparison with.

4 Extremely difficult.

5 Gravely range.

6 Reduce to a powder by.

7 Garden vegetable.

8 Tables.

8 Delude.

9 Tenor violin.

10 Convulsion.

11 Hebrew prophet.

12 Narcotic drug.

13 Groups of persons acting together.

22 Serrated mountain.

24 Female relation.

26 Spheres.

27 Harvest.

28 Too.

30 Harmful.

32 Pertaining to seaweeds.

34 Teacher's fees in England.

35 Issue.

36 Lease.

37 Icelandic legend.

41 Alike.

42 Dealers.

44 Pertaining to a Biblical mountain.

46 Grass-covered plain of Argentina.

47 Large bay.

48 Greek goddess of peace.

49 Loans.

51 Imperial bird.

53 Argentine timber tree.

55 Ardor.

56 European capital.

57 Mineral springs.

ACROSS.

14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

DOWN.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

ACROSS.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

DOWN.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

ACROSS.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64

SMITTY

JASPER

By Frank Owen

"I'd never got you that pup if I'd known you would make a Great Dane out of him!"

Shady Rest Ahoy

She Fam and She Fam

Double-Header

Berserk

I Don't Remember

Helpful

GERMANS IN U. S. REGISTER FOR NAZI ARMY ENLISTMENT

Loss of Reich Citizenship Their Alternative; No Appeal for Recruits by Poland Made as Yet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—German men stood in line here today, 3,000 miles from the sounds of the guns in Europe, to enlist in the Reich's military forces. For them the alternative was the loss of German citizenship.

The Polish consulate said it had made no appeal for recruits, but intimated that one might shortly be expected.

At the British consulate, not even British reservists were allowed to register for military service. One applicant, inquiring how he could get across to join the army, was told it was up to him—that if he had the money and could book passage he could go.

The registration of Germans at their consulates was wholly without drama. One young caller, who confirmed that enlistment was his purpose, remarked:

"If I don't do this I'll lose my citizenship in Germany."

Asked if he wanted to fight, he shrugged, and said:

"The munitions makers will make the money and we will do the fighting."

So far as observation indicated, there was no unusual activity at either the Italian or French consulates.

CANADIANS TAKE UP POSTS IN MILITIA

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(Canadian Press)—Thousands of Canadians left their civil occupations to take up duty with the Dominion's militia, naval and air forces today as the cabinet put these branches of the service on an active basis under proclamation of the war measures act of 1914.

At the same time Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that a special session of parliament had been called for 3 p. m., on September 7. When it convenes, parliament will be asked to authorize the government to provide "effective co-operation by Canada at the side of Great Britain."

CARDENAS WARNS 17 OIL COMPANIES

Mexican President Demands Early Settlement of Expropriation Wrangle.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Lázaro Cardenas, speaking today before congress, warned 17 foreign oil companies whose properties were expropriated by Mexico in March, 1938, that unless an early settlement is reached the government will proceed with its own plans for evaluation and payment.

Settlement negotiations are now at a standstill.

Cardenas declared some demands of the American and British oil companies are "absurd" and added that "expropriation is now a part of the history of our economic independence which should not be touched. Men in power may change, but not the principle of social justice in which expropriation is based."

Observers believed that war in Europe would make the sale of Mexican oil to Germany and Italy difficult since their war needs would not allow shipment of barter goods into Mexico in exchange for oil. These countries, recently, have been Mexico's chief markets for oil.

JURY DISCHARGED IN GASOLINE PROBE

Investigators Find 'No Cause for Action.'

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A federal grand jury which has been investigating allegations of gasoline price fixing by major oil companies in ten midwestern states was discharged tonight by Judge Walter C. Lindley after it reported there was "no cause for action."

The jury began its study on June 6, recessed June 23 without making a report and resumed its inquiry yesterday.

Attorney General Frank Murphy said last May the grand jury acted, the second in the government's anti-trust campaign in the oil industry, was necessitated by indications that practices on which the oil trial at Madison, Wis., in 1926 were based "have not been wholly abandoned in the oil industry."

CLUB EXPANDS SERVICE TO JOBLESS FAST 40

The Business A-J-D-E Club of Cleveland, aimed at helping men past 40 to find jobs, has grown so much in the past few months that it now has its own offices, completely furnished.

Interested Clevelanders and successful club members donated the furniture for the organization's quarters in the Terminal Tower building, tallest skyscraper west of New York.

According to Bryan L. Davidson, vice president, an attorney, the club's membership now is made up of one-third employed men, several of them employers. They utilized the "third person selling plan" and seek to encourage employment of men past 40.

Hon. Edgar E. Pomeroy, Judge, Fulton Superior Court, Atlanta, Ga.

We the grand jury, appointed for the July-August, 1939, term of the Fulton superior court, wish to report its findings. In the short time allotted to each grand jury it is possible only to scratch the surface of county activities. Members of this grand jury, in utter disregard of their own private affairs, have devoted their time almost exclusively to investigation of a few vitally important county functions. We have sought to delve deeply into a limited number of matters rather than to attempt the impossible task of a complete investigation of county administration. The look that we have taken at a few things have convinced us that the taxpayers of Fulton county are not getting value received from the five million dollars annually expended by the county authorities.

The grand jury is firmly convinced that the present system of administration of county affairs is an invitation to inefficiency, waste and duplication, and is even a temptation to graft and corruption. In our opinion, the headless administration of county affairs breeds inefficiency. We can not too strongly condemn our present system of county administration. It is a system of supposedly committees of county commissioners, devoting part-time service to an administrative job which would challenge the ingenuity of a full-time high-class business executive.

We feel that the well that most of the evils of county government are inherited evils that must, in time, be replaced by sound principles of business administration. During our investigation certain county authorities have urged us to make specific recommendations, stating that such recommendations would be carried out. For this reason, we are complying with these requests, even though we believe it is the responsibility of the duly elected and appointed officials to see that the county is run efficiently and economically. This grand jury, being fully aware of the staggering task burden now imposed by various governments, in every matter investigated sought ways and means by which county funds could be lightened. Each and every matter investigated by us pointed to waste where many dollars could be saved. We believe proper administration of county affairs will not only eliminate the need for any increase in taxes, but could result in a decrease of the present tax load. We believe this can be done without sacrifice of any essential public service. We, therefore, repeat our Resolution on taxes, submitted to the county commissioners on the 23rd day of August, 1939.

Resolved: That it is the sense of this grand jury that there should be no increase of any kind in the present county tax rate, or assessments; that present county revenues are sufficient for all legitimate needs; and, further, that any additional revenues needed by any department for any purpose be secured by effecting further economies in any and all departments.

Sewer Construction. Because of widespread complaints, this grand jury undertook an investigation of the present county sewer department since its creation in February, 1938. Some of the complaints appear to be without substantial justification while others have considerable merit.

The city of Atlanta operates and maintains all the sewers and disposal plants and the county pays one-third of the cost. The latter includes all engineering in connection with lateral sewer projects. The general rule of the sewer department is to charge each meter sewer project for engineering and contingencies 10 per cent of the project cost, $30 per working day for office overhead, $25 per working day for ditching machine, $10 per working day for compressor, actual cost of labor and materials, also for use of tools, gasoline, trucks, repaving and various miscellaneous items.

Our investigation developed no consistency between the size and cost of the project and the office overhead charged therefor. Certain projects were specifically favored by the engineering and office overhead charges—in certain instances nothing being charged while in others as high as 24.4 per cent of the project cost was for office overhead and 9.4 per cent for engineering. It is admitted that 10 per cent of engineering more than covers the cost thereof.

Eighteen separate lateral projects were studied, also three additional specially favored ones brought to light while the investigation was under way.

These 18 projects covered 85,995 lineal feet of sewer which were available 112,851 assessable front feet. The average county costs, including engineering and overhead, were $1.44 and $1.10, respectively. The total cost was $24,025.50, but the county absorbed $3,239.32 in connection with the Grove Park project. The total cost roughly averaged:

Material cost	31.0%
Labor cost	39.3%
Equipment cost	10.9%
Engineering and contingencies	7.5%
Office overhead	11.3%

Tests were made of county costs as to certain projects with outside contractors' unit prices, but without technical assistance we were unable to determine which would be cheapest. We are definitely of the opinion that engineering and overhead charges were generally excessive.

The Grove Park project received special attention. The sewer department concedes that less than 50 per cent of the property owners petitioned for sewers, and just as the construction on the ground of public health and public improvements. It was originally charged $38,317.10, including 10 per cent for engineering and $30 per working day for office overhead. Later, engineering was reduced to 5 per cent and the office overhead was reduced 10 per cent, and the cost of out-fall sewers was eliminated, thus reducing the assessed cost to $35,078.78. The project actually cost $1,62 per assessable front foot, but property owners were assessed only $1.48.

This project was difficult in that more manholes and flush tanks were needed, more rock was encountered, more sewer lines and intersections and out-falls were involved than was the case with the ordinary project. The presence of an extensive private sewer system was a complication. We believe that some of the complaints have much merit and should be an independent investigation of this whole project to determine all of the facts.

We are unable to find that improper concessions were made to any individual in the Grove Park area, or that excavations were unnecessarily deep, and then refilled, except in one case for which the sewer department was not responsible.

We feel that sewer construction on certain streets in the Grove Park area was unnecessary at this time and cannot be justified, as claimed, on the theory that they should be constructed to meet the abutting property should help pay the cost of out-falls.

Our specific recommendations covering the Grove Park project speak for themselves.

In connection with the Club drive project we find a row of houses where certain physical conditions caused the lateral on Club drive to be at a higher level than was necessary to serve the basements. While we found isolated houses here and there in other projects where a similar condition exists, it is impracticable to serve each and every basement regardless of physical conditions.

We developed three projects which were specially favored at the expense of property owners in other projects, and the facts are interesting because of complaints that officials of the county government, their relatives, or persons connected with them, were lying property succeed in getting improvements, using convict and other county labor, at low or no cost, while others cannot do so.

The property on both sides of Longwood drive is owned by W. B. Burns, a relative of a county commissioner. It was necessary to construct a 10-inch pipe out-fall sewer using 10-inch pipe. The general rule is that necessary out-falls are constructed by sewer department labor under the same terms and conditions as the street laterals with which they connect, and the cost assessed against the abutting property. The Longwood out-fall sewer was built without formal authorization, convict labor was used without charge, and nothing was charged for engineering and overhead services. There were certain other exemptions.

The owner furnished his own pipe which he purchased from an Atlanta concern at a price of four cents per foot less than the price he has been paying for the same pipe. The result was that this out-fall cost this owner but 61 cents per lineal foot as compared with the general average of $1.44 for six and eight-inch sewers.

After completion thereof construction of a lateral sewer on Longwood drive was begun. This was properly authorized, but five per cent instead of 10 per cent was charged for engineering, and $15 instead of $30 per day office overhead. The whole project, including out-fall, cost this owner $1.10 per lineal foot.

Having bought 10-inch pipe at four cents per foot less than what the county was paying and being quoted 19 cents for eight-inch pipe, for which the county was usually paying 21 cents, this owner desired to furnish the pipe for Longwood drive.

It had already been ordered by the county (21 cents being charged), the owner was told by the head of the sewer department that he would be allowed to furnish the pipe for some other project and thus make up his loss on Longwood drive, but same was not consummated so far as we are advised. We have found others buying this same pipe for as low as 17 1/2 cents per foot, while the county was paying 21 cents.

Commissioner Chastain denies any connection with these projects and our investigation does not disclose that he had any. Both he and Mr. Burns fully co-operated in explaining the facts. It is fair to say to Mr. W. B. Burns, the owner, it should be stated that this out-fall crosses certain private property which can eventually be served by this same out-fall. The same is true of other property south of Longwood drive, emphasizing the propriety of charging individual property owners for costs of out-fall and the discriminations possible under the present rule.

The Adams road sewer, 871 lineal feet, is in the road through the property of Commissioner Adams. No formal authority exists for such construction. Convict and other county forces were used without charge. This sewer cost the owner 44 cents per lineal foot, or 22 cents per front foot, as contrasted with averages of $1.44 and $1.10, respectively, paid by the general public. The evidence indicates that Dr. Adams asked the sewer department to construct this sewer on the same basis as any other sewer, with no favors, and assumed that it had been done. When he was chairman, it was a general practice to construct sewers with convict labor. About the time he paid bills for the materials for this sewer he voluntarily paid the county $2,340.80 for repaving Adams road, which had been virtually destroyed by WPA trucks hauling materials for the construction of a new city-county trunk sewer through his property and for which Dr. Adams received no compensation and no concessions whatsoever as free taxes, whereas other parties have gotten such concessions. An employment was granted through his property without charge.

The Claire drive eight-inch out-fall sewer is now being constructed for account of B. W. Jones under the same conditions as the Longwood drive outfall, i.e., under no formal authority, largely by convict labor, and with no charge for engineering and overhead.

The former sewer department head frankly admits that he cannot justify these irregularities in the light of other projects where the outfalls were treated as integral parts of lateral sewer projects, constructed by paid labor, and abutting property owners assessed 10 per cent for engineering, full overhead, and all other costs. There can be no justification for such favoritism. The result is to saddle on to the other projects an undue share of engineering, overhead, and other costs, and to permit favored projects to get the benefit of lower costs not available to the other projects.

The general rule of including outfalls as integral parts of sewer projects has resulted in unwise lateral sewer construction, notably in the Grove Park area. They should be placed in the same category as the sewers and constructed by and at the expense of the county. Convict labor can be used to a considerable extent.

Tapping fees are arbitrary. They are presumed to be for the operation of disposal plants, but bear no relation to actual use. Many new connections with the same sewers have never paid tapping fees. The costs of operating sewage disposal plants should either be absorbed out of general taxes or a special sanitary tax established for that purpose, fair to all users and in proportion to actual use.

The sewer department has not been operating on any other practical experience in construction work, and has not been so managed as to give fair and equal treatment to all alike. The situation is such as to require that all lateral sewer construction be placed under the present chief of construction, a man of proven construction ability, and he should be authorized to employ a competent engineer to assist him; and there should be closer co-operation with the city engineers to the end that the county construction authority shall have substantial voice in making all decisions.

It is our opinion that the construction of lateral sewers could be accomplished at lower costs by contract with outside parties, but there is much in favor of such construction, thus creating an incentive to perform the work at lowest possible cost, prevent costs being loaded with wasteful and inefficient services, excessive material prices, and avoid the discriminations developed under the present system.

The county seeks to repudiate a contract entered into years ago between city and certain property owners under which the city in return for the use of their property on which to construct a lateral sewer agreed to permit such owners to connect thereafter free of any charge any sewer to such trunk line. We express no opinion regarding the legality of such repudiations, but feel that the county should protect the rights of property owners who constructed a lateral sewer under a contract with the city. The elimination of tapping fees would remove this cause of complaint.

Our specific recommendations are:

First—The Fulton county commissioners should employ a competent engineering service to make a thorough and impartial study of the Grove Park project, submit a report as to all features, same to be made public, and if it is found that error in engineering was made, excessive construction costs incurred, unnecessary sewers laid, failures to construct sewers at levels necessary to serve basements where such were reasonably practicable, etc., the costs of such errors to be assumed by the county and appropriate adjustments made in assessments.

Particular attention should be given the construction on Evelyn street where the sewer is shallow, there is serious doubt as to the wisdom or efficiency of the undertakings.

Second—To the extent property owners in the Grove Park area are already served by the private sewer system or who have decided to connect to the city sewer, the commissioners should suspend assessments against such property, pending the time when any such property owner desires to or does tap the new sewers, because of unavailability of the private sewer, their condemnation, abandonment, or other cause, and when so tapped the same meter of cost to be assessed as in the case of any other property owner.

Third—As the sewer on Beverly place for the sole benefit of the West Fulton High school and serves no useful purpose to any individual, the cost thereof should be eliminated from the Grove Park project as assessed.

Fourth—The assessments against property on Evelyn way should be held in suspense pending a real need for this lateral and connections thereto.

Fifth—The same action should be taken in connection with the laterals on Hortense place and Florence place (from Hortense to the out-fall), for the same reason that this construction was unnecessary at this time.

Sixth—The county should construct at its expense such supplementary lateral as may be necessary to serve the basements of a group of houses on Club drive near Winalldown road.

Seventh—Reasonable charges should be established for engineering and overhead which shall be in proportion to the size and cost of the undertaking, and, further, that such charges should be applied to all alike.

Eighth—The county should not repudiate contracts entered into in good faith between property owners and the city under which the county has paid sufficient and adequate salaries to pay their own telephone bills if it is necessary that they have one and those that placed on the same basis as trunks, constructed by and at the expense of the county instead of being charged to property served by the main laterals, and same should be constructed by convict labor to the fullest possible extent.

Tenth—Tapping fees should be abolished and costs of operating disposal plants absorbed out of general taxes or a sanitary tax established for that purpose and which will fairly reflect use.

Eleventh—Lateral sewer construction work should be performed by the county's superintendent of construction, and he should be authorized to employ a competent engineer to assist him. There should be closer co-operation between the city and county to the end that the county authorities shall have substantial voice in making all decisions.

Twelfth—Consideration should be given to having all lateral sewers constructed under contract, under competitive bids, with suitable provision for preferred use of Fulton county labor and materials.

Thirteenth—Preferential practices such as developed in connection with the Longwood drive, Adams road, and Claire drive, out-fall projects should be immediately discontinued.

County Transportation.

During the term of this grand jury a great deal of time and thought has been given to the county automobile situation, and all of the county commissioners, a number of county employees and private citizens, having information on the subject have been interviewed and numerous communications have been received from citizens all over the county. After giving all of these interviews and communications serious thought it is our conclusion, first, that the use of county owned automobiles in the past had been abused by the employees generally to whom they were assigned, in that they were used for personal pleasure, inside and outside of Fulton county, the same as if they were their individually owned automobiles, at great expense to the county for gas, oil, tires, repairs, upkeep, etc.

Second, it is our definite opinion that the county did not need a large fleet of automobiles. The number of automobiles it had and it follows, therefore, that they do not need to make mileage allowances to all employees to whom cars were previously furnished; and we, therefore, recommend from the county to obtain cars have been able to obtain that mileage allowance not be made to the employees in the following positions:

Car No. 40, superintendent warehouse; Car No. 62, superintendent sewers; Cars Nos. 16, 17, and 21, probation officers (any county employee performing by use of police department cars); Car No. 57, marshal municipal court; Cars Nos. 44, 47, 49 and 52, probation officers, juvenile court; Car No. 54, clerk juvenile court; Car No. 8, tax assessor; Car No. 9, superintendent of house; Car No. 3, superintendent of farm; Car No. 33, superintendent white farm; Car No. 28, superintendent public buildings and chief engineer.

The numbers and positions indicated above are taken from list of county owned automobiles totaling 111 given us by County Clerk Frank Fling, dated July 27, 1939.

As to the police department, we feel it presents a different problem of county government and that nothing should be done to hinder its work of protecting the life and property of the citizens of Fulton county, but we believe from our investigation that they have more automobiles than they need for the proper and efficient operation of their department and we, therefore, recommend that at least eight automobiles be eliminated. In our opinion this will leave them sufficient cars for the adequate and proper operation of that department. As to what the county should be eliminated, this should be decided by the authority in charge of the department.

We further recommend that the county commissioners be compensated on the same mileage basis as other county employees for the use of their cars on county business.

We further recommend that under the new mileage allowance plan no employee be allowed mileage to and from his place of work except that his mileage not start until he reaches the place of service and end at the same point.

As the public generally knows, on or about the first part of July one of the higher priced county owned automobiles was wrecked in south Georgia while some of the county commissioners and county employees were out of Fulton county on a personal pleasure trip. It is our understanding that a total loss was sustained. It is our recommendation that if it has not already been done that the county be reimbursed for this loss by those responsible for its use at the time of the accident.

It is our opinion that the county commissioners acted too hastily in the sale of the county automobiles to county employees and putting into effect the proposed mileage allowance, and had they acceded to this grand jury's request to do otherwise, it might have been the plan we might have made other recommendations. It is our opinion that the haste with which the new plan was put through has cost the county considerable money through low appraisals on the cars they sold and accumulation of unsold cars now on the county's hands that were not purchased by employees formerly using them, and we further recommend that these cars now on the county's hands be sold for cash as quickly as possible to the highest bidder at not less than the appraised price.

County Telephones. It is the recommendation of this grand jury that the practice of furnishing any county employee free telephone service be discontinued. In our opinion all county employees are paid sufficient and adequate salaries to pay their own telephone bills if it is necessary that they have one and those that need a telephone should be required to install and maintain one at their own expense.

County Purchases.

This grand jury has investigated the affairs and purchases by certain departments of Fulton county for the purchases of supplies and equipment for the maintenance and upkeep of Fulton county. We have investigated the various departments and officials controlling such purchases and have received and investigated many complaints by citizens and firms of Fulton county regarding purchases by the county. We submit the following recommendations:

First—It having developed that the sewer department ordered only concrete pipe, thus practically confining bids to but two concerns and eliminating competition from manufacturers of competing vitrified clay pipe, and it having been shown that individuals and others are purchasing concrete pipe from these two concerns at prices substantially below those charged to the county, it is recommended that specifications should not be confined to concrete pipe, and bids should be invited from all manufacturers of vitrified clay or concrete pipe.

Second—It is recommended that all purchases of all commodities should be made based upon prepared specifications; said specifications to be drawn and used, together with at least three sealed competitive bids from independent concerns not related to one of the other; the bids to be requested in writing and to be obtained for any purchase of a value of $50, or more. No bids for purchases are to be acted upon by telephone.

Third—The purchasing department should be given full control of all purchases and all such bids for purchases made shall be handled strictly by the office of the purchasing department; and all bids received shall be kept in the office of the purchasing department as a permanent record.

Fourth—Where prices are found to be the same upon inspecting the bids, it is recommended that the business be divided as equally as possible between the concerns submitting said bids, where representatives of such concerns are located in Fulton county.

Juvenile Convict Camp. We urge the commissioners to speed the work on the new fireproof structures being erected, replacing those destroyed by fire; as the present facilities are absolutely inadequate as to space, ventilation, illumination, sanitation and fire traps, endangering the lives of guards and inmates.

Colored Juvenile Industrial Farm. After a thorough inspection, we highly commend the management of this institution for its efficiency and maintained morals among the colored juvenile inmates, which we understand have an 80 per cent rehabilitation.

White Juvenile Industrial Farm. After an inspection of the premises, a conference with Judge Watkins, of the juvenile court, the chairman of the alms and juvenile committee, and several discussions with the county commissioners, all concur with the grand jury that immediate action is imperative in order to remedy the deplorable conditions existing at the Hapeville institution housing white juvenile delinquents.

The percentage of rehabilitation being very low compared with establishments elsewhere. Recognizing the importance of this institution's successful operation to the welfare of the county and public at large, we recommend that the county purchase the building and the county commissioners, all concur with the grand jury that immediate action is imperative in order to remedy the deplorable conditions existing at the Hapeville institution housing white juvenile delinquents.

The board should determine if it is advisable to sell the present property and erect modern buildings on the 3,000-acre property now owned by the county near Adamsville.

The commissions should set aside a definite sum for operation under the new arrangement, giving the board full authority to direct the operation of this institution.

It is suggested that the board be composed, initially at least, of the following citizens of Fulton county—the chairman of the alms and juvenile committee, and the following: James Burns, Atlanta Georgian; M. E. Coleman, Atlanta city schools; Dewey Johnson, Atlanta Georgian; J. H. Jones, Journal of Labor; Henry Mayes, state industrial schools; Ralph McGill, Atlanta Constitution; W. G. Mitchell, Georgia Power Company; Garland M. Watkins, judge, juvenile court; Jerry Wells, Fulton county schools; Lambdin Kay, Atlanta Journal; and Kendall Weisiger, Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Pardons and Paroles. At the request of the May-June, last, grand jury, we have investigated the matter of promiscuous pardons, paroles and commutations. Definite recommendations were determined. As these have been fully complied with by the State Prison and Parole Commission and the Governor and have been published in the press, we do not deem it necessary to repeat.

Under these rules and regulations which have been adopted provision is made for ample notice to law enforcement officers before any action is taken on any application for clemency.

In all of our investigations, we were given the fullest co-operation from all the officers approached.

We take this occasion to express our appreciation to the State Prison and Parole Commission on the comprehensive records that they are installing and expect soon to complete and also on the efficiency of their entire system and the painstaking care with which they are administering this department. It is our judgment when the record system is completed and available for reference when applications for clemency appear that the state will have one of the most up-to-date systems of its kind in the country.

We are pleased to report that we received from the Governor and the State Prison and Parole Commission a most cordial reception and full co-operation in assisting us to work out these problems. He assures us that he is in full accord with the plan suggested and will immediately begin instituting the necessary agreed changes in current law and regulations of this grand jury. It is our opinion that most of the pardons criticized in the past have been due to lack of sufficient information on the history of the case involved.

Direct Recommendations. We recommend that those presiding judges who are not obtaining full information regarding the previous record of defendants before granting clemencies will follow the fine example of the Governor of the City of Atlanta and Fulton County in assisting us to clear up this alarming evil.

We recommend that no member of the sheriff's staff shall make any recommendation for clemency, except with the approval of the sheriff, under penalty of dismissal.

Salaries. It is the recommendation of this grand jury that the board of revenues and commissioners of Fulton county be required to publish annually, in an Atlanta newspaper, on a date to be selected by them, the name, position and monthly salary of each and every employee of Fulton county as of the date selected.

Lottery Racket. This grand jury is informed that the lottery racket, known as the "numbers game," is being carried on in Fulton county just as extensively as it was a year ago. It is the opinion of this body that this racket will never be broken up by simply arresting the victims, writers and pickup men, and in order to catch the operators, it will require the full time of police officers. This can only be done by the law-enforcing agencies of this county detaching officers solely to investigate the racket.

We, therefore, recommend that the county police department, the sheriff's office detail two or more full-time lottery squads from their present personnel to work solely in the apprehension and conviction of lottery violators, giving particular attention to the organized bands.

Public Welfare. As the May-June grand jury made a thorough investigation of the relief situation and in their presentations offered definite recommendations, this grand jury did not deem it wise to go further into the matter at this time. Later other developments occurred which caused Commissioner I. Glover Hailey to request a further investigation. When this request was received other matters were requiring our attention to the extent that we deemed it wise to transfer the request to the September-October grand jury. We are, therefore, transmitting to the incoming grand jury the letter of Mr. Hailey, with our recommendation that they comply with his suggestion.

Tax Receiver. We recommend the consolidation of the tax assessor's and tax investigator's office with that of the tax receiver, as suggested by the May-June grand jury.

Hospitals. We concur in the presentations of the May-June grand jury regarding the management of Grady hospital and Battle Hill sanitarium.

We make the following additional recommendations for improvement of county affairs:

First—We recommend the immediate selection of an administrator of the county so far as is possible under the present county law.

Second—That the county commission confine itself to determination of policies of the county and supervision of the administrative head.

Third—Continuance of administration through sub-chairmen of the commission. This system was no doubt satisfactory when Atlanta was raising her head from the ashes left by General Sherman. It does not fit the character of a business enterprise, and it is a waste of money. The present system is no doubt adequate for a county predominantly rural. It is almost criminal to perpetuate such a system in Fulton county. The plan suggested by Commissioner I. Glover Hailey, that is, the abolition of sub-chairmen and placing all administration in department heads, subject to approval of the Fulton county commission, would be an immediate improvement, but is not the final solution.

Fourth—The abolition of the practice of hiring employees for their vote-pulling power instead of their training and efficiency. Until the spoils is eliminated from public employment, we can hardly expect efficient administrative personnel. Our investigation of the sewer department revealed that it was headed by a man totally untrained for his duties. Result: Inefficiency and waste. At our request, this man has been replaced by a trained engineer. The real responsibility of placing an untrained man at the head of a department of county government should rest on the persons who selected him because of a political obligation. Fulton county needs to draw into its service young, well-trained administrative personnel and to hold out to these men the promise of a real career in public service where achievement will be rewarded. We are spending millions of dollars on public education. In our schools we are putting considerable emphasis on study of public affairs, but we are not drawing the brains developed by this school system into local administrative personnel.

Finally, we believe the permanent solution of governmental troubles for the City of Atlanta and County of Fulton is the creation of one unit of government to function throughout the entire area. We can find a solution of our health problem, our relief problem, our law-enforcement problem, our other problems, if we will concentrate our efforts in one unit of government, seeking a solution of these problems. We are one community with common problems. We need a planning system for the entire community. We need to fix responsibility definitely for rendition of public service. This can not be accomplished as long as we permit "passing the buck" from one unit of government to the other. Previous grand juries have advocated creation of one unit of government. We add our voice to these recommendations.

Those of you reading these presentations do not doubt are asking yourselves—"How can a governmental reform be obtained in Fulton county?" Our answer is by the election of persons to public office who are actuated by no selfish purpose—who are willing to pledge themselves to bring about necessary governmental changes. Citizens and taxpayers have little control over public affairs under present conditions. The grand jury is their principal source of knowledge as to how their affairs are being administered. Time does not permit a thorough job to be done by any grand jury where a government is so complicated as that of the City of Atlanta and Fulton county. There is a vital need for an organization in Fulton county equipped to constantly investigate administration of public affairs; to give constant publicity to the records of public officers performing outstanding jobs; to bring efficient guidance to public service before the public eye. It is only through such an organization the grand jury presentations can receive proper consideration. The spoils system of public employment lends itself to creation of a political machine. It is easy for organized minorities to control election of public officials unless citizens and taxpayers can be organized to combat these minorities. Cities and states blessed with such organizations are obtaining a high quality of public service at a reduced cost. We urge the formation of an organization of such groups, believing that this group by persistent endeavor can give to Fulton county and the City of Atlanta the best local government in the southland. With this accomplished, there is no limit to the growth of our community.

In these presentations we have endeavored to bring before you possible to confine our criticisms to systems and not to individuals or employees of the county. We have received, with very few exceptions, most courteous and helpful co-operation from every county official, believing that we have called. This statement applies particularly to the five commissioners, of roads and revenues and their associates, the sheriff's office, the clerk of court's office, the solicitor general's office and the county police department. We also express our appreciation of the fine co-operation we have received from the public and from the taxpayers. It is obvious that we could not reply to all of the letters received, but we hope that those interested will accept this expression of appreciation. The co-operation of the press during our term has been most helpful and we are pleased to acknowledge to all three daily papers that we could have accomplished our task without their fine co-operation. The individual reporters have been most considerate and efficient.

Committee Reports. The committee reports are submitted as a part of our presentations and are in purchase and present court record, and are here-to attached.

Miss Mae Grainger And Frank Smith Wed at Church Rites

Miss Mae Grainger became the bride of Frank M. Smith yesterday at the Kirkwood Baptist church, the ceremony being witnessed by a number of friends and relatives of the couple. Dr. K. O. White, pastor of the church, officiated.

Prior to and during the ceremony a musical program was presented by Miss Miriam Vandigriff and Ralph Berry. Baskets of white gladioli and two candelabra holding white burning tapers were used as the decorations.

Ushers were Carl Dacus and Calvin Grainger, brother of the bride, and groomsmen were Shute Grainger, another brother of the bride, and Edward J. Bentley.

Miss Thelma Sorrow was the maid of honor and was gowned in an aquamarine net posed over taffeta of the same shade. The dress was fashioned on princess lines and featured high waistline and a V-neck. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of vari-colored garden blooms. Mrs. Shute Grainger was the matron of honor and wore an orange gown similar to that worn by Miss Sorrow, and her flowers were the same.

Entering with her father, G. J. Siebens, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the groom and Charles Jones, who was best man. She was becomingly gowned in white silk net posed over taffeta and fashioned along becoming princess lines. The high waist was offset by a sweetheart neckline outlined with orange blossoms. The floor-length skirt widened to form a slight train. Her finger-to-tip veil was caught to her hair by clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a string of pearls.

Mrs. G. J. Siebens, mother of the bride, was gowned in black alpaca worn with black accessories and her flowers were pink roses and tube roses.

After the ceremony the bridal couple left for their wedding trip to Miami, and upon their return will reside in Atlanta. The bride traveled in a black alpaca model worn with white accessories. She wore black alligator skin shoes and carried a bag to match. Her flowers were white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell To Honor Visitors

Listed among prominent visitors spending the Labor Day week end in Atlanta are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee McFee, of Savannah, formerly of New York. Mr. McFee is a renowned artist and his works have been exhibited in leading museums in this country and abroad. Mr. McFee is listed among artists contributing paintings at the New York world's fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will be hosts at tea on Sunday from 5 to 7 o'clock in compliment to their visitors. Mrs. M. McCallie and Mrs. R. T. Momen will preside over the tea table.

College Park News Of Social Interest

Mrs. W. L. Crout and Wendel Crout entertained recently at a dance at the College Park Golf Club complementing their guest, Miss Betty Rutledge, of Lancaster, S.C.

Twenty-five members of the high school set were group of the younger social set were honored at a dance recently at the College Park Golf Club at which Mr. Way's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peniston Smith, were hosts.

Miss Frances Sheppard has returned from a visit to Louisville, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dorsey are spending the week end with friends on the Isle of Pines, off the South Carolina coast.

Misses Mildred and Marie Waters have returned from Daytona Beach, Fla., and are in New York attending the World's Fair.

Miss Aileen Crawford is at Jacksonville Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Webb and Mrs. Inez Webb Oliver have returned from St. Simons, where they spent ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dodson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oglethorpe are spending the week end in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee, of DuPont, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Cline.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Faulkner and children are the guests of Mrs. S. C. Bexley in Tampa, Fla.

Miss Helen Howell is spending the week end with friends in Macon.

Robert Brown, of Winston-Salem, N. C., is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Lottie Everts.

For Miss Guillebeau And Her Fiance.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard B. Guillebeau entertained last evening at a buffet supper at their home on Penn avenue, honoring their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Guillebeau, and her fiance, George William Self, of Atlanta and Providence, R. I., following their wedding rehearsal.

The dining table was centered with a tiered cake, with a miniature bride and bridegroom gracing the top. Yellow and white will be the colors used in the decorations.

Assisting the hosts were Mesdames George M. Huguley, T. T. Wright, H. A. Ferris and Miss Ellen Kiser.

Miss Ann Mack Becomes Bride Of Mr. Wheeler at Church Service

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN LEE WHEELER.

The marriage of Miss Ann Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Armstrong Mack, to Benjamin Lee Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wheeler, took place last evening at Decatur Presbyterian church.

Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the church performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock in the presence of a limited group of relatives and friends of the young couple. Prior to and during the ceremony a musical program was presented by George Graham.

Mrs. Mack acted as matron of honor for her daughter and was handsomely gowned in a street-length model of wine-colored silk with which she wore a black hat and matching accessories. Her flowers were gardenias. J. E. Hudson and Lawrence Camp were the ushers.

Entering with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the groom and his father, LeRoy Wheeler, who was best man. Her beauty was enhanced by her two-piece becoming suit of navy blue.

Decatur O. E. S. Will Honor Prominent Officers on Tuesday

Decatur Chapter No. 148, Order of the Eastern Star, entertains Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Geneva Foddrill, worthy grand matron of Georgia and her corp of officers, and Mrs. Ann Mae Jackson, Guy O. Guest, grand instructor of Atlanta district No. 4; Mrs. Kate Shuford, chairman of grand chapter examining committee, and Mrs. Pauline McLaran, member of public school week committee.

A special program is being arranged by Mrs. P. D. Wright and Mrs. Mary Dowman. Members and friends are invited. Mrs. Ruby Alexander, worthy matron, and E. Alexander is worthy patron.

Officers include John E. Logan, of Americus, worthy grand patron; Mrs. Grace Lynn, associate grand matron; Ed L. Almond, associate grand patron; Mrs. E. G. Mack, of Montgomery, Ala., grandmother of the bride; Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Austin, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Mack, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hudson, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Eshman, of Winchester, Tenn.; and E. J. Armstrong, of Mountain Home, Tenn.

Among the series of parties given for the bridal couple prior to their marriage, was the buffet supper given on Wednesday evening at the home of North Decatur road. Mrs. R. A. Mack, the bride's mother, assisted in entertaining the guests who included members of the wedding party.

Edwin B. Turman left recently for Houston, Texas, to reside.

Misses Marion Moise and Betty Fitts are visiting Miss Rosanna Richards in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yeates leave today by motor for Asheville, N. C., and Blowing Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Turner announce the birth of a daughter on August 24 at St. Joseph's Infirmary, whom they have named Virginia Lynn. Mrs. Turner is the former Miss Virginia Tatum.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Blalock and children are visiting in Fayetteville, Ga.

Mrs. Roland Alston is visiting relatives in Claxessville.

Mrs. Collett Munger is spending some time in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Hill, of Mount Dora, Fla., are visiting Mrs. Kate Weather and Miss Connel McDonald at their home on Seminole avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. DuBose Honored at Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Lewis were hosts last evening at a buffet supper at their home on Peachtree circle, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Beverly DuBose Jr. Mrs. DuBose is the former Miss Frances Woodruff, prominent Columbus belle.

The hosts were assisted in entertaining by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Morgan, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beverly DuBose Sr.

Guests included members of the Dose-Woodruff wedding personnel.

Mrs. Cofer To Fete College Belles at Tea.

Mrs. Olin Cofer will be hostess tomorrow at a tea honoring Misses Emmanuelle Chandler, niece of Mrs. Cofer; Charlotte Sewell, both students at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo.; Frances Carr, who will attend Brenau, and Ruth Conner, who has enrolled at Randolph-Macon.

Two hundred friends have been invited to call between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock.

The hostess will be assisted by Misses Charlotte Matthews, who will serve punch; Myrtle Durham, Vivian Newberry and Mesdames W. A. Sewell, H. J. Carr, Thomas Conner, R. E. Newberry and A. B. Durham.

Book Reviews.

Mrs. George O. LeFebvre will present the first of a series of book reviews on September 13 at 8 o'clock at the chapter house of the Cathedral of St. Philip.

These reviews will be sponsored by the Business Women's chapter.

Miss Dottie Grove Fetes School Belles

An interesting social affair of today will be the swimming party and luncheon at which Miss Dottie Grove will entertain at the Piedmont Driving Club, honoring Misses Laleah Sullivan and Anne Owens. Miss Sullivan and Miss Owens leave September 14 for Virginia, where they will enroll at Chatham Hall.

Luncheon will be served on the veranda overlooking the pool, and covers will be laid for Misses Jessie Strickland, Mary Sutherland, Martha Cronheim, Elizabeth Jones, Raiford Ragsdale, Tatty Shipp and her guest, Marjorie Kenemar, of Asheville, N. C.; Mary Campbell Everett, of Hailey, Frances Grove and the hostess and honor guests.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee McFee, of Savannah, are spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Campbell on Fourth street.

Mrs. Fuzzy Woodruff left yesterday to spend several months in Covington.

Mrs. Arthur Lucas and her daughter, Mrs. Fred Story, have returned from Highlands, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wyrick announce the birth of a son on August 23 at Emory University hospital whom they have named John William Jr.

Miss Sarah Smith returned yesterday from Highlands, N. C., where she visited Miss Laura Hill.

Mrs. Randolph Smith is in New York city.

Mrs. Bruce Moran and daughter, Charlotte Moran, have returned to Atlanta after spending five weeks in the east visiting relatives. Mr. Moran and son, Robert Bruce, joined them and they visited the world's fair after which they motored to Atlanta.

Mrs. Harvey Lindsey has returned from New York where she spent the past three months completing a course in interior decorating.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Mills and Annette Mills, of Knoxville, Tenn., arrive this week end to visit relatives and friends here.

Fred Greene left recently by airplane for Havana, Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ramsey announce the birth of a son on August 28 at St. Joseph's infirmary.

Pedro Dody has returned from a trip to the New York world's fair.

Victor Paulos and Miss Lula Paulos have returned from the world's fair in New York, where they spent a month.

Miss Florence Grillo, of Freeport, Ill., is visiting Miss Connie Gluck on Boulevard, S. E.

Mrs. Clifford Boyd Smith and her young son, Clifford Jr., of Evansville, Ind., are visiting Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. S. B. Turman, at her home, 300 The Prado. Before returning home she will visit Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith.

Edwin B. Turman left recently for Houston, Texas, to reside.

Misses Marion Moise and Betty Fitts are visiting Miss Rosanna Richards in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yeates leave today by motor for Asheville, N. C., and Blowing Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Turner announce the birth of a daughter on August 24 at St. Joseph's Infirmary, whom they have named Virginia Lynn. Mrs. Turner is the former Miss Virginia Tatum.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Blalock and children are visiting in Fayetteville, Ga.

Mrs. Roland Alston is visiting relatives in Claxessville.

Mrs. Collett Munger is spending some time in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Hill, of Mount Dora, Fla., are visiting Mrs. Kate Weather and Miss Connel McDonald at their home on Seminole avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. DuBose Honored at Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Lewis were hosts last evening at a buffet supper at their home on Peachtree circle, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Beverly DuBose Jr. Mrs. DuBose is the former Miss Frances Woodruff, prominent Columbus belle.

The hosts were assisted in entertaining by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Morgan, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beverly DuBose Sr.

Guests included members of the Dose-Woodruff wedding personnel.

Mrs. Cofer To Fete College Belles at Tea.

Mrs. Olin Cofer will be hostess tomorrow at a tea honoring Misses Emmanuelle Chandler, niece of Mrs. Cofer; Charlotte Sewell, both students at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo.; Frances Carr, who will attend Brenau, and Ruth Conner, who has enrolled at Randolph-Macon.

Two hundred friends have been invited to call between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock.

The hostess will be assisted by Misses Charlotte Matthews, who will serve punch; Myrtle Durham, Vivian Newberry and Mesdames W. A. Sewell, H. J. Carr, Thomas Conner, R. E. Newberry and A. B. Durham.

Book Reviews.

Mrs. George O. LeFebvre will present the first of a series of book reviews on September 13 at 8 o'clock at the chapter house of the Cathedral of St. Philip.

These reviews will be sponsored by the Business Women's chapter.

Miss Hansford Weds W. C. Strickland

WASHINGTON, Ga., Sept. 1.—Miss Mary Hansford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Hansford, became the bride of Willis Comer Strickland today at a ceremony taking place in the Methodist church at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. Foster Young officiated, and music was rendered by Mrs. J. B. Fuller, organist, Miss Elizabeth Brooks and Joe Farmer, soloists. Miss Virginia Howard lighted candles.

Ushers were William Pope, of Washington; Stan Rainey, of Buchanan, Ky.; Charles and Julian Strickland, of Comer.

Bridesmaids wore vivid taffetas and carried bouquets of dahlias in colors contrasting with their dresses. They were Misses Kate Norman, Gisela Krumbine, Priscilla Prather, and Alleen Coker, of Greenville, S. C.

The bride's only sister, Miss Joel Hansford, was maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of carnations.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Henry Gerald Birchmore, of Comer. The bride wore ivory satin and carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Strickland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Howard Strickland, of Comer, Ga., and is a static master of Eastern Air Lines' office, in Beaumont, Texas.

After the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hansford entertained at a reception given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers, uncle and aunt of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Strickland, parents of the groom, received. Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames Osborne Bouds, Hobart Miller and James Ellington. Miss Gladys Ellington, of Augusta, kept the bride's book.

The young couple left for a wedding journey to New York and Canada. Part of the trip will be taken by airplane. Upon their return, they will reside in Beaumont, Texas.

Society Events

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Guillebeau and George William Self, of Atlanta and Providence, R. I., takes place at noon at the First Baptist church.

The marriage of Miss Helen Shirley Anderson and Frederick Veal Rowland, of this city and Cawood, Ky., takes place at 4 o'clock at the Church of Our Savior to be followed by a reception at which the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer S. Anderson, entertain at their home on University drive.

The marriage of Miss Clara Belle Freeman and Luther Tom Brewer takes place at 9 o'clock at the Gordon Street Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shelton give a dinner party at their home on Cherokee road for Mr. and Mrs. Beverly DuBose, bridal couple.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hawk give a buffet supper at their home on West Wesley road for Miss Peggy Ulrich and her fiance, John Marion Rainey, of Decatur and Birmingham.

Miss Ida Lee Brown gives a breakfast for Miss Theresa Hamby, bride-elect.

Miss Ann Ansley gives a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club for Miss Helen Kirkpatrick, bride-elect.

Miss Elizabeth Long gives a luncheon at the Colonial Terrace hotel for Miss Loraine Owens, bride-elect.

Mrs. S. A. Wix gives a bridge-tee at her home on Cumberland road for Miss Mary Johnson, bride-elect.

Miss Madge Malone gives a luncheon at the Georgian Terrace hotel for Miss Claire Elizabeth Townsend, bride-elect.

Miss Edith Hills gives a cocktail party at her home on Lindberg drive for Mrs. Angus Perkinson, author.

Dinner-dances take place at the Piedmont Driving Club, the Druid Hills Golf Club and the East Lake Country Club.

Random-Macon alumnae of Atlanta will honor the students for the year 1939-40 and their mothers at a tea at the home of Mrs. M. B. Mertz, on Pelham road.

Sorority House Party.

Delta Sigma sorority held its annual house party recently at Cherokee Lodge, Lake Burton. Attending were Misses Honey B. Hubbard, Mabel Jones, Miriam Chapman, Ouida Trappnell, Lucy Conner, Marie Bazemore, Frances Moore, Virginia Turner, Virginia Wise and Sue Gleason.

Escorts were Joel Reeves, P. J. Brown, Hugh Jordan, John Mitchell, Bill Auchmuty, Wesley Warren, Jimmy Mayberry, Grover Fuller, Jimmy Joiner and David Luncford. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Patton Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. J. Slaton Rushing.

Lucky Nine Club.

Lucky Nine Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Campbell, 1500 McCaslin street, and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Cora Watkins; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell; secretary, Mrs. Frances Davis; assistant secretary, Mrs. Trudy Terry; and treasurer, Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Julian Davis will entertain the club at a birthday party for Mrs. Opat Gamblin and son, Jack, on September 2, at her home at 383 Hampton street, N. W.

Arrives for Labor Day Festivities

Mrs. Esther Gries, prominent Chicago matron, arrived in the city yesterday to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ryburn Clay at their country home, Lazy River Farm. Mrs. Gries will be among the prominent visitors attending the brilliant Labor Day fete at which Mr. and Mrs. Clay will be hosts. Among those entertaining in compliment to Mrs. Gries is Mrs. Emily Robinson Head, who was hostess at an informal party yesterday afternoon at her home in Druid Hills.

Miss Peace and Mr. Covington Wed in Christ Church Ceremony

ST. SIMONS, Ga., Sept. 2.—The marriage of Miss Elsie Peace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Peace, of Decatur, to Dean Covington, son of Colonel and Mrs. Leon Covington, of Rome, took place yesterday morning in Christ church in Frederica. Rev. J. R. Bentley performed the ceremony, and a program of music was presented by Mrs. Daniel Bryce Blair.

The lovely bride was gowned in a fall model of larkspur blue velvet, the blouse of the ensemble being fashioned of white lace. Her bouquet was of valley lilies.

Mrs. Peace, mother of the bride, was gowned in fuchsia crepe worn with matching accessories. They wore corsages of orchids.

After the ceremony, the young couple left for Jacksonville, where they will sail for New York. The bride traveled in a model of gold lightweight wool, worn with green accessories.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Covington will reside in Rome, where the groom is associated with his father in the practice of law.

For Mrs. Mobley.

Mrs. Leon Mobley, the former Miss Vivienne Brown, was honored recently at a miscellaneous shower at which her mother, Mrs. W. F. Brown, and Miss Louise Hooks, a former schoolmate, were hostesses.

Present were Mesdames N. L. Peacock, J. M. Peacock, Homer Ray, Joe Thurman, Paul Childs, Kenneth Clark, J. W. Brown, Harold Jallette, M. W. Carmichael, L. M. Dand and L. I. Thompson, of Plant City, Fla.; Misses Margaret Peacock, Elizabeth Brown, Mable Brown, and Carmichael. Reine Carter and Lou Cleveland.

2 STATE SCHOOLS GIVEN NEW NAMES

Changes in the names of two units of the University System of Georgia were approved yesterday by the board of regents.

The Fort Valley Normal and Industrial school was changed to the Fort Valley State College and the South Georgia Teachers' College was changed to the Georgia Teachers' College.

Regents also approved the appointment of Don J. Weddell, state forester, as head of the University of Georgia school of forestry, succeeding G. D. Marekworth who resigned to become professor of forestry at the University of Washington.

Regent R. D. Harvey, recently appointed by Governor Rivers to succeed the late Charles M. Milam, attended his first board meeting yesterday.

SOUTHERN RAILS REDUCE TARIFFS

New Rates Apply to Sleeping Car Fares.

Southerners who like to travel in the luxury of sleeping, lounge and observation cars are getting a break in the new rate tariffs now effective on the major lines in the southeast.

A round-trip rate of 2-1-4 cents per mile each way on a 30-day limit ticket became effective August 31. This is a reduction of 1-2 cent per mile each way on the former rate.

The new round-trip ticket permits stopovers at intermediate points either going or returning, railroad officials pointed out.

These new rates are in addition to the six-month round-trip ticket which provides a 10 per cent reduction. Coach fares remain at 1-1-2 cents per mile.

Miss Sara C. Tucker Weds James Beasley At Decatur Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Sarah Capal Tucker, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Hodge Tucker, of Decatur, to James Wallace Beasley, was solemnized last evening at 6:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church in Decatur. Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends. The altar was banked with palms interspersed with baskets of white gladioli.

Miss Sarah Ivey and Gene Powell presented a program of music.

Clock Tucker and Philip Williams were ushers.

Mrs. Gray Hinton was matron-of-honor, and the bride's only attendant. She wore a street-length model of wine triple sheer. The bodice featured a round neckline and was trimmed with ivory lace. Black accessories and a shoulder spray of lilies roses completed her ensemble.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. D. Tucker, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Robert Beasley, who was best man. She was gowned in a street-length costume of blue Danube faille alpaca. The tucked bodice was designed with a square neckline and short sleeves, with skirt. She wore grape-colored accessories and a shoulder bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Tucker, mother of the bride, wore teal blue crepe with black accessories and a shoulder spray of pink roses.

Mrs. Tucker, mother of the groom, wore navy crepe with matching accessories and a shoulder cluster of pink roses.

Mrs. Tucker, mother of the bride, entertained at an informal reception after the wedding at her home for members of the wedding party, relatives and a few close friends.

Assisting the hosts were Mrs. O. A. Rumbley, W. D. Tucker and Miss Dolly Walker. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Beasley will reside on Seminole avenue.

Women's Meetings

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

Atlanta P.-T. A. Council executive board meets at Rich's at 10 o'clock.

Avondale Garden Club meets in the community clubhouse in Avondale Estates at 2:30 o'clock with Mesdames Lyman Murphy, D. S. Avil, E. L. Traylor and D. L. Chaney acting as hostesses.

Ben Hill Chapter, O. E. S., meets at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple at Ben Hill.

Miss Thelma Firestone Will Be Honored.

Miss Thelma Firestone, whose marriage to Robert Lee Hogg, of Dallas, Texas, will be an event of October 4, will be honored Wednesday at the bridge party given by Mesdames J. L. Cline and Roy H. Massey at Mrs. Cline's home on North Decatur road.

Invited are Mesdames Ruth Cowan, Ruby Cowan, Dorothy Fugitt, Virginia Dawson, Sue Hecks, Minna Hecker, Martha Callaway; Mesdames W. C. Fox, Horace S. Smith Jr., Charles A. Stubblebine, Robert F. Cunningham, Glenn O. Moore, N. W. Pettys, J. D. Brown and B. E. Brown.

On September 8 members of the Grace Methodist church choir will compliment the bride-elect at a steak fry.

Miss Firestone will be honored on September 10 at the tea at which Mrs. J. Ross Henderson will be hostess.

Dr. and Mrs. Pittman To Fete Bridal Pair.

Friendship Is Free But It Costs to Keep It in Good Repair

A Little Money May Heighten Self-Respect

By Caroline Chatfield.

Summing up the essentials for staying on top of the wheel of Life, they are: to get a good grip on ourselves, to annex the shock absorbers that enable us to take the jolts without injuring our moral spine or breaking our spirits, to believe in a Higher Power to Whom we can pray, to keep good friends with whom we can play, abandoning the childish idea that we were born to perennial happiness and will get it somehow, preparing ourselves for the worst and then forgetting it in the simple enjoyment of the day by day best.

Only in this way can we keep faith with ourselves and with those that have faith in us. Then we must earn our daily bread and share with those who can't. All of this we must have and do, or Life will get us down.

Why should money touch that program at every point? That is an easy one. Religion is free but it takes money to keep it in circulation and to put it into practice. Friendship is free but it costs something to keep it in good repair. No price on love? No, but the lovers must have money to live and learn and when they are married there's no more illusion as to the necessity of money in love's scheme. After that parenthood and if you are not acquainted with arithmetical progression, here's your chance to meet it.

Surely money may be a curse rather than a blessing, depending entirely on how we think of it, go after it, spend it and save it. Having a little heightens self-respect. Sharing it does, too, and heightens respect in which we are held. Be very sure we can't stay on top of Life if we've got a pile of debts on top of us. We can't hold our heads up when we can't pay out. We can't be contented or happy unless we are living within our income and we aren't entitled to happiness or contentment unless we are doing something to ease the burden of those less fortunate than ourselves.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Modern America has swapped its birthright—the Bible—for a mess of pottage—the Budget. Believe me Life will get us down unless we have the birthright and the mess of pottage.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Letters unsuitable for publication will be answered personally provided they contain stamped, self-addressed envelopes. All names are held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, in care of The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Woman's Quiz

Q. Please give a recipe for Rhode Island clam chowder.

A. Use one quart of clams, 1 slice of salt pork, diced; 1 small sliced onion, 3 cups diced raw potatoes, 2 cups cold water, 1 cup stewed tomatoes, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 2 cups scalded rich milk, 4 tablespoons butter, salt and pepper. Fry pork and onion until brown; add a little cold water, drain and reserve. Liquor. Clean and pick over clams, reserving liquor; parboil potatoes 5 minutes and drain; to potatoes add reserved liquor, hard part of clams, finely chopped and boiling water. When potatoes are almost done, add soft part of clams, milk, tomatoes, soda, salt, pepper and butter.

Youthful Style in Day, Evening Length

4263

By LILLIAN MAE.

A full-skirted frock for a gay young girl, in day or evening lengths. Lillian Mae's pattern 4263 is available in sizes 10 to 18; bust sizes, 28 to 36. Size 14, all one, takes 4-1/2 yards 39-inch fabric, with 3-3 yard for contrast astutia, Atlanta, Ga.

COCOANUT CREAM FRUIT PIE IS AS GOOD AS IT LOOKS.

Economical Coconut Cream Fruit Pie Adds Holiday Note to Any Occasion

By SALLY SAVER.

In keeping with the holiday spirit is this coconut cream fruit pie which will help you to celebrate anything which wants celebrating. In this case it is the advent of busy bustling autumn we are about to take cognizance of, and this pie will add a holiday note to any occasion which you might want to plan.

In spite of its prettiness, which cannot be denied, it is easy on the budget, using that excellent and very cheap fruit, bananas. Here is how to make it:

Coconut Cream Fruit Pie.
4 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons cake flour
1-4 teaspoon salt

2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup shredded coconut
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 bananas
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

2 egg white, unbeaten
1-2 cup sugar
Dash of salt
1-4 teaspoon water
Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler. Add milk and egg yolks, mixing thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from boiling water, add 1-2 cup coconut and vanilla. Cool. Slice one banana into pie shell; then fill shell with cooled filling.

Meringue.
Place egg white, sugar, salt and water in top of double boiler; beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat one minute; then remove from fire and continue beating one minute, or until mixture will stand in peaks. Add flavoring. Pile lightly on pie filling. Slice remaining bananas and arrange, with slices overlapping, around meringue. Sprinkle with remaining coconut.

Questions about recipes, canning, quantity cooking or other food problems will be gladly answered by Sally Saver. Write or phone, Care The Constitution or Wa. 5655.

this may injure my health, but whenever I go on this diet I feel much better and have more pep than before. (Miss L. W.)

Answer—If you are over 18 and overweight it is all right. Orange juice has approximately the nutritive value of skim milk or half that of sweet milk.

Water in Ears.
Husband has otosclerosis, as have other members of his family. Should I keep my eight-year-old son out of the water? Is there any way of keeping water out of the ears when swimming or diving? (Mrs. D. R.)

Answer—Water may be kept out of the ears by wearing loose plugs of lamb's wool. Swimmers and divers should also wear a nose clip to keep water out of the nose, breathe entirely through mouth when in the water.

Crochet in Squares

By Alice Brooks.

Pattern 6403.
No one will ever guess that this lovely high-pile rug is just easy crochet, done in squares. Since four strands of string are used the work goes quickly. Pattern 6403 contains instructions and chart for making rug; illustration of it and of stitches; materials needed; color schemes.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in coin to Household Arts Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

TODAY'S CHARM TIP

Some thoughtful tribute by word or action to an admirable trait in another shows you are not too, too perfect in your eyes.

What's Your Bid In Response to Four Spades?

By Harold Sharpsteen.

Spades are trump and it is South's problem to lead and win all seven tricks against any defense, and there are several ways in which East-West may decide to defend against South's campaign.

N.
S-8 5
H-Q 8 5
D-10 7
C-9
W.
S-8 5
H-10 6
D-J 6
C-10
E.
S-10
H-4 3 2
D-5 3
C-Q

Your partner opens the bidding with one spade. You respond two diamonds, holding:

S-Q 7
H-K 3
D-K 5 4
C-A J 8 7 6 5

Your partner now jumps to four spades. What is your bid?
(1) South leads the Heart 9, West and North play low. South leads the Diamond 4, West plays the 6, North the 7. North leads the Heart Q, South discarding the Club Queen. South trumps North's Club 9 with the Spade 2. South's Diamond 9 put North in and South trumps North's Heart 8 with the Spade 9. West is required to follow with a low trump. North wins the last trick by overtrumping South's diamond lead with the Spade Queen.

OPONENTS TRUMPS FALL.
(2) Should West play the Diamond Jack on the second lead, North wins with the Queen and leads the Heart Queen, permitting South to discard the Club Jack. North then leads the Spade Queen. South draws the last spade and makes his third diamond.

(3) If West covers the first trick with the Heart 10, North wins with the Queen and leads the 8, South discarding the Club Jack. South trumps a club lead and returns a high Diamond. Whether or not West covers, a second diamond is played, won by North. South ruffs a heart and North's Queen takes the last trick.

To partner's four spade rebid, raise to five spades. Partner's double jump bid in the same suit should have been interpreted as showing very strong hand, inviting a slam. The four spade rebid should not be misjudged as a "stop bid." A bid of six spades would have been more proper than to pass.

Til tomorrow.

Glass Fabrics Make Smart Curtains

By Elizabeth MacRae Boykin.

Sunday—I'm deep in a book about herbs, a subject that never lured me particularly until a guest brought me "What to Do With Herbs," by Mary Cable Dennis, and I've found it perfectly enchanting. Not only for the practical facts but because the old legends and superstitions appealed to me so much—such as the story of Joseph, Mary and the baby Jesus in Egypt. . . . Mary hung out the child's clothes on a rosemary bush and it flowered at once. It is said that rosemary never grows higher than Christ stood and that it is only supposed to live for 33 years. Since then it has always been symbolic of friendship and remembrance.

Monday—Ran across a good idea for solving the problem of a radiator under a window—build the valance board out far enough from the wall at the top so that the curtain can hang forward and straight in front of the radiator.

Tuesday—Spent the day knifepointing a six-inch flounce on the moire bedspread. It looks like such a hard and particular job, but it wasn't really because I set the pleats in with an iron, then stitched them across the top on the machine.

Wednesday—Here's an idea that was new to me—a man came over and sold me on the plan of paying him $1.50 per month to keep the place tuned up. He certainly earned his first month's check all right by fixing all my electrical appliances and crisscross cords, repairing a couple of locks, fixing the screens, putting up some closet rods and hooks, and building some shelves I'd been wanting.

Thursday—Woe is me—the beetles seem to be winning the tussle over the asters, apparently their favorite flavor. But here's one consolation . . . some lovely pink gladioli have turned up to save the day. I shall have to tag them so that next year I'll not have any orange ones turning up again in my pink garden.

Friday—Glass fabrics still seem like black magic to me—I can't quite believe them. And yet fiberglass, a material woven from spun glass fibers is certainly real enough and terribly smart to use. It has no cracks, spreads and such because of its interesting texture and individual pearly lustre.

Saturday—At the Rumanian pavilion at the fair, I picked up several decorative tidbits—the use of coarse white linen tablecloths embroidered in simple bold designs (like shorthand pothooks) in white. Also I liked the way bright pottery plates were hung in a long row over the bar—an idea for brightening up a home soda fountain or refreshment counter. As for the food, corn-meal mush cooked in a casserole with a curious white cheese proved to be delicious and interesting.

My Day: Nothing in War News To Give Encouragement

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK CITY.—Two things I saw at the World's Fair yesterday impressed me greatly. If you haven't seen the little Danish colony home, be sure to go there the next time you have a free minute at the fair. It won't take you long, for the little house consists of a tiny kitchen, a good-sized closet, four beds built like bunks in two tiers with an alcove which serves as a sitting room and dining room combined. Curtains can be drawn in front of the beds and there is also a little shower-bathroom. The whole house could be scrubbed and cleaned in less than an hour.

These little houses are a part of Denmark's co-operative scheme for summer holiday making. You lease your small plot of land for two dollars a year and obtain your lumber, seeds, etc., at cost. You have a combination vegetable and flower garden, with a sandbox and playground for the children and a little lawn with a table, where you can eat and sit on pleasant days. Every inch of space is utilized; you even grow your strawberries in a barrel with holes bored in the sides, so you won't have to give up the ground space. The house and its grounds make an ideal summer vacation spot for people of small means. I can think of many a young couple in this country who would be grateful for something like it near the place where they work.

Then we went to take a look at the "Masterpieces of Art." Many of the early Italians are very satisfying, but I have an especially soft spot in my heart for the examples of Franz Hals, Rembrandt and Velasquez, which are shown there. Franz Hals' portrait of an old lady with a beautiful white ruff around her neck and the exquisite detail of the lace cuffs, which serve as a background for the serene beauty of the old face, is one of the pictures one likes to see over and over again.

My time was too short to do what I really enjoy, namely, sit down in a room where there is a picture I want to see and look at that until its beauty has sunk in sufficiently to stay with me and give me the sense of peace which comes from seeing perfection. Some day, perhaps, I shall have the time to do this, even though that isn't the way most of us sight-see in our own country.

By 7 o'clock a small group of us dined together on the porch of my apartment and talked of the world news. We listened to the radio and could hear nothing to give us much encouragement. A talk with Washington provided no final decisions of any kind on the future. Our youngest son called me from the S. S. Washington to make arrangements for landing today. I tried to decide whether I should take the train to Newport News last night, because the weather still looked somewhat uncertain, or whether I was safe to trust to weather reports which are misjudging clear weather for this morning. The coast guard called me at 9 p. m. to say that all reports pointed to being able to fly, so I decided to meet the steamer on which my mother-in-law, Johnny and Anne were landing and then fly to Newport News.

On Your Next Camera Jaunt Take Unusual, Dramatic Shots

Make up your mind to get some really exciting and different pictures on your next camera jaunt—pictures you can show with pride.

You don't need to go far—there are dozens of grand shots anywhere once you get the trick of shooting from unusual angles.

Try shooting up. A "worm's eye" view enables you to highlight and dramatize the life guard perched above the beach, the legs of the athlete as he leaps, the pounding feet of horses galloping.

And if you point your camera down, take a "bird's eye" view from a height, you get the full sweep of railroad tracks, the density of a crowd. No need to climb high. Shooting from a bus-top or a second-story window often results in exciting effects.

Contrast is another way of getting drama into your pictures.

Your black puppy, for instance, will look real and snappy if you set him to playing with a ball in front of a white wall, snap him at your fastest speed.

As for the little errors that result in ruined shots, you can easily avoid them. If faces blur in your snapshots, you are misjudging distance. If you have a scale on your camera, set it after placing exactly the distance between subject and camera.

To take those hikers returning in the late afternoon, safe to open your lens about twice as wide as you do for noonday pictures.

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY, to Home Institute, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of book-let.

Reducer Must Supplement Diet With Muscle Toning Exercises

By Ida Jean Kain

September is practically a national fast time and the new slimming program is scheduled for right after Labor Day. Those of you who have been putting your diet off all summer have a few more days of grace. You can put it off until then! But in the meantime, I want to help the ones who went ahead and reduced to keep their nice slim figures.

Once you have lost considerable weight, there shouldn't be the slightest danger that you will ever be fat again. But some women are perennial reducers. They are always reducing 20 pounds or so, and then turning around and gaining every pound of it back. This is an aging process and I'll tell you why.

When you acquire a nicely padded figure over your bones, the skin stretches to cover it smoothly. That is the stage known as pleasantly plump. When you pass it, the skin has to stretch to cover the increased size. And this it obligingly does, provided you have reduced fairly slowly to give your skin a chance to contract, and have exercised enough to improve its tonicity.

As this process is repeated, the skin gradually loses its elasticity. Every time you gain, the skin stretches; every time you reduce, it has to contract. After a while it does not snap back into place so readily. Then when you take off your 20 pounds your skin is left looking like an oversize kid glove.

Why not take your cue from the screen and stage stars, who never permit their weight to go up more than three pounds? It's all very simple: If you never let yourself gain more than three pounds before reducing, you can't get fat. And it is very easy to take off three pounds. You should be able to lose those in a week.

By this time your calorie judgment should be fairly sound and you will have no trouble juggling the calories to maintain a balance between your energy intake and your energy output. If you can keep that balance, your weight will stay put.

By exercising your will power just a little, you won't even have the three pounds to deal with. One of the best of all keeping slim rules is: Leave the table before you get that too full feeling. The time to stop, really, is when you begin to wonder if you couldn't eat a little more! If there is any doubt, you have already had enough.

Keeping slim shouldn't be hard for anyone who has lost 20 to 50 pounds. Weight is mostly a matter of habit—and I'll tell you more about that tomorrow!

Keeping Slim Menu.

Breakfast.
Orange juice, 1-2 glasses 50
Poached egg on toast 150
Toast, 1 slice 75
Butter, 1 pat, 1-4-inch thick 50

Luncheon.
*Tomato soup, 1 cup 100
Chopped meat and pickle sandwich, made with mustard 250
Mixed vegetable salad (vinegar, seasoning) 25
Fruit 425

*Made with skim milk.
Dinner
Roast beef, lean 200
Broccoli 50
Butter, 1 pat, 1-4-inch thick 50
Mashed potato, 1-2 cup 100
Grapefruit and lettuce salad (fruit dressing) 50
Angel food cake, 3-inch at circumference 150

Total calories for day 1,406
Note: To change this to a reducing menu, delete the extra slice of toast at breakfast and omit either the potato or the dessert at dinner.

If you do not already have your "Calorie Chart," send a stamped return envelope for it. Send request to Miss Kain, in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Belle Watling of "G. W. T. W.'s" Drinks Milk

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1.—Dorothy Lamour reads a magazine story about Hedy Lamarr and murmurs: "I wonder what would have happened to Hedy if she'd worn a sarong?" . . . Dick Powell and Joan Blondell walk on the opposite side of the road and admire their house with audible ecstasy. . . . Ona Munson, who plays the bad Belle Watling in "Gone With the Wind," a cafe drinking milk. . . . Ingrid Bergman, star of Selznick's "Intermezzo," has extremely large feet—but you won't see them. The lady has been commanded to wear long dresses. . . . John Garfield tells me that when he married—"I spent 11 1-2 bucks to rent a dress suit. They wanted $15. N. w.," says he, very proudly—"I own my own tux."

Recently met up with a former favorite of Greta Garbo—Ernest Scarcfield, British army man. In the old days, whenever Greta wanted to get away from it all, she'd call Ernest, tell him that everything was packed and to call for her and her Canadian maid. Off they would go to Lake Arrowhead to a hideout cabin. Scarcfield was sworn to secrecy, and he kept his mouth shut no matter how many Metro officials begged for the address. But he would take messages to her—at a cost of $30 the round trip. Says Ernest: "Garbo used to say to me, 'I pay you well. If anyone else wants you to do something, make them pay, too.'" The lady certainly practices what she preaches—if you call her $250,000 per picture good payment.

Hard to recognize Robert Taylor at the Beverly Hills Tennis Club—he wears large dark glasses and a two-day growth of beard. . . . Nancy Kelly is completing her 57th motion picture. The 18-year-old lass started emoting as a baby in silents. . . . That reminds me that when Miss Kelly casually mentioned to her studio that one of these near-future days she would like to marry, she was told that if she did anything so rash, she would lose her star build-up. . . . Stars who wear eyeglasses for private life defective vision include Ronald Colman, David Niven, Madeleine Carroll, Edna Best, Herbert Marshall, Nelson Eddy, Jeanette MacDonald, Cary Grant, Joan Bennett, Fay Francis, Joan Crawford and Freddie Bartholomew, who always carries two pairs of spares.

Personal nomination for the least affected star—Joel McCrea—who has kept all the friends "who knew him when." . . . Fernand Gravet writes that he will never return to Hollywood—his wife doesn't like the place. . . . Belle Davis' station wagon bears the name, "Rancho Nowhere," in Spanish. . . . David Niven has a distinctive trademark for each of his pictures. Somewhere in the dialogue he says "Trubshawe," which is the name of a buddy during Niven's soldiering days. . . .

FORMER SINGER DIES.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—(AP) Mrs. Mary Belle Daily Hardiston, prominent a generation ago in America and Europe as a concert singer, died Friday on a motor trip near Fort Bragg, Cal.

Coffee, 1 tbsp. cream, 55
1 lump sugar 380
Luncheon.
*Tomato soup, 1 cup 100
Chopped meat and pickle sandwich, made with mustard 250
Mixed vegetable salad (vinegar, seasoning) 25
Fruit 425

*Made with skim milk.
Dinner
Roast beef, lean 200
Broccoli 50
Butter, 1 pat, 1-4-inch thick 50
Mashed potato, 1-2 cup 100
Grapefruit and lettuce salad (fruit dressing) 50
Angel food cake, 3-inch at circumference 150

Total calories for day 1,406
Note: To change this to a reducing menu, delete the extra slice of toast at breakfast and omit either the potato or the dessert at dinner.

If you do not already have your "Calorie Chart," send a stamped return envelope for it. Send request to Miss Kain, in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Virginia Grey, shapely Hollywood star, does a special exercise for reducing hips, and also firming the thighs.

Bulldogs Open With Hard Workout; Jackets Take It Easy

All in the Game

-by Jack Troy

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 1.—It was at a luncheon today at Antoine's that Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson, Tulane, addressed the waiter in this fashion:

"Garcon, I want that pompano en-what-do-you-call-it. Probably it will be the only time this season that I will have anything in the bag."

And so Dawson got his pompano in the paper bag and enjoyed it immensely.

For dessert, the estimable Horace Renegar, Tulane sports publicity director, ordered the inimitable crepe suzettes. And when the waiter brought them on, lights were doused as the ultra pancakes cooked in burning brandy.

"Garcon," Lowell Dawson beckoned, "if you can find room, just pick me up and put me in there. I don't see any reason for delaying matters, what with the schedule we play this season."

Dawson is naturally reticent about discussing Tulane prospects, but he is more optimistic than usual over prospects this season.

Approximately 56 Green Wave warriors spilled out on the greensward of Tulane stadium in a pair of opening-day drills today, and a handsome squad it is.

Numbers don't necessarily mean anything, as Dawson pointed out, but in his squad of 56, which will be increased to 59 tomorrow, Red has the ingredients of weight, power, speed and experience.

He has two teams that aren't too far apart in ability and enough reserves to keep the wolf away from the door, barring injuries.

However, Tulane doesn't face many wolves this season—outside, perhaps, of a few alumni wolves—but has a schedule, a trio of Clemson, Auburn, L. S. U. and Sewanee—that's the only ray of sunshine—a Fordham Ram, a North Carolina Wolfpack, the Rebels of Ole Miss, the Crimson Tide of Alabama and the Columbia Lions.

The schedule opens with Clemson and continues Saturday after Saturday against Auburn, Fordham, North Carolina and Ole Miss before there is a rest day.

It's a tough card all the way, with the lone exception of little Sewanee, and yet opponents may find it tough sailing against the Wave. This is the year Tulane may set supporters' hearts aflame.

ROCKY GOING, BUT—

Clemson set back the Greenies in the opening game—last season, winning, 13 to 10. They meet again on September 24 in Tulane stadium, and this time I am convinced that Jess Neely's Tigers will be engulfed in a tidal wave of Tulane talent.

Now, Tennessee may be the conference kingly before the season opens, but if Tennessee has any better talent than Tulane, the Vols will have to prove it.

Tulane has three complete sets of linemen. Line No. 1 averages 207 pounds and embraces lettermen from end to end. Line No. 2 averages 209 pounds and has five lettermen. Line No. 3 averages a mere 193 pounds and contains two lettermen.

The 21 young men of the three forward walls average 203 pounds, with 13 of them going from 200 to 235 pounds. And there is no sacrifice of speed for heft; and the experience is present in sufficient numbers.

A tentative varsity line embraces Colomb, 207, and Wenzel, 212, ends; White, 212, and McCollum, 235, tackles; Dailey, 105, and O. Boyle, 209, guards, and Flower, 193, center.

The next line includes Bodney, 186, and Defraites, 180, ends; Kirchman, 215, and Blandin, 235, tackles; Groves, 217, and Clay, 208, guards, and Collins, 233, center. A third line takes in English, 200, and Brinkman, 191, ends; Brekke, 211, and Dufour, 206, tackles; Gentling, 177, and Abrams, 177, guards, and Mandich, 193, center.

This offers a fairly comprehensive idea of what Tulane has to offer.

Continued on Third Sports Page.

GEORGIA TECH LINEMEN GO THROUGH PACES ON OPENING DAY OF PRACTICE AT FLATS

Here is a line got together yesterday on the Rose Bowl field as Tech opened practice. It was not authorized by Coach W. A. Alexander or Mack Tharpe, line coach. It was got together to satisfy a photographer's whim. But it wouldn't be at all surprising if several of these boys were in the opening lineup when the Techs play Notre Dame. Left to right are Rob Ison, veteran end; Charlie Wood, tackle; Hawk Cavette, punting guard; Roane Beard, Jack Chivington's understudy at center last year; Charlie Sanders, sophomore guard; Eston Lackey, tackle, and George Webb, great sophomore end prospect. Coach Alex is beginning his 20th season at the Flats.

HUNTERS' SHOOT SET LABOR DAY

A special 25-target event is set at the Capitol Gun Club Labor Day for all hunters and beginners of the sport who had never shot over one or two rounds prior to March 1 of this year. A prize will be given to the winner, with each sixth shooter figuring their scores in order. This is known as the Lewis class system.

A 100-bird program will be held for the regular shooters, scores being taken from the four best consecutive rounds. Trophies to each class (A, B and C).

Shooting starts at 2 p. m. To reach the club grounds, drive out Bankhead highway, following car line to Capitol Gun Club sign at the entrance of gun club road.

All hunters, shooters and their friends are cordially invited. The regular trophy shoot will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be open to all.

Knoxville Recalls 7; To Report in Spring

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Edgar Allen, secretary of the Knoxville baseball club, announced today purchase of five players for delivery next spring.

They are Paul Smith, pitcher; Eddie Lukon, outfielder, and Louis Rochell, infielder, from Valdosta, Ga., and William Brandt, pitcher, and Robert Mohr, outfielder, from Hutchinson, Kan.

TENNIS FINALS.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Heleen Bernhard, of New York, and "Pat" Canning, of Alamada, Cal., advanced today to the finals of the girls' national tennis championship.

Butts Puts Bulldogs Through Hard Drill

Heyward Allen Only Player Not in Full Uniform; Ben Boone Punts Well.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 1.—Wallace Butts started his first football season as head coach at Georgia today by sending his 53 candidates through two of the toughest opening-day workouts ever staged on Bulldog turf.

Pleased with the unusually good condition of the boys, Butts drilled his charges long and hard under a hot sun in morning and afternoon workouts. Pounds poured off as biting cleats ripped the turf of the baseball diamond outfield, which was being used as the new practice field is not yet ready.

SPIRITS HIGH.

Spirits were high as the Bulldogs snapped through the workouts, consisting of calisthenics, punting, passing, blocking, ball handling and, yes, even dummy scrimmaging. Towards the last of both workouts, players donned helmets and ran through plays at three-quarter speed. While there was no fair tackling ball carriers, blockers were allowed to open up just a bit.

Only player not in full uniform was Heyward Allen, ace sophomore passer, who is still bothered by a bad appendix. X-rays were taken yesterday morning and it may be the speedy little tailback will have to undergo an operation. He was present and took part in the drills, although he didn't have on pads. Winfred Goodman, who missed Thursday's "photographer's drill," was on hand and took part in both workouts.

BOONE STARS.

Ben Boone, one of Butts' stars while at Male High in Louisville, was the star of the punting drills yesterday. Boone, who missed spring practice because of a bad shoulder, was outkicking other backs anywhere from 10 to 25 yards. He also passed well and it may be he will see service this season if his shoulder holds up.

Truck Kimsey, hard-running Cornell powerhouse, also kicked well and passed even better than perennial sideline observers thought he could. This is not intended to put the young sophomore on a spot, by any means, but it appears he holds more of Georgia's success hopes than any other one player. A hard runner, with a great stiff arm, Kimsey can make the Bulldogs a good team if he catches on to blocking and defensive work. Coaches think he will. He is a smart boy and, as Butts said, never makes the same mistake twice.

Vassa Cate, like as a panther and looking as if he could play 60 minutes tomorrow, was also doing some of the passing. His throws were inconsistent, but should the Brunswick speed-merchant develop into a fair passer, he would be one of the biggest threats on the squad.

HODGSON PRAISED. Rough-tough Winston Hodgson, veteran guard, drew words of praise from coaches with his excellent blocking. Should he come through without injuries the Bulldog guard situation will be much improved. Smiley Johnson and Goodman seem to be the other first stringers.

Woodrow Brown, ex-blocking back, was tried out at his new full-back post, learning to handle himself on reverses, under the direction of Backfield Coach Bill Hartman.

Ears Whitworth and Spec Towns worked with the guards and tackles. Butts took the tailbacks and blocking backs; Hartman the wingbacks and fullbacks, and J. V. Sikes the ends for individual work during the drills.

Two-a-day practices will continue until school starts.

MAEDA WINS.

Dewitt Page's Maeda, recently beaten by eight lengths in a Class "C" race, performed the outstanding upset of the Saratoga racing season on its semi-final day by whipping Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash in the 37th Huron handicap.

HEALEY AND IRBY LEAD QUALIFYING

Today Is Last Day To Enter Capital City Invitation Tourney.

Today is the last day for qualifying in the third annual Capital City Club invitation tournament. Match play will start Sunday with two rounds, and continue with two more rounds Monday.

Bill Healey and Alton Irby, with 73's, lead the qualifying. Other low scores are: Dave Black, 77; Chess Lagomarsino, Tom Shropshire Jr., 78's; Hugh Carter, Bob Ludwig, Bobby Stowe, R. H. Northcutt, Charlie Black Jr., Bill Scott and Hugh Nunnally, 79's, and Oliver Healey, 80.

A large group will qualify today, including Morton Bright, Rufus King, Jack Hair, Jim Cogburn, Wilson Doe (the Alabama state champion and recent winner of the Forrest Hills invitation tournament), Dudley Cook, George Lawson, Alan Watkins, Ben Conyers, Joe Horacek Jr., John W. Grant Jr., R. B. McLeure, John O. Childs, Clarence Knowles, Horace Beck Jr., A. H. Surges, L. A. Weaver Jr., L. M. Stevenson, Cabell Hopkins, Francis Abreu, Blair Foster, Frank Carter, J. M. Harrison, C. J. Currie, Joe H. Nichol, Frank Akers, Russell Bridges Jr. and Sr., J. A. Stephenson, Buddy Phillips, H. G. Reeves, Guy Whitehead, Clifford Stearns, Henry Grady Jr., Bill Curry, Bill Goodline Jr. and St. Julius Hughes, Slim Bowden, Ely Callaway, Charlie Shelton, Jack King and Louis Johnson.

DALTON DRILLS.

DALTON, Ga., Sept. 1.—Football practice got under way this week at Dalton High school with around 30 candidates working out under the direction of Coach Homer Sutton in preparation for the opening of the season September 15, when the Catamounts play the Boys' High B eleven from Atlanta in a night game on Harmon field.

BASEBALL Summary

SOUTHERN LEAGUE
THE STANDINGS. W. L. Pct.
CLUBS—W. L. Pct. CLUBS—W. L. Pct.
Memphis 79 61 .564 Knoxville 73 68 .518
Nashville 80 62 .563 Birmingham 64 81 .441
Chattanooga 78 62 .557 Little Rock 61 79 .438
ATLANTA 76 64 .543 N. Orleans 54 88 .380

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Memphis 4-6; Nashville 2-4.
ATLANTA 4-1; New Orleans 9-10.
Chattanooga 2-10; Birmingham 3-2.
Little Rock 7-5; Knoxville 3-3.

TODAY'S GAMES.
Chattanooga at Birmingham.
Knoxville at Little Rock.
Nashville at Memphis.
ATLANTA at New Orleans.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
THE STANDINGS. W. L. Pct.
CLUBS—W. L. Pct. CLUBS—W. L. Pct.
Cincinnati 88 55 .614 St. Louis 86 58 .597
St. Louis 88 51 .571 Pittsburgh 54 79 .409
Chicago 89 56 .552 Boston 52 66 .445
Br'klyn 81 57 .517 Philly 39 79 .331

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Chicago 3-0; Cleveland 4-3.
Boston 6; Philadelphia 0.
(Only games scheduled.)

TODAY'S GAMES.
Pittsburgh at St. Louis.
Brooklyn at New York (2).
Chicago at Cincinnati.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
THE STANDINGS. W. L. Pct.
CLUBS—W. L. Pct. CLUBS—W. L. Pct.
New York 81 55 .597 Detroit 80 58 .579
N. York 88 56 .610 Washington 54 72 .429
St. Louis 88 56 .552 Philadelphia 44 79 .358
Cleveland 70 67 .510 St. Louis 39 79 .331

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
New York 11; Cleveland 4.
Detroit 14; Boston 10.
(Only games scheduled.)

TODAY'S GAMES.
St. Louis at Cleveland.
Detroit at Chicago.
Philadelphia at Washington.
New York at Boston.

SALLY LEAGUE
THE STANDINGS. W. L. Pct.
CLUBS—W. L. Pct. CLUBS—W. L. Pct.
Augusta 80 55 .597 Greenville 64 73 .467
Augusta 80 55 .597 Jacksonville 63 72 .467
Savannah 78 60 .567 Columbia 57 78 .419
Macon 70 67 .510 Spartanburg 49 85 .363

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Augusta 4; Greenville 3.
Columbia 3; Spartanburg 1.
Jacksonville 5; Columbia 4.
Macon 5; Savannah 0.

TODAY'S GAMES.
Augusta at Greenville.
Columbia at Spartanburg.
Columbia at Jacksonville.
Macon at Savannah.

GEORGIA-FLORIDA
THE STANDINGS. W. L. Pct.
CLUBS—W. L. Pct. CLUBS—W. L. Pct.
Albany 77 52 .597 Waycross 68 67 .504
Valdosta 72 60 .543 Thomasville 61 72 .459
Tallahassee 67 64 .511 Americus 62 74 .458
Moultrie 65 64 .504 Cordele 57 78 .429

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Waycross 3-3; Americus 4-2.
Moultrie 7; Albany 1.
Valdosta 3; Thomasville 4.
Cordele 3; Tallahassee 4.

Americus at Waycross.
Albany at Moultrie.
Valdosta at Thomasville.
Columbia at Jacksonville.
(Only games scheduled.)

Pebbs Sell Walters, Mahan to Louisville

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Manager George Toporcer, of the Little Rock Southern association club, today announced sale of First Baseman Art Mahan and Catcher Fred Walters to the Louisville club of the American association, for delivery next spring.

Mahan, currently hitting around .300, has been with the Little Rock Travelers all season. Walters is with the league-leading Scranton club of the Eastern league on option. His recall by the local club was announced last week.

Photographers Take Up Most of Practice

Hawk Cavette's Kicking Looks Up to '38 Standard; No Hard Work Slated Today

By TOM McRAE.

Approximately 70 gridiron hopefuls were on hand yesterday as Georgia Tech began practice for the 1939 campaign.

Most of the afternoon was spent in picture-taking, with the boys getting plenty of work by merely going through the contortionist stunts which photographers want for a feature shot.

In between pictures Bobby Dodd had the backs going through plays and Mack Tharpe was getting the linemen ready for rougher work. Allen Wilcox, a star of last year's team, was working with the guards. Coach William Anderson Alexander was around, looking over the proceedings.

Coach Alex said today was again picture-taking day and there would be no hard work, just calisthenics and instruction in positional play. Real work will begin Monday. After all the jackets have plenty of time for practice before their opening game with Notre Dame October 7.

Coach Alex has Jim Wright working with the guards. Wright was a fine center last year on the freshman team. This move seems to indicate Coach Alex believes Roane Beard, Jim Hughes and S. B. Sutton can handle center. Or perhaps the guard situation is just more acute. Neal Cavette, Charlie Sanders, Butch Aderholt, Elmer Dyke, and Bobo Richards are guard candidates with the first two named perhaps having a slight edge at this early stage.

Most of the drills were designed to give players a chance to get the "feel of the ball" again. Plenty of passing and kicking. Hawk Cavette showed he has lost none of his punting skill as he sent punt after punt in the neighborhood of 60 yards. If anyone can be called impressive in an initial drill, certainly the Hawk was.

Late in the afternoon Coach Alex called the squad together and went over things with them. A large number of Tech alumni were on hand as Coach Alex began his twentieth season as head coach at the Flats.

Buford Wins Second Over Warren, 5 to 3

Buford took its second straight over Warren last night as Abe White outpitched Frank Melton to gain a 5-3 decision.

White fanned 11 and Melton whiffed 14. Andy Johnson hit a home run in the eighth with Gerald McQuig on base to decide the issue.

Johnny Stowe, of the winners, and Red Hyder and Roy Manning, of the losers, led the hitting, each with two hits.

Buford plays in Greensboro Sunday at 4 o'clock.

Buford 000 003 020-5 3 2
Warren 000 200 000-3 9 2
White and Lyons; Melton and Ford.

LAGRANGE WINS.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Sept. 1.—The Dixie Owls, by errors, relinquished the first of a five-game series playoff for the city championship to the Callaway Cubs at the Callaway stadium, 5 to 2, although their pitcher, David, held the opponents to only two hits.

Cubs 000 001 310-5 2 0
Owls 000 000 002-2 4 4

NOW TRY PAUL JONES AT ITS NEW LOW PRICE!

Was $1.50 a Pint NOW $1.25 ONLY 1 A PINT

WAS 80c A HALF-PINT—NOW ONLY 65c A HALF-PINT

Warranted exactly the same "expensive" whiskey that formerly cost far more!

THE PAUL JONES WARRANTY

Paul Jones has long been one of America's best-known "expensive whiskeys"—sold for years at a much higher price. We warrant that today—at its new low price—Paul Jones is the same, identical whiskey in every respect... still DRY (not sweet)... still ALL whiskey. Try Paul Jones today.

A blend of straight whiskeys—90 proof
Frankfort Distilleries, Inc., Louisville & Baltimore

Stock up today for the week-end!

SAVE 50%

BUY YOUR FIRST TIRE AT CURRENT LIST PRICE—SAVE 50% ON YOUR SECOND TIRE BY BUYING AT HALF PRICE

THIS 2-TIRE SALE IS ON ALL GOODYEAR TIRES

HERE'S WHAT YOU SAVE!!

Size	Double Eagles	G 100's	G 3's	Marathons	Pathfinders
550-16	11.88	7.08	6.38	5.30
600-16	13.40	7.98	7.18	5.98	5.18
625-16	15.08	8.98	8.08	6.73	6.30
650-16	16.25	9.68	8.70	7.25	6.30

(AND YOUR OLD TIRES)

UNTIL LABOR DAY ONLY

Your Last Opportunity in 1939 to Buy at Such Low Prices

EASIEST TERMS IN TOWN

GUY HENDERSON - ROY LIVINGSTON, INC.

SPRING AND WALTON STS.

CO.
MA. 5385
ades Center
ve at Southern Hwy. d at Rock Springs Road
Ellis
Glimmer
rt Piedmont

Joe DiMaggio Drives in 6 Runs as Yankees Whip Tribe, 11-8

HIGGINS HOMERS TWICE AS TIGERS BATTER RED SOX

Schoolboy Rowe Gets Credit for No. 8; Spud Chandler Wins.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Rallying four runs in the eighth inning after once being overtaken, the New York Yankees scalped the Cleveland Indians, 11 to 8, today with Joe DiMaggio driving in six runs on two triples and a single. Spud Chandler was credited with the victory.

Red Evans Is Sent To Louisville Team

BROOKLYN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Russell (Red) Evans, 30-year-old right-hand pitcher, was sent by the Brooklyn Dodgers today to the Louisville club of the American association, in part payment for Harold (Peewee) Reese, shortstop, recently purchased by Brooklyn from Louisville.

Evans won one game and lost eight so far this season. He was with New Orleans last year.

ANOTHER MODEL PLANE PRIZE

W. I. Miller, manager of Rhodes-Wood Furniture Company, and Mary Miller are shown admiring the portable Philco radio which the Rhodes-Wood company has donated as a prize in The Constitution and Aero Engineers' model plane meet slated for the Northside airport on Labor Day.

DODGERS DIVIDE PAIR OF BATTLES WITH CUB TEAM

Chicago Wins First Behind French; Drop Nightcap, 3-1.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Gabby Hartnett caught his 1,722nd game today, setting a new record for big league catchers, and celebrated the occasion with a home run.

But all it did was save his Chicago Cubs from a shutout in the second half of a double-header as they lost, 3 to 1, after hazing the Dodgers, 6 to 2, in the opener.

The record Hartnett broke was set by Ray Schalk, of the Chicago Americans, over a 17-year stretch between 1912 and 1928. The Cubs' manager tied it at Boston yesterday.

Bill Posedel won his 15th game of the season for the Boston Bees last night, shutting out the Phillies, 6 to 0, with eight hits, before 8,674 at Shibe park.

BOSTON 6; PHILS 0.
Boston ab.h.p.a. Phils ab.h.p.a.
Coney, cf 5 2 1 0 Martin, cf 3 2 5 0
Garnier, lf 4 3 0 0 Marty, cf 4 1 3 0
Hassett, lb 5 1 1 1 Hughes, 2b 4 1 1 0
Cue, 2b 4 0 2 0 Brack, rf 4 2 4 0
West, rf 1 8 0 0 Suber, lf 2 1 6 0
Majors, 3b 4 2 0 0 Bolling, lb 2 0 5 0
Warlick, ss 3 2 0 0 May, 2b 4 1 4 0
Lopez, c 4 2 2 0 Youngs, 4 0 0 3
Posedel, p 4 0 1 0 Davis, 3 0 3 0
Harrell, p 2 0 0 1
Kirk, p 0 0 0 0
Totals 37 11 27 13 Totals 33 8 27 8

SUMATRA III WINS.

Sumatra III, South American-bred horse from the stable of L. Barker, of California, had little trouble taking the six-furlong Stony Island purse at Washington Park. He turned in the fastest time of the meeting, 1:11, and won by four lengths from J. D. Weil's Double B, which nosed out Morris Vehn's Opera Star. The winner paid $12 straight.

Major Box Scores American League National League

YANKS 11; INDIANS 8.	CUBS 5; DODGERS 2-3.
YANKS 11; INDIANS 8. N. YORK ab.h.p.a. CLEVELAND ab.h.p.a. Croucher, 3b 6 2 3 0 Boudreau, ss 5 1 2 1 Rolfe, 2b 3 0 1 3 Campbell, rf 5 1 2 0 Keller, cf 3 2 2 0 C. Mack, lf 4 1 1 0 DiMaggio, cf 5 3 2 0 Tronzo, lf 4 1 2 0 Dickey, c 3 3 0 0 Heath, lf 3 2 0 0 Selkirk, lf 4 2 1 0 Keltner, 3b 3 3 3 2 Gordon, 2b 4 0 3 4 Mack, 2b 3 1 1 1 DeGren, lb 5 1 9 0 Hemmley, c 4 2 0 0 Pearson, p 3 2 1 1 Feller, p 1 0 0 0 Chandler, p 0 0 0 0 Weatherly, p 1 0 0 0 xRosa, 1 1 0 0 Dobson, p 0 0 0 0 xxPowell, 0 0 0 0 Hale, p 0 0 0 0 Russo, p 1 0 0 1 Broaca, p 0 0 0 0 Cleveland 8 2 1 0 Totals 42 18 27 12 Totals 38 14 27 5	CUBS 5; DODGERS 2-3. CHICAGO ab.h.p.a. BROOKLYN ab.h.p.a. Hack, 3b 4 2 1 1 C. Mack, lf 4 0 1 1 Herman, 2b 5 2 3 2 Lavagetto, 2b 4 1 1 2 Galan, lf 4 0 1 0 Walker, cf 4 1 1 2 Leiber, cf 1 2 0 0 Parker, rf 3 1 1 0 G. Russell, lb 3 2 1 0 Camilli, lb 4 0 1 0 Nichols, 4 2 1 0 Suber, lf 4 1 1 0 Bartles, 4 1 0 0 Todd, c 4 0 4 0 Mancuso, c 4 1 0 0 Durocher, ss 4 0 2 1 French, p 4 0 0 1 Pressnell, p 2 0 0 0 Hudson, p 0 0 0 0 Holgash, p 0 0 0 0 Totals 36 10 27 5 Totals 33 8 27 3
TIGERS 14; RED SOX 10. BOSTON ab.h.p.a. DETROIT ab.h.p.a. Cramer, cf 6 3 3 0 McCarty, cf 5 3 4 0 Vosmik, lf 5 0 0 0 Averill, lf 5 1 4 0 Fox, lb 5 2 1 0 Gehring, 2b 4 2 1 4 Williams, 3b 3 3 0 0 York, lb 3 1 1 0 Cronin, 4 0 3 2 Higgins, 2b 4 2 0 0 Taber, 4 0 0 4 Fox, rf 4 0 0 0 Carey, 2b 3 2 3 0 C. Mack, lf 3 1 3 8 Tabor, 4 0 0 0 Dorr, 2b 0 0 1 1 Rowe, p 2 0 0 0 Peacock, c 3 3 6 0 McKain, p 0 0 0 0 Auker, p 3 2 0 1 xxDes, lf 0 0 0 0 xxDes, lf 0 0 0 0 Heving, p 0 0 0 0 xxDes, lf 0 0 0 0 Totals 41 16 24 10 Totals 33 15 27 13	CINCINNATI 10; PITTSBURGH 7. CINCINNATI ab.h.p.a. PITTSBURGH ab.h.p.a. Croucher, 3b 6 2 3 0 Boudreau, ss 5 1 2 1 Rolfe, 2b 3 0 1 3 Campbell, rf 5 1 2 0 Keller, cf 3 2 2 0 C. Mack, lf 4 1 1 0 DiMaggio, cf 5 3 2 0 Tronzo, lf 4 1 2 0 Dickey, c 3 3 0 0 Heath, lf 3 2 0 0 Selkirk, lf 4 2 1 0 Keltner, 3b 3 3 3 2 Gordon, 2b 4 0 3 4 Mack, 2b 3 1 1 1 DeGren, lb 5 1 9 0 Hemmley, c 4 2 0 0 Pearson, p 3 2 1 1 Feller, p 1 0 0 0 Chandler, p 0 0 0 0 Weatherly, p 1 0 0 0 xRosa, 1 1 0 0 Dobson, p 0 0 0 0 xxPowell, 0 0 0 0 Hale, p 0 0 0 0 Russo, p 1 0 0 1 Broaca, p 0 0 0 0 Cleveland 8 2 1 0 Totals 42 18 27 12 Totals 38 14 27 5

Ben Brown Will Drill Sunday, 3:30

Atlantan To Box LaSalle at Groover's Lake; Public Invited.

"I want the public to see how hard Ben Brown is punching. I want the fans to get a close-up of Ben at work for his second meeting with Teddy Yarosz. Therefore," said Sam Sobel, "we are permitting, in fact, inviting all boxing enthusiasts to be on hand at Groover's lake Sunday afternoon at 3:30."

Pilot Sobel says he has never been so confident as now that Ben will win this return fight. "He showed me more yesterday than he ever has," exclaimed Sam. "I tell you, if Ben keeps punching like he is now—throwing gloves every second and putting world's of power behind them, I don't see how Yarosz or any other heavyweight can stand up against him."

Brown will work Sunday with Kenny LaSalle, the stylish Frenchman who is a past master at defensive fighting. He also will go several fast rounds with Jabbin' Fouts and Straight Eight Pryor, colored boxers, and Ray Swanson, Atlanta heavyweight. There will be several other bouts to provide entertainment for the spectators. Groover's lake is off the Birmingham highway, and near Austell.

Cincinnati Assigns 4 Players to Barons

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Cincinnati, of the National league, recalled today four players of Albany's Eastern league club, assigning them to Birmingham, of the Southern association, effective next spring. They are Paul Gehrmann and John Cannon, pitchers; Harold Blackstock, shortstop; and Kermit Lewis, outfielder.

RIGGS TO OPPOSE JOHN BROMWICH IN DAVIS OPENER

Parker Meets Quist in Second Test of Challenge Round.

HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 1.—(AP)—With an eye toward war in Europe, the Merion Cricket Club has taken out insurance on the Davis Cup play between the United States and Australia this week end.

If the tournament is interrupted by war, the club's financial losses will be covered by a special policy.

Harry Hopman, captain of the Aussies, and Adrian Quist are members of the 6th battalion, Trench Mortars, Australian army.

the challenge round for the Davis Cup here tomorrow afternoon as a result of drawings today.

The second singles match will pit Frank Parker, of the United States team, against Adrian Quist, of Australia.

Non-playing captain Walter L. Pate stuck by his previously indicated choice for the United States double team—Joe Hunt and Jack Kramer, youngest member of the team—they meet Australia's crack doubles pair, Bromwich and Quist, Sunday.

Study NIGHT CLASSES

Thorough training in Commercial Law and Geography. LL.B. recognized by Federal Government, conferred on completion of course. Classes start Sept. 7th. Enroll Now.

Woodrow Wilson College of Law

205 Healy Bldg. W.A. 3661, Atlanta, Ga.

ALL IN THE GAME

Continued From First Sports Page.

lane has in the way of line talent without the necessity of naming a fourth line of sophomores.

THE BACKS ARE CLASSY.

Tulane has just 16 backs, or four sets, that can be called upon to man the dikes or carry the mail. And at least 12 of them will see plenty of action, according to plans. And they may see it in units.

One unit, weighing 175 pounds on the average, is a fancy one, including Captain Paul Kreuger, quarterback; Monette Butler, fullback, and Jitterbug Bob Kellogg and Red Cassidy, halfbacks. Kellogg and Cassidy are triple threats, Kreuger and Butler great blockers.

A veteran quartet embraces Stan Nyhan, quarter; Fred Golden, full, and Harry Hays and Buddy Banker, halfbacks. Hays and Banker are triple threats. The weight average is above 180.

Waiting around for a chance to perform for alma mater will be the accomplished Bob Glass, 193-pound sophomore running back; Sophomore Jimmy Thibaut, 195-pound fullback; Soph Johnny Sims, 188-pound halfback; Jack Title, 200-pound soph quarterback; Leonard Sauer, Bobby Grush, St. John Smith and Jim Ely, promising backs. Tulane has 16 more backs and almost 20 more linemen, but these boys are going to be given a chance to grow in stature and grid wisdom before being pressed into service.

It may be an optical illusion, or the schedule may prove too exacting, but Tulane seems to have it. And by all odds may let the opponents have it all season.

Ferdinand's Corner: As might have been suspected, relatively few seem to know or care that New Orleans is still in the league. . . . That is, speaking strictly of the fans here. . . . Attention has been turned to Tulane and L. S. U. football matters in a big way. . . . It was Fred Russell, of Nashville, who hit the nail on the cuticle regarding the departure of Larry Gilbert. . . . He picked the Pels to finish last. . . . And they hadn't been out of the first division in 16 years. . . . Seymour Weiss is going to have to interest somebody in the purchase of the club, because sad financial days have fallen on Pelican park. . . . Bill Terry is reported as interested in taking a chance as a buyer. . . . Horace Renegar, sports publicity director for Tulane, estimates that the Greenies' eight home football games will attract more than 85,000 visitors to New Orleans. . . . Buddy Banker, halfback and brother of the immortal Bill, spent the summer as a counselor in the Lookout camp for boys at Cloudland, Ga. . . . Red Dawson is an author, having done a book on "Quarterback Strategy." . . . He knows his subject. . . . Tulane, under Dawson's direction, favors the single wing and short punt formations on offense. . . . A disciple of Bernie Bierman, Dawson is surrounded by Bierman men as coaching aides. . . . Bill Bevan, line coach, was All-American at Minnesota in 1934. . . . Bierman often calls him the greatest guard he ever had. . . . Glenn Siedel, backfield coach, was No. 1 quarterback of Minnesota's championship teams in '34 and '35. . . . Other aides, Peter Mailhes, Charlie Rucker and Claude Simons Jr., are all Tulane graduates, as is Dawson. . . . Claude (Monk) Simons Sr. is one of the top-ranking trainers of the country. . . . Dr. Wilbur Smith, director of athletics, has made commanding long-distance schedules that demand first-class material. . . . And the Greenies are building to meet the demands. . . . A shopping (for wives and sweethearts) bureau, inaugurated by Renegar, will relieve the minds of many a harassed football writer. . . . Another fine Tulane service is an offer to air mail action pictures to papers upon request of same. . . . Tulane began inter-collegiate football in 1893. . . . L. S. U. is the arch-rival, of course, but Tulane had rather beat Alabama than anybody else in the good season of 1939. . . . And they mean to do it or, as the tennis player exposing his racquet to the rain, "bust a gut."

Bill Terry is reported as interested in taking a chance as a buyer. . . . Horace Renegar, sports publicity director for Tulane, estimates that the Greenies' eight home football games will attract more than 85,000 visitors to New Orleans. . . . Buddy Banker, halfback and brother of the immortal Bill, spent the summer as a counselor in the Lookout camp for boys at Cloudland, Ga. . . . Red Dawson is an author, having done a book on "Quarterback Strategy." . . . He knows his subject. . . . Tulane, under Dawson's direction, favors the single wing and short punt formations on offense. . . . A disciple of Bernie Bierman, Dawson is surrounded by Bierman men as coaching aides. . . . Bill Bevan, line coach, was All-American at Minnesota in 1934. . . . Bierman often calls him the greatest guard he ever had. . . . Glenn Siedel, backfield coach, was No. 1 quarterback of Minnesota's championship teams in '34 and '35. . . . Other aides, Peter Mailhes, Charlie Rucker and Claude Simons Jr., are all Tulane graduates, as is Dawson. . . . Claude (Monk) Simons Sr. is one of the top-ranking trainers of the country. . . . Dr. Wilbur Smith, director of athletics, has made commanding long-distance schedules that demand first-class material. . . . And the Greenies are building to meet the demands. . . . A shopping (for wives and sweethearts) bureau, inaugurated by Renegar, will relieve the minds of many a harassed football writer. . . . Another fine Tulane service is an offer to air mail action pictures to papers upon request of same. . . . Tulane began inter-collegiate football in 1893. . . . L. S. U. is the arch-rival, of course, but Tulane had rather beat Alabama than anybody else in the good season of 1939. . . . And they mean to do it or, as the tennis player exposing his racquet to the rain, "bust a gut."

Amateur Ball

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE.

The league-leading Merita nine will clash with White Provision Company this afternoon at Glenn field in the only game scheduled in the Atlanta Commercial League. The contest is slated to start at 3:30 o'clock.

A victory for Manager Hicks and his Baker batmen will clinch the second half championship and place them in play off bracket with Hapeville Aces, winners of the first-half title. Should White, a team which has played in-and-out all season, succeed in stopping Merita's powerful bats, the Bakers would be forced back into a tie with Central Cafe for the second-half crown. Central terminated its season last Saturday with a record of eight wins and two losses. Merita has triumphed eight times and suffered but one setback.

Merita will be favored not only to take the Provision nine today but to also emerge victorious in the first-second half play-off series. Scott and Vickery will officiate in Saturday's game.

DIXIE LEAGUE.

Southern Railway and Gas Company, winners of the first and second-half championships, respectively, in the Dixie Amateur Baseball League, will not start their play-off series until next week due to Southern having previous booking for the week end.

CHEROKEE LEAGUE.

Riverside and Sinclair Oil Co. meet this afternoon in Riverside to play off the Cherokee League game that was rained out. If Riverside wins a tie with Rowell for the second half will result.

WHAT DOES Balance MEAN IN A BEER?

BALANCE in a beer means that the two flavors—that of malt and that of hops—are blended in exactly the right proportions so that neither one predominates. It takes this perfect flavor balance to make a fine beer.

Atlantic Beer is a balanced beer. It has a dry, zesty tang that "hits the spot"—neither sweet nor bitter—always delicious, always satisfying.

Fine materials give good old Atlantic Beer its start toward that balanced flavor... the choicest of barley malt, premium hops, special brewer's yeast. Then it is made with infinite care and matured to its full mellow goodness by long, patient aging.

Though Atlantic Beer is brewed this slow, expensive way it costs you only ten cents a bottle. Only the strategic locations of our five Southern breweries—eliminating the expense of long costly shipments—make the low price possible.

We challenge anyone, anywhere, to brew a better beer at any price.

I'M ALWAYS GLAD TO SERVE ATLANTIC BEER BECAUSE I KNOW THERE'LL BE NO COMPLAINTS ...WE'RE GETTING MORE CALLS FOR IT EVERY DAY.

Good Old

ATLANTIC Beer

Full of Good Cheer

ATLANTIC COMPANY • BREWERIES IN ATLANTA...CHATTANOOGA...CHARLOTTE...NORFOLK...ORLANDO • ALSO BREWERS OF THE FAMOUS ATLANTIC ALE

HAVE YOU TRIED A BOTTLE LATELY?

10¢

